Japan Sees Niagara.
Silver Worries Borah.
Look Out for Your Heart.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

ASSOCIATED PRESS dispatches from Madrid indicate that the revolution in Spain is to some extent, like the recent revolution in Mexico, an outbreak against the church.

Mobs continued yesterday their attacks on Catholic institutions. Ten Catholic centers in Madrid were burned. Jesuit headquarters were first destroyed and then a church adjoining the headquarters. Two hundred priests were forced to flee for safety from the Jesuit headquarters.

The mob, said to have been stimulated by Communistic urging, next destroyed the Carmelite monastery. In all these attacks gasoline was used to start destructive fires. All the monks escaped from the Carmelite monastery.

THE JESUIT seminary in the center of Madrid, a college for priests, was likewise destroyed, according to Associated Press reports, and a Jesuit school, used as a residence for priests, in one of the suburbs, was next burned.

THE FIRST attack on the Jesuit headquarters was made by a body of workingmen, and when flames had started, firemen refused to put them out.

The extraordinarily savage character of the attack is indicated in the Associated Press report that, while the church next to Jesuit headquarters was burning, the mob threw stones, and "their target was the great cross over the main entrance to the church, and whenever a missile struck it, the crowd cheered hysterically."

THE ROYAL party from Japan, having seen Niagara Falls, is disappointed. So is everybody who sees Niagara Falls for the first time. A grasshopper couldn't possibly appreciate a Zeppelin in the sky, human microbes at the edge of the falls can't appreciate the grandeur of a great river rushing down over a high precipice.

SENATOR BORAH, who observes, as you do, that the low price of silver has cut in two the purchasing power of 800,000,000 human beings, half the world's population, says something should be done for silver. As far as purchases from us are concerned, silver's drop has not cut the purchasing power of Asia and other countries in half. It has cut down purchases 90 per cent.

The first half of their spending power men need for absolute necessaries: food, lodging. The second half buys luxuries and machinery.

The low price of silver, in addition to halving the purchasing power of 800,000,000 people, has doubled the national debt of the silver-using nations. They must pay in gold, and need twice as much silver to do that.

Something should be done for silver, and probably MUST be done before prosperity really comes back. A metal that has been "good money" all over the world for 5,000 years cannot suddenly be thrown into the discard without economic suffering. The question is WHAT can you do for silver and HOW can you do it?

THE DEATH of Walter A. Strong, only 47 years old, is a loss to good newspaper work, and a warning that the heart grows old, although the body may seem young.

Mr. Strong, an athlete since his early youth, continued his athletic exercises in addition to the heavy load put upon him as owner of the Chicago News.

He played a hard game of golf on Sunday, and died of heart disease on his return from the links.

Violent exercise weakens the heart, and there is only so much vitality in each man. If he uses it in one way he cannot use it in another. The deaths of many prominent athletes from heart disease, before 50, should be a warning.

CYRUS H. K. CURTIS, not personally "wet" and an excellent citizen, says editorially that this country, to end crime, doesn't need more laws, it needs to get rid of one law—prohibition.

Emphatically Mr. Curtis says:

"Prohibition finances crime."

That, unfortunately, is the fact, at least bootlegging finances crime and on a scale that runs, not into millions, but BILLIONS of dollars every year.

The idea that bootlegging can be ended while prohibition endures is, of course, childish.

PRESIDENT HOOVER plans to cut $345,000,000 from government cost. This would reduce considerably the billion deficit now faced.

It is said by "experts" that the size of the Army cannot be reduced, 118,000, now on the payroll, being "the lowest number consistent with safety."

The country used to get along with 40,000 men in the regular Army. Have the people become more dangerous or rebellious? What is it that makes 118,000 men necessary? In this age of flying machines, every sensible man knows that soldiers on the ground, unless hidden in armored tanks, would be absolutely worthless in a war.

RUSSIANS CONTINUE attacking problems in direct fashion.

Russia's currency has been greatly inflated, too many rubles everywhere. The Russian government meets this by adding 50 per cent to the price of food and alcoholic drinks. Being compelled to pay 50 per cent more, to live, the people will not have so many rubles.

YESTERDAY YOU could borrow money on call in Wall street for 1 per cent a year. A good

Spanish Rioting Laid to Alfonso

REPUBLICANS CHARGE PLOT

Martial Law Extended to Seven Cities as Mobs Defy Police, Burn Convents

International News Service.

MADRID, May 12.—Former King Alfonso and his Monarchist supporters are directly responsible for the wild outburst of disorders which have resulted in the destruction of more than a score of Catholic convents, monasteries and other buildings in a half dozen Spanish cities in the past 48 hours, Attorney General Galarza declared today.

Galarza's statement was issued simultaneously with an announcement that martial law had been extended to the city of Malaga, so that Cadiz, Seville, Bilbao, Cordova, Alicante and Malaga, as well as Madrid, are under military rule.

TROOPS ON DUTY

In all of these cities troops patrolled the streets and held strategic points under threat of machine-gun fire as precautionary measures against further outbreaks.

Charges will be filed against Alfonso and his alleged co-plotters for their responsibility for these disorders, Galarza declared.

The outbreaks, he said, were the result of a deliberate plot at counter revolution for the purpose of overthrowing the Republican government, now just two days less than a month old, and the restoration of the monarchy.

A total of 26 Catholic buildings and other structures have been destroyed in the two days of rioting and terrorism throughout Spain, latest reports revealed.

MOBS DEFY POLICE

Shouting "Down with the Republic," mobs composed of hundreds of demonstrators swept through the streets of the largest cities in Spain, defying the police and the military.

It was estimated that 10,000 nuns, priests and monks were turned out of the quarters that they and their predecessors had inhabited in some cases for centuries. Conservative estimates placed the damage thus far in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

In the reports reaching Madrid of the provincial rioting, however, there was no indication of the bodily violence which featured the demonstrations in the capital yesterday when nuns were captured and beaten in attempting to escape from blazing convents.

EX-TECH MAN SLAIN BY N. Y. GUNMEN

Former Convict Genius 'Put On Spot' by Girls While Mother Prays for Safety

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Roy Herbert Sloane, whose brilliance as a scholar at Carnegie Tech and Columbia University seemed to presage a successful career, was mysteriously shot to death today as he was entering or leaving the Mad Dot Club, an alleged speakeasy.

Sloane, 26, with a Sing Sing record behind him, was slain from ambush. Several men in a parked automobile riddled him with bullets and sped away. He was unconscious when a policeman picked him up in the street and rushed him to the Jewish Memorial Hospital, where he died an hour later.

SLAIN AS MOTHER PRAYS

At the very moment his career was being brought to such a tawdry end, his cultured mother, Mrs. Anna Bogenholm Sloane, founder of the National Institute of Arts and Crafts, an authority on East India and a writer of educational books, was looking for him and praying for his safety. He had not been home last night and she was worried. When she learned he had been slain she collapsed.

Sloane was first identified from papers in his pocket as "John McDermott." Later, it was determined by means of fingerprints that the victim was really Sloane, the former "boy lawyer" of Sing Sing. Sloane, it was recalled, staged a spectacular defense of himself and won his freedom

DAVIS ASSAILS WAR DEBT DEMANDS

Sees Affront to Nation In Arguments Before International Trade Group

COATESVILLE, Pa., May 12. — (AP.) — Classing as "gimme boys" International Chamber of Commerce speakers who asked revision of the United States war debt and tariff policies, Senator Davis said today these demands were the "boldest affront of their kind ever offered to our nation."

The Pennsylvania Republican spoke at services dedicating the new veterans hospital here. After summarizing the costs of the World War, and referring to President Hoover's statement to the International Chamber of Commerce that five billion dollars was being spent annually to maintain armament, Davis said:

"The effect of this militaristic perfection prevailing in many quarters of Europe has already intruded itself in the internal affairs of the United States, as was disclosed recently at the conference of the International Chamber of Commerce, when spokesmen for leading world powers flatly and bluntly demanded that the United States reduce or eliminate its tariff safeguards so that our home markets may become a dumping paradise for the products of Europe. Furthermore, they insisted that the United States should cancel the war debts owed to it by European nations.

"As bait they offered our country a small foreign market in exchange for a wide open door into our home markets.

"These economic demands voiced by foreign spokesmen constituted the boldest affront of their kind ever offered to our nation or any other nation not in the vassal class. No pirate of the Spanish Main nor any racket lord was more audacious in their ruthless edicts."

3 GIRLS INJURED BY TRUCK CRASH

Two trucks collided on Sand Hill, just outside of Edgeworth, today, one of them capsizing and hurtling into a class of 16 eighth grade children who were on their way to Sewickley.

They are:

Harriett Gibb, 15, of Ohio River boulevard; Mary Meyers, 15, of Challis lane; Marie Thein, 15, of Chestnut road.

It is feared Harriett Gibb suffered a skull fracture. The other two were bruised.

All three were taken to the Sewickley Valley Hospital. The Thein and Meyers girls were able to go home after treatment.

Witnesses said a truck coming down Sand Hill from Sewickley and one going up sideswiped, the one headed toward Sewickley overturning and crashing onto the sidewalk where the children were.

STATE TROOPER SLAIN BY YOUTH

McCONNELLSBURG, Pa., May 12.—(AP.)—A state trooper was killed and another wounded near here today by a youth who was captured after he had barricaded his home and for several hours had stood off a posse of officers and citizens.

Sergt. T. C. McCarthy was killed by the fire of the youth, Marshall Lodge, 20, and Pvt. Russell Kneiss was wounded in the head. Lodge's right arm was broken by the fire of the officers.

McCarthy with Kneiss, accompanied by county officers, had gone to the Lodge home at Crystal Springs, 15½ miles from here, to serve a warrant charging the youth with carrying concealed deadly weapons. The complaint had been preferred by a neighbor who also had sought a sanity hearing for the youth, who is a son of Frank Lodge, a former Fulton County commissioner.

While Lodge was standing off the party, his mother was a prisoner inside with him, unable to escape because he had barricaded the house. She later was rescued unharmed. With the arrival of reinforcements, the house was rushed and Lodge was captured.

'Bugs' and His Troupe Show Chicago Sights

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

CHICAGO, May 12.

In the golden anniversary of the Herald and Examiner. Cartoonists and writers of King Features all made poisonal appearances.

Senator Dr. Copeland delivered a speech on health and how to avoid it.

The Bugs asked to be allowed to dedicate a battleship. Not that we need another boat but The Bugs looks so well with a bottle of champagne in his hand.

Tillie Westover autographed grass seed in the Fair at the junction of State, Adams and Dearborn streets. George (Jiggs) McManus acted as traffic cop with full powers to stop all trick bicyclists not wearing striped trousers and silk hats and otherwise trying to give America a bad name.

Three Daughters of the American Revolution followed The Bugs around Michigan boulevard. If anything historic happened they were ready to place a bronze tablet there.

And so to bet.

OPTION BILL PASSES HOUSE BY 106 TO 98

First Anti-Blue Law Wedge In State History Driven; Vote After Bitter Debate

HARRISBURG, May 12.—The Denning Sunday baseball bill passed the House this afternoon.

The vote was 106 to 98.

It marked the first time in history that a Pennsylvania legislative body had passed a measure designed to modify the state's blue laws of 1794.

The balloting came after a stormy session marked by the most bitter and heated debate heard at this session. Representatives denounced each other, while friends and foes of the bill were assailed.

VOTE MOVED

The vote came when Stadtlander, of Allegheny County, moved to end the argument. A motion to force every member to vote was made.

The Allegheny County delegation voted 20 to 7 for the bill.

Clinton Sowers, of Philadelphia, and M. A. Musmanno, of Allegheny County, led the Denning bill fight. This bill, sent out of committee with the idea that it was unconstitutional, was amended by Sowers last week, the amendments making the bill, according to a number of members, a workable act in the event it could be passed and signed by the Governor.

The vote last week on the amendments was 102 to 98, with the liberals claiming that at least three votes were missing, the members unable to attend.

NOT AMENDMENT

The Denning bill does not amend the act of 1794, but does repeal it insofar as it prohibits Sunday baseball between the hours of 2 and 6 p. m.

Unlike the Schwartz bill, defeated last week, the Denning measure would take care of second-class townships by conferring on the supervisors special authority to enact ordinances under the proposed act.

The action of the House climaxed a historic fight of over 100 years, but will not be ended until the Senate passes the bill and the Governor signs it. The bill is now, in effect, in the hands of the Senate, and efforts will be made to get it in committee other than the Law and Order Committee, notorious for its history of killing liberal legislation.

SENATE BURIES FAIR RATE BILLS

HARRISBURG, May 12.—(AP.)—The Senate Judiciary General Committee today voted to postpone action indefinitely on the three fair rate board bills.

After taking this action, the committee voted to report for passage the McClure bill codifying the present public service company law and making certain changes embodying the recommendations of the Senate committee which investigated the Public Service Commission.

It was learned that the bill ripping out the present Public Service Commission and the bill establishing a fair rate board was beaten by three votes. Mansfield and Einstein, the Allegheny County members on the committee, voted against "pickling" the bills.

The motions to kill the measures were made by Senator Baldwin, of Potter, seconded by Senator McClure, of Delaware.

How Allegheny Members Voted

(High lights of the House debate preceding the vote will be found on page 4.)

Hawks Makes Fast Flight to Berlin

BERLIN, May 12.—(AP.)—Capt. Frank Hawks landed at the Tempelhof Airdrome this afternoon, completing a flight from Croydon Field, England, in a little more than two and one-half hours. His speed averaged 206 miles an hour. He will fly to Stockholm tomorrow.

DO-X Faces Tests Before Ocean Hop

Longworth Successor Vote Set for Nov. 3

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—(AP.)—A special election will be held in the First Ohio Congressional District, November 3, to select a congressman to succeed the late Speaker Nicholas Longworth, Gov. White announced today.

Candidates will be nominated at the regular primary August 11.

Ethel Barrymore Watches Operation

CHICAGO, May 12.—(INS.)—John Drew Colt, son of Ethel Barrymore, today was expected to be back on his feet in a few days following a successful operation to overcome a "locked" knee joint, caused by a football game injury. His mother, the noted actress, looked on as doctors performed the operation.

Caruso's Son Has Appendix Removed

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—(AP.)—Enrico Caruso, son of the late singer, has undergone an appendicitis operation, it was learned today. Adolfo De La Huerta, once provisional president of Mexico and now voice instructor, said the operation will force his pupil to suspend training for three months.

Taunted About Cooking, Wife Kills Herself

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—(AP.)—Detectives attributed the suicide of Mrs. Eleanor Wright Fisher at her Hollywood home last night to bantering about her cooking in the presence of a guest.

James B. M. Fisher, an executive for the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors Association, stated he had said to his wife:

Jumping to her feet, Mrs. Fisher cried:

"Jim Fisher, if you don't take that back, I'll kill myself."

The men said they took this to be more of a joke than a threat. Investigators decided she had meant only to frighten her husband, but had become hysterical and pulled the trigger.

Baby Drowns as Mother Hunts for Work Here

While police and Missing Persons Bureau operatives today were seeking Mrs. Frank Miller, who came here from Grove City to find employment two weeks ago, her parents mourn the death of her infant son. He drowned in a spring while attempting to get a drink.

The child, Frank Miller, Jr., 18 months old, had been left with Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Winkler, who have a farm near Grove City. The grandmother missed the child while she was hanging clothing to dry in her yard.

After a search, the child was found in an open spring, his hand clutching a dipper.

Shelley Brothers, Grove City funeral directors, said the grandparents have asked that the body be held, in the hope that the mother can be located.

LANG PROPOSES CONTRACTORS' BOND ON DEFECTIVE WALK

SEEKS TO AVOID CLOSING BUSY STREET

Prosecutor's Aide Accepts Palmer's Explanation Over Sand Firm; Tests Delayed

Developments in the dual investigations into the activities of the city administration today were these:

1—Council was to be asked today to accept Fifteenth street sidewalk paving, despite defects, upon posting of $4,000 surety bond by Dominick Pavia, contractor.

2—I. Charles Palmer's explanation of his connection with West Penn Sand and Gravel Company acceptable to Assistant District Attorney William H. Colvin.

3—Comparison of food products sold to city by L. H. Parke Company deferred until requested by Citizens Committee.

4—Engineers Committee to start work on technical probe of Department of Public Works Thursday.

Satisfied that Pavia made no deliberate attempt to deviate from the specifications, Director Edward G. Lang of the Department of Public Works, has written Council asking that the work which runs from Penn avenue to Pike street, be accepted, upon the posting of the surety bond. Tests showed the paving to be thin.

AVOID CLOSING STREET

The bond will insure the city against any cost should the thoroughfare disintegrate within five years, Lang said, and would not necessitate shutting off the street to heavy traffic while the new concrete was being poured.

Straw used in covering fresh concrete, blowing over the subbase of the Fifteenth street repaving job, caused the defects discovered by the Bureau of Tests, Tom Reed, public works engineer, said today.

Shallow concrete poured on two sections of Shore avenue, one 100 feet long and the other 30 feet, are to be relaid by Booth and Flinn Company, Reed said. Tests completed recently revealed defects, Reed said.

DENIES FAVORITISM

Denying favoritism to contractors, Palmer, a sewer engineer in the Public Works Department, yesterday said he had served on the board of directors of the West Penn Sand and Gravel Company, in an advisory capacity without compensation.

Colvin's proposed comparison of foodstuffs was to be made to determine if the L. H. Parke Company had delivered the same high quality of canned goods to the City Home at Mayview for which the city paid.

S. A. Taylor, chairman of the engineers' committee named by City Council to conduct a technical probe of the Public Works Department, announced today that the investigation would be started Thursday.

Weather Conditions.

The eastern disturbance moved slowly southeastward, diminishing in intensity and is now centered over Western North Carolina. It is still dominating the weather over all the states east of the Mississippi River. The weather over that section is cloudy and showery, but the showers were light everywhere except at Jacksonville, Fla., where a thunderstorm produced a fall of 1.72 inches of rain. Relatively high pressure covers the western states, attended by clear skies generally and cool weather. There were no freezing temperatures reported this morning, but light to heavy frost occurred everywhere over the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains and the western plains as far south as Southern Kansas. Further west over the Rocky Mountain states the temperatures are rising.

PERMITS BONUS BY BETHLEHEM

NEWARK, N. J., May 12.—(INS.)—An order permitting the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to pay its officers and executives the normal bonus they are due to receive in accordance with a corporation custom which originated in 1911 was signed today by Vice Chancellor John H. Backes.

The order provides that the recipients of the bonus shall post a surety bond to guarantee that the corporation shall be reimbursed for the money paid out in the event the courts finally determine that the bonuses are excessive or that they should not have been paid.

The bonus system is being fought in Chancery Court by 22 stockholders, who petitioned the court not only to put a stop to the bonus system, but to require officers and executives who have been its beneficiaries since 1911 to refund the money to the company so that it might go to the stockholders in dividends.

stock could be bought, paying 8 to 10 per cent a year on the investment, and money borrowed at 1¼ per cent to carry it, the "quarter" being the broker's profit on the loan. But you have to know which is the good stock.

One per cent for call money is the cheapest price since 1908. That came at the end of a depression, then called the "panic" of 1907. Perhaps our depression is ending also, perhaps not.

YOUNGSTOWN STEEL mills have increased their payrolls substantially. The Federal Reserve Board reports a sharp increase in department store sales for April over March and February. Sales in department stores indicate the prosperity of the public.

Department store sales show a gain for April of 9 per cent over March, in spite of the fact because of the early Easter most of the Easter buying came in March.

Small straws are welcome, when they blow toward prosperity.

BORAH SEEKING TRADE VIEWS

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(INS.)—A Washington conference of the leaders of business and industry to pass judgment on the prospective legislative program of the new Congress, which convenes in December, was recommended today by Senator Borah (Rep.), of Idaho.

He said Congress has not heard any recommendations from the business chieftains and warned Congress will be besieged by lobbyists and propagandists when its sessions start.

Borah would like to get the views of the industrialists on legislation relative to railroad consolidations, income taxes, oil restrictions and measures affecting agriculture and public utilities.

Carbondale Bank Closed After Run

SCRANTON, Pa., May 12.—(AP.)—The Carbondale Miners' and Mechanics' Bank at Carbondale, near here, was ordered closed today. There had been a run on the bank for several days.

AIMEE HAGGARD ON RETURN TO AMERICA

So Ill That Reports of Book Revealing 'Facts' on Her Kidnaping Are Withheld

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, thin and haggard and apparently still highly nervous, arrived here today on a four months' trip around the world, which she undertook to aid her recovery from a breakdown.

Members of her party said she was so ill that reports from Los Angeles that, in a forthcoming book, hitherto undisclosed facts concerning her kidnaping will be published, were being withheld from her.

GUARDED BY CAPTAIN

As the liner President Garfield reached Quarantine, Mrs. McPherson retired to the officers' quarters under the protection of the captain. When she finally did emerge, she was leaning on the arm of her daughter, Mrs. Roberta Bradley Smyth, who became a bride while on the trip.

Referring to the reports about the book, which Jonathan E. Perkins, a Los Angeles evangelist, is said to be writing on material furnished by Mrs. McPherson's mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy C. W. Walkem, Jr., a member of the party, said:

"We don't dare tell her things like that. She might collapse if we did. We try to keep all that sort of thing from her. But if there's anything in that book that isn't true, she'll make it hot for them."

LITTLE TO SAY

Mrs. McPherson had comparatively little to say. She was not told about reports from Los Angeles that an effort is being made to have her mother reinstated as head of the business affairs of Angelus Temple. All she would say was:

"I'm too busy preaching the four-square gospel to have time to discuss such things."

150 MORE OHIO MINERS STRIKE

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., May 12.—(AP.)—Goaded by a jeering crowd of men, 150 miners employed at the Taplin mine of the Frieds Coal Company at Bannock, near here, went on strike today.

Deputy sheriffs experienced considerable difficulty in keeping the road to the mine open, and several were injured in a melee between miners attempting to go to work and others who sought to prevent them.

Mine officials predicted other strikes and suspensions would result in the Belmont County field because of recent wage cuts announced by several of the larger mine operators.

$200,000,000 Urged For New Churches

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—The Christian Herald, a non-denominational religious monthly, announced today a nation-wide campaign for immediate construction of more than $200,000,000 worth of churches and parish houses.

'3-GUN' WILSON BOOK RELATES RAIDS HERE

Dry Agent Devotes Chapters To His Amen Corner and Show Boat Adventures

"Dry Law Facts—Not Fiction," is the title of a book written by Harold D. (Three-Gun) Wilson, former deputy prohibition administrator in Western Pennsylvania, but now serving in that capacity in Wilmington, Del.

Wilson tells his experience in enforcement work in Delaware and many of his raiding activities in Western Pennsylvania. He devotes two chapters to the raids at the Show Boat and the Amen Corner picnic on the Indian Mound. It was soon after these raids that Wilson was transferred to Wilmington.

HIS SECOND BOOK

It is the author's second book. In 1922 he published a volume on "Dry Laws and Wet Politicians," which appeared soon after he was removed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue as chief prohibition enforcement officer in Massachusetts. This severance occurred soon after a raid he directed on a governor's banquet in the Quincy House in Boston.

Other chapters are devoted to raids in McKean county; Johnstown, Pa., Corry, Pa., and other Western Pennsylvania centers. One chapter is labeled "Crookedness and Blindness of Police." The closing chapter says:

"Prohibition's greatest handicap is lack of actual knowledge as to present-day conditions, not lack of knowledge on the part of the police and federal authorities, but lack of knowledge on the part of the great mass of the public, which should be supporting enforcement officials rather than promiscuously condemning them."

ANTI-DRYS "NEWSY"

A chapter on "publicity" said:

"Assertions that the newspapers are hostile and that they carry a disproportionate amount of wet propaganda with only a negligible portion of dry truths, accomplishes nothing. It is undoubtedly true that the wet news in quantity overbalances the dry, but this does not necessarily prove bias on the part of the newspapers. Wet news is generally more newsy."

HATCHET DEATH CONFESSED

CANTON, O., May 12.—(AP.)—Authorities announced today that Ray Wilt, 17-year-old farm hand, has confessed he killed Edward B. Thomas, 46, invalid farmer, and his wife, Ethel, 44.

Officers said Wilt, who had worked for Thomas, claimed he killed the couple because Mrs. Thomas made him mad by "holding out part of my pay for an old suit Thomas gave me."

The bodies of Thomas and his wife, slain with a hatchet, were found in a small clothes closet in their farm home near here Sunday. They had been dead about a week. Wilt was captured late yesterday.

POPE TO ISSUE ENCYCLICAL ON LABOR

Pontiff's Statement Will Follow Radio Broadcast From Vatican on Friday

VATICAN CITY, May 12.—(AP.)—Pope Pius, who is to broadcast an address on labor and unemployment next Friday, shortly thereafter will issue an encyclical letter on labor, it was announced today.

It will supplement the encyclical, "Rerum Novarum," issued 40 years ago by Pope Leo XIII. The Pontiff is working on it now and it probably will be equal in length and importance to his two previous encyclicals on education and matrimony.

TALK TO WORLD

The Pontiff will speak to the world over Radio Station HVJ on Friday, addressing 10,000 representatives of labor organizations from all parts of the world gathered here to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of Pope Leo XIII's encyclical.

He will speak approximately half an hour, beginning at 12:30 p. m., Pittsburgh time.

TO UPHOLD LEO

It is believed he will reiterate Pope Leo's affirmation of the workman's right to a living wage and will urge closer co-operation between employers and employes. It is likely also that he will suggest extensive building activities as a means of relieving unemployment as he did last week in a conversation with Cardinal Mundelein, of Chicago.

TROOPERS HALT NEW JAILBREAK

GREENSBURG, May 12.—State police, augmented by a force of heavily armed deputy wardens and turnkeys, patrolled Westmoreland County Jail today to block an attempted jail break, the second within a week.

When John Eckman, a turnkey, reported to Chief Warden James M. Keating last night that he had heard the sound of a saw rasping against steel bars in the southeast corner of the jail, three youths, held in connection with the slaying of a barbecue stand proprietor on the Irwin-McKeesport road, were moved to another part of the jail.

Two prisoners—"Dutch Louie" Zemler, 23, and Richard Golden, 22—escaped from the jail last Friday, but were recaptured in Pittsburgh.

STRICKEN FILM STAR GAINS

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Barbara Bennett, film actress and dancer, wife of Morton Downey, radio singer, was improved today, attendants at Fifth Avenue Hospital said. She underwent an operation Thursday.

Miss Bennett, second daughter of Richard Bennett, actor, is a sister of Constance and Joan Bennett, also motion picture stars. She gave up the stage to marry Downey.

About a month ago she cut short a Mediterranean cruise to hurry home to her husband, who was then gravely ill.

11 Italian Towns Damaged by Quakes

ROME, May 12.—(Universal)—Eleven towns in the Province of Avellino were damaged today by a series of earthquakes that began yesterday morning and lasted through the night. No casualties were reported.

RICH MAN WEDS HAZEL FORBES

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—The marriage in Kennedyville, Md., Saturday midnight of Hazel Forbes, former Ziegfeld showgirl, and Paul Owen Richmond, heir to hair pomade millions, was revealed here yesterday. Confirmation of the marriage was obtained from the bride's mother at her Jackson Heights home.

Richmond gave his age as 46, and the bride, who used her family name of Froidevoux, gave hers as 21. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. McLean Brown.

The marriage followed a cruise on the Richmond yacht in which Miss Forbes was accompanied by her mother. Miss Forbes is the divorced wife of Edward Judson, automobile salesman. Their decree was entered in Supreme Court at Jamaica in April, 1930.

Coolidge Cites Rising Expenses of Military

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 12.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

Efforts of more than usual intensity are being made in Washington to reduce the expenditures of different departments. Such reduction is absolutely necessary unless there is to be an increase in taxes or debts.

Mr. Coolidge

The first study is being directed to our military establishment. This is not a productive governmental activity, but as it is a guarantee of order and peace, it supports all productive efforts. As a source of employment the Army and Navy are not large, providing about 200,000 enlisted men. It is not thought there can be any saving in enlistments.

Some years ago careful investigations were made by Gen. Lord, director of the budget, in an attempt to stabilize military expenses at about $500,000,000. So much opposition arose in the Congress that little progress was made. The Army and Navy now cost about $725,000,000. Instead of a reduction there has been a rather steady increase in appropriations. The interests involved have become firmly intrenched in Washington. If any saving is to be made it will require vigorous support from the country. The Congress will move in that direction only under compulsion.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

EUGENE YSAYE, VIOLINIST, DIES AFTER OPERA TRIUMPH

BELGIAN GENIUS IGNORED OLD TRADITIONS

Noted for Original Style; Second Wife American Girl 44 Years His Junior

BRUSSELS, May 12.—(AP.) — Eugene Ysaye, who broke most of the traditions of the violin to become one of the world's great masters of that instrument, died at 4:30 a. m. today after a long and wearing illness. He would have been 73 on July 16.

Death came two months after one of the greatest triumphs of his career as a musician, the debut of his opera, "Peter the Miner," written in Walloon dialect, at Liege last March. He himself was unable to attend, but Queen Elisabeth, who did go, arranged a radio broadcast so that he could hear the opera from his bed.

OPERA GIVEN OVATION

The work was given an ovation. Between acts Ysaye, speaking into a microphone in his room, thanked the performers for their interpretation of his work and the public for their enthusiastic reception of it.

As early as the middle of 1928, Ysaye was suffering from diabetes phlebitis, and a year later had to undergo amputation of his right leg. He seemed to recover, but late in 1930 became ill again.

MARRIED AMERICAN

Ysaye was married twice, his first wife dying in 1924. His second wife was an American girl 44 years his junior, Miss Annette Dincin, daughter of Dr. Herman Dincin, of Brooklyn. He took her first as a pupil and later married her at Le Zoute, a Belgian seaside resort.

Ysaye was known for the original style of his playing and sometimes was called a musical colorist. He terminated his engagement as conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra in 1919 after dissension had arisen among the members at alleged favoritism to certain musicians.

'TRADED' WIFE SHOOTS SELF

MODESTO, Cal., May 12.—(AP.)—Sheriff G. M. Hogin said today that from the attempted suicide of Mrs. Ruby McClelland, 34, he had learned from two Modesto ranchers a story of an exchange of husbands and wives.

Mrs. McClelland shot herself twice at the home of Owen E. Morse, one of the ranchers. Three notes were left, Sheriff Hogin said, one to her husband, Elmer McClelland, the other rancher, one to Morse and another to authorities. Physicians said she probably would die.

Sheriff Hogin said Morse and McClelland traded wives a month ago. Mrs. McClelland took up her residence with Morse and Mrs. Morse, after living with McClelland for some time, left him and went to the home of her parents. She denied the alleged trade.

Concrete Now Links Mexico City to U. S.

TAMAZANCHULE, San Luis Potosi, Mexico, May 12.—(AP.)—The United States and Mexico were connected today by an international ribbon of concrete.

The Laredo (Tex.), to Mexico City highway was opened last night when Secretary of Communications Almazan exploded a dynamite blast which removed the last stone obstruction separating the northern and southern links near here.

Bonds to Rid U. S. Of Slums Approved

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—A plan for public sale of $250,000,000 worth of bonds to rebuild slum and tenement districts of the nation was submitted to the American Construction Council by Dwight L. Hoopingarner, its executive. The plan was approved.

He proposed professional men, including bankers, and representatives of social agencies as members of the board of control.

England May Quit Airship Building

LONDON, May 12.—(AP.)—Rumors that the government intended to abandon airship construction, which have been intermittent here ever since loss of the R-101, are again current. As far as can be ascertained a final decision has not yet been taken, but the Daily Mail claimed to have learned today that the question would come before the cabinet Wednesday.

Reading Gives City Jobs to Residents

READING, Pa., May 12.—(AP.)—Putting into effect a "Reading only" demand voiced by scores of Reading applicants for jobs on the playgrounds here, the City Recreation Board today announced its list of appointees, every one a Reading resident.

DENIES PET DOG WRECKED PLANE

Whether charges will be preferred against Gus Hingst, 22, student pilot, as a result of the airplane crash on the Sewickley Y. M. C. A. golf course, will be decided after Department of Commerce inspectors and State Aeronautical Inspector Larry D. Faurot complete their investigations.

According to the Sewickley police, Hingst did not own the ship and had taken it from the Conway Airport without the owner's permission. The plane was owned by J. M. Kelly, of Aliquippa. Hingst also is alleged to have violated air regulations, which prohibit fliers with only learners' permits to leave sight of the home airport and in stunting low over Sewickley.

Postal Deficit Set at $140,000,000

LAREDO, Tex., May 12.—(INS.)—The Postoffice Department will have a deficit of approximately $140,000,000 at the close of the current fiscal year, an increase of more than $40,000,000 as compared with the deficit for the last fiscal year, Frederic A. Tilton, third assistant postmaster general, today told the annual convention of the Texas Association of Postmasters.

Locked in Bathroom, Saved by Firemen

DES MOINES, Ia., May 12.—(AP.)—Fortunately, two year old Louise Martin has a grandfather who is a fireman. Louise explored the bathroom of the second floor of her home and couldn't unlatch the door when it swung shut. But Grandfather Ben Littell brought a hook and ladder company, raised a ladder to the window and carried her to safety.

Left at Church 4 Times, Girl Rebels

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Miss Deborah Antler doesn't mind being "left at the church" once. But four times is too many, she told police.

She had $750 in savings which she gave to Frank L. Teller, she said. He was to buy furniture.

When he wouldn't show her the furniture and failed to appear at the license bureau as promised the first time, or the second, third and fourth, she had him arrested. The charge is larceny.

MILLIKEN SUES WIFE AND KIN

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—(INS.)—John T. Milliken, Jr., son of the late chemical manufacturer, and who is being sued for divorce by his estranged wife, the former Mildred McCloy, of Pittsburgh, has filed a cross suit, seeking a divorce for himself, and amended his answer to her petition.

Three men are named in the cross bill as corespondents, and several alleged indignities, which Milliken considers sufficient for divorce grounds, are listed.

Milliken also is suing Mrs. Milliken's relatives and friends for $350,000, charging alienation of affections. At a hearing last week he was ordered to pay his wife $300 a month temporary alimony and to furnish her attorney's fees.

Mrs. Milliken in her suit alleged general indignities, charging that Milliken was hostile and neglectful and that she was "forced to leave him to maintain her self-respect."

WORKER BEATEN IN LABOR ROW

Attacked by four men, who beat him with a baseball bat early today, police said, James C. Walthour, 35, of McCabe's road, Heidelburg, was in the Mercy Hospital with a probable fracture of the skull.

Walthour, who said he has been employed at the site of the new postoffice building, Seventh avenue and Grant street, as a pile driver, told police he was walking in Eleventh street, near Exchange way, en route home when the men attacked him and left him lying on the street. Nothing had been taken from his pockets, police declared. Patrolman John Wachter sent him to the hospital.

Walthour, a nonunion pile driver, said he did not know that union pile drivers had been taken off the job by officials of Booth & Flynn, contractors. He denied he knew that there was a strike of pile drivers in progress.

ESTELLE DENIES DIVORCE PACT

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—(INS.)—Estelle Taylor, of the movies, today denied published reports that she and Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, had come to terms on a divorce agreement and a financial settlement. She said:

"We have not yet decided about the divorce. I am still opposed to Jack filing one in Reno, but if he persists in such a step, I shall file one here."

Miss Taylor said she "would hardly settle everything for $50,000," as it was rumored she had done.

Identifications Fail In Gang Massacre

CHICAGO, May 12.—(INS.)—Another hope for solving Chicago's celebrated St. Valentine's Day massacre, in which seven gangsters were killed, went glimmering today after three witnesses had failed to identify any of the six alleged members of the Fred (Killer) Burke mob, captured at East St. Louis Saturday.

Thomas Conners, one of the suspects, has been identified for robbery of the First State Bank of Plano, Ill., and with Howard Lee, Edward O'Hara and John Britt for the $2,800,000 robbery of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Lincoln, Neb.

Voorhis, 102, Again Sachem of Tammany

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—John R. Voorhis, in his 102d year, was continued as Grand Sachem of Tammany Hall last night. It will be his twentieth year in that office although the by-laws of the organization forbid the re-election of a Grand Sachem.

Failure of the Sachems to agree on any one candidate resulted in continuance for Voorhis, who is chairman of the board of elections of New York.

1931 Immigration To Set Low Record

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Immigration officials today predicted that only 100,000 aliens would be admitted to the United States this year, thus setting a record low for admissions since 1862.

That figure is 10,000 less than the number of aliens to enter this country in 1918, when war measures made immigration almost an impossibility.

Wilkins' Submarine Set for First Test Dive in Salt Water

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 12.—(Universal.)—Sir Hubert Wilkins' trans-Arctic submarine Nautilus was moored at the United States submarine base here today preparing for her first salt water dive later in the day.

Capt. Sloan Danenhower announced the submersion would be made in the afternoon in the Thames River basin, a short distance below the submarine base. The vessel will descend 50 feet.

The Nautilus' batteries are being charged and her air tanks filled with compressed air in preparation for the test.

When the boat dives she will carry Capt. Danenhower and a full crew who are greatly pleased that they are soon to embark on their voyage toward the North Pole.

After today's submerson the craft will proceed to Long Island Sound for two more dives, one of which will be to a depth of 200 fee. For these tests the Nautilus will be accompanied by the United States submarine tender Falcon, in command of Lieut. G. F. J. Labelle.

The Falcon is specially equipped for submarine salvage and rescue work. By means of machinery aboard the Falcon, a submarine in difficulties below the water could probably be brought to the surface.

For this purpose the Falcon carries high compression air apparatus. Even should a hole be torn in the hull of the Nautilus, the Falcon would be able to make her buoyant. This would be done by partially filling the flooded compartment with compressed air. The Falson also has means of communicating with men trapped in a submarine.

U. S. Representative On Graf Designated

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP.)—Lieut. Commander Edward H. Smith, of the Coast Guard, today was designated by Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant, to be the only American representative aboard the Graf Zeppelin on its flight from Friedrichshafen to the North Pole.

Smith will go particularly to observe ice and its behaviour in the Arctic regions. He is an outstanding ice authority and spent six years with the United States ice patrol in the North Atlantic studying the movements of icebergs.

The Coast Guard announcement said the Graf Zeppelin would leave Friedrichshafen on July 10 and proceed to Spitzenbergen to moor until the submarine Nautilus nears the Pole with Sir Hubert Wilkins' expedition. The Zeppelin and the submarine are expected to reach the Pole at the same time.

200 Striking Miners Lock Selves in Pit

TOKIO, May 12.—(AP.)—Two hundred miners at the Takao coal mine in Fukuoka Prefecture have locked themselves in a pit, refusing to work. Their strike is in sympathy with the walkout of 800 workers in a nearby mine who are demanding higher wages.

Meanwhile Tokio's chimney sitter, Hiroshi Chiba, 19, who perched himself on a smokestack at a dye works 12 days ago in support of hunger strikers among the company's workers, was in a precarious position after being drenched by 20 hours of rain.

School Bus Crash Held Accidental

MERCED, Cal., May 12.—(AP.)—After hearing detailed testimony as to a school bus-train collision which cost the lives of seven children last Thursday, a coroner's jury has returned an open verdict of accidental death, fixing no responsibility for the tragedy.

GIRL HURT WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Christina Laufer, 19, of 416 Coleraine street, Overbrook, is in South Side Hospital today with injuries received when she was struck by a machine driven by John Smith, 31, of 1205 Wareman street, while she was crossing Saw Mill Run boulevard near Oak road.

Mrs. Sophia Smith, wife of the driver, was also slightly hurt when she struck her head on the dashboard of the car. Smith was arrested by Overbrook police for reckless driving.

Edward Gilroy, 34, of 158 Harper's lane, was in the Pittsburgh Hospital with fractures of both legs received at Frankstown and Hamilton avenues when he was struck by a machine driven, police say, by Lawrence McGahey, of 416 Collins avenue.

Court Dismisses Television Suit

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(INS.)—The suit of the Radio Service Corporation of New York, against Charles Francis Jenkins, inventor of television, of the Jenkins Laboratories, Inc., involving the rights in the invention valued at more than $15,000,000, was dismissed in the District of Columbia Equity Court today by Justice James M. Proctor.

VOTE MACHINES READY JUNE 8

The first of 1,100 voting machines for the fall elections will be delivered June 8, Dudley Shoemaker, vice president of the Poole Engineering and Machine Company, of Baltimore, told the County Commissioners today.

The company first promised delivery on May 15.

He could not give an estimate on the number to be delivered at that time, but said he was positive the entire quota would be on hand by August 15, the date specified in the contract.

During the meeting he said:

"We have only had this contract five weeks and in that time have made tremendous strides toward filling it. Right now our factory is turning out similar machines for Schuylkill County. We expect to finish them within a few days and will start immediately on the Allegheny County contract. The first of the machines will be delivered June 8. We are confident we will be able to deliver all of the machines by August 15."

THREE FIREMEN ROBBED, 4 HELD

Charged with an attack and robbery of three firemen, two of Pittsburgh and one from Morgantown, W. Va., four Negroes were held for investigation today by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg.

The firemen—Francis McGrath, of Warrington avenue; Val Loeb, of South Eighteenth street extension, and William Nelson—said they were returning from a banquet and at Clark and Logan streets were attacked. The Negroes held are: William Walker, 35, Colwell street; George Lenore, 30, Elm street; Samuel Cuenon, 51, Wylie avenue, and Arthur Whaley, 45, of Elm street.

P. R. R. to Transport Autos As Vacation Baggage

Five full fare passenger tickets to New England summer resorts will enable Mr. and Mrs. Pittsburgher to enjoy the convenience of their automobile during their vacation without the inconvenience of having to drive it to the Northeast, it was announced today by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The plan is effective on Friday and will continue until September 30. The automobile will be shipped by expedited freight service.

Special round-trip two-day limit passenger fares, representing a reduction of about 44 per cent, were announced today by the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad. The new fares are effective May 15 and include transportation between Pittsburgh and the following points: Bellevernon, Brownsville, Bunola, Elizabeth, Fayette City, Glassport, Milesville, Monessen, Monongahela, Newell, Webster and Wylie.

CHARGE WASTE ON COUNTY'S GOLF LINKS

Riis Must Explain Outlay of $1,679,000 to McGovern; Questionnaire Prepared

A questionnaire to reveal how $1,679,000 was spent in the two county parks in three years, was to be presented to Paul B. Riis by County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, the latter announced at a commissioners' meeting today.

McGovern, declaring that the North Park golf course would not be opened on scheduled time, said it would not be opened this year. He also said he intended to ask Riis if the latter did not say something about "getting his hand greased."

McGovern said:

"I made a trip to the parks the other day and was amazed at conditions in North Park. Previously I had been told the golf links in South Park would be ready for immediate use, and North Park, June 15. The golf course in North Park will not be opened June 15, nor any other time this year. There is something wrong. Too much money is being spent for such a little return. After three years all we have is a mudhole."

Commissioner E. V. Babcock, defending the parks bureau, said the work was started two and a half years ago in the fall when little opportunity was afforded for work. Work on the North course, he said, was held back for the opening of wells and reservoirs to furnish water. He said the North Park course would open June 15 with nine holes, and 18 holes would be opened in South Park on May 15. At this juncture McGovern said:

"I'm going to ask the director if he didn't say something about 'getting his hand greased.'"

Riis said he would be able answer McGovern's questionn... within a week or two.

When Riis turned in $1,115 collected for golf permits, Chairman J. G. Armstrong moved that no free permits be issued to county officials or employes, explaining he had 1,000 applications for such free permits. McGovern seconded the motion.

HOLDEN DENIES DIVORCING 'FIFI'

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—(AP.)—Reports that Milton W. (Doc) Holden, New York broker, has sailed for Paris to sue for a divorce from Josephine (Fifi) Widener Leidy-Holden, were denied today by Mr. Holden's father, Albert Holden, a Philadelphia commission merchant.

Terming the reports "ridiculous," Mr. Holden said:

"The truth of the matter is my son has gone to London on business, and his wife plans to join him there. So far as I know Mr. and Mrs. Holden are happy together."

The Holdens were married in December, 1926, at the home of the bride's father, Joseph E. Widener, in Elkins Park, a suburb. In January, 1926, Mrs. Holden was divorced from her first husband, Carter Randolph Leidy, of this city, with whom she eloped in January, 1921.

Modern Art Ties With Conventional

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Modern and conventional painting came out even in a popularity contest at the exhibition of the Salons of America, just closed.

A $50 prize that was to have been awarded for the painting or sculpture which received the greatest number of votes will be shared by Harold L. Phelan, for his conventional landscape, and Antoinette Schulte for a modernistic canvas called "Negro Spirituals."

Bishop Taitt Named On Hoover Program

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—(INS.)—Bishop Francis M. Announcement of the invocation orator was made today by Dr. Ellis Paxson Oberholtzer, secretary of the committee in charge for the event.

Veterans Assail Hospital Chiefs

BATH, N. Y., May 12.—(AP.)—Removal of its governor and adjutant, and a Congressional investigation of alleged cruelties and improper government of the Bath National Soldiers' Home was asked in a resolution adopted last night by the Bath chapter of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War and forwarded today to United States Senator Robert F. Wagner.

German Film Firm Barred by Brazil

BILL PROPOSES STATE STUDY OF JOBS

Coyne Asks $50,000 Fund For Agency as Part of Labor Secretary's Plan

HARRISBURG, May 12.—An experimental employment agency for Pittsburgh with $100,000 to aid in the solution of unemployment would be provided by a bill submitted to the Legislature by Senator James J. Coyne.

The bill would appropriate $50,000 to the Department of Labor and Industry to conduct the agency. It is part of a plan to be inaugurated by Dr. A. M. Northrup, secretary of labor and industry, to study unemployment, the relation of the state agencies to it, and the proper placing of men and women.

While the $50,000 is a beginning, it would be authorized, according to the bill, only on condition that another $50,000 be contributed to the fund by a private corporation. It was understood the Rockefeller Foundation and similar institutions were interested in the study of labor conditions in Pittsburgh, and through the Wharton School in Philadelphia, would aid the plan.

The bill also provides that the money be expended by a state employment commission, which shall consist of two members appointed by the Governor, John L. Hanna, the secretary of welfare; Charles M. Waters, auditor general, and Dr. Northrup.

A similar bill to carry on this experimental work in Philadelphia was submitted several weeks ago. The studies would be limited to these cities.

WIDOW AID BILL PASSES SENATE

HARRISBURG, May 12.—The Senate today passed finally the bill of Senator Frank J. Harris, Allegheny, appropriating $4,115,938 for assistance to widowed mothers during the next two years. The amount is estimated sufficient to clear the list of waiting applicants who cannot be cared for in present appropriations.

For the current two years the appropriation for this purpose was $2,750,000. Gov. Pinchot, in a recent statement, announced that because of the greater need for relief resulting from the depression, he is willing to increase the grant to $4,100,000 for the next two years, provided the Legislature adopt a series of bills "to conserve the state revenues."

SENATE PASSES CITY LOAN BILL

HARRISBURG, May 12.—Without a dissenting vote the Senate today voted to grant authority to the City of Pittsburgh to make emergency loans during 1931 to a maximum of $750,000.

The bill is sponsored by Senator William D. Mansfield, McKeesport, and authorizes the loans to be made by the Mayor, City Controller and Council.

The loans are desired because of $400,000 excess expenditures for relief of the poor and unemployed, and deficient city revenue caused by delinquent taxes.

Wales Urges U. S. Methods in Britain

MANCHESTER, England, May 12.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales told British businessmen in an address today that they would have to copy American sales and advertising methods if they wanted a greater share in the South American market.

Boy, 10, Gives Life Rescuing Kin From Fire

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 12.—(AP.)—Roy Brown, 10, gave his life to save four other persons from a fire in the ranch home of Angelo Janas.

Roy awoke and found the place in flames. He awakened his mother and Janas, his stepfather, and his brother and sister.

Then, after they escaped, he went back into the house to see if any one else was there. He was overcome by smoke and burned to death.

RAILROAD CREW BILL 'PICKLED'

HARRISBURG, May 12. — A move to discharge the Committee on Railroads, instituted in the House last night by Representative Charles Dwyer, of Pittsburgh, was defeated, 115 to 63.

With the defeat, Dwyer's full-crew bill, which would provide that one additional man must be employed on railroad trains, was "pickled."

Charging that the bill never had a chance to reach the floor, Dwyer said:

"The barrel was made ready for the pickling before this bill of mine reached the House clerk's desk to be recorded."

George Williams, chairman of the Railroads Committee, defended the action of the committee, including William Stadtlander, of Pittsburgh, and two eastern members reported the bill unfavorably.

Those in the Allegheny County delegation voting against the amendment included Bell, Goehring, Grenet, Hagmaier, Neely, Soffel and Stardtlander.

Pauline Starke Gets Temporary Alimony

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—(AP.)—Pauline Starke, film actress, and Jack White, motion picture producer, related in turn tales of adverse financial straits in alimony court yesterday, but Judge Dudley S. Valentine awarded the actress $400 a month pending trial of their respective separate maintenance divorce suits.

SUNDAY BALL DEBATE WARM BEFORE VOTE

Legislators of Opposing Sides Denounce and Praise Denning Option Measure

HARRISBURG, May 12.—Violent debate marked the blue law battle in the House today, which resulted in passage of the Denning local option Sunday baseball bill.

Bitter personalities were exchanged between members themselves, while ministers opposing the bill and liberal forces supporting it came in for denunciation.

Perry opened the argument, saying:

"The public is long suffering; it is time to change the idea that what may be done on Sunday is not clean, not good, not decent."

Representative Spangler, of York, added to the liberal argument, pointing out the guarantee of liberty of conscience in the constitution.

SARIG FOR BILL

The Democratic floor leader, Sarig, pointed out that the only effort to enforce and hold the blue law up as sacred is when repeal is advocated. He added:

"During the other 18 or 19 months the blue law is ignored and flouted, no attempt is made even by the Revs. Forney and Mutchler to see that it is enforced."

M. A. Musmanno spoke briefly. He said he had an additional reason for supporting the measure, asserting:

"It generously reflects the local option features of my bill. It is purely a local option bill; it represents the true spirit of democracy."

Musmanno quoted Gov. Pinchot in favor of local option and added:

"Sunday baseball is not the big issue. The fair treatment to the people of the municipalities to decide for themselves is at stake in this issue."

The blind representative, Lose, declared the question was clear, saying:

"It is simply this—it is a question whether to keep the Sabbath holy or to desecrate the Sabbath. In my opinion, playing a baseball game on Sunday is desecrating the Sabbath."

"CONTINENTAL SUNDAY"

Representative Flinchbaugh said he sympathized with those who thought differently in religion, but that the American Sabbath should be kept holy. The open Sunday is a continental Sunday, he said.

Representative Loucks, of Westmoreland, read from the Bible to confirm his argument that the blue law was sacred and rested in Holy Writ.

Loucks also spoke against the saloon and the speakeasy, traced the history of the wars of the United States, and pointed to the Eighteenth Amendment's ratification. He pulled out an American flag and waved it, shouting:

"Wave this in front of the devil."

Representative Fitzgerald, of Erie, said:

"I am at a loss to know why the Bible and the law of God is dragged onto the floor of this House. This House has no right to decide what the law of God is. We have no right to determine for the consituency how they shall worship."

Representative Stephenson, of Mercer, spoke against local option. He declared:

"I don't care what my constituents think as to what's right or wrong. They can decide that at the next election."

Carl Baldridge, of Allegheny, said his last vote was the first ever cast for repeal of the Blue Law. He asserted:

"Last Sunday I saw the children of my town, Edgewood, playing baseball. No one can say anything is wrong in that."

CHILDREN 'VICTIMIZED'

Dr. Steedle, of Allegheny County, charged that the children were victimized by blood-thirst constables and others. He said:

"In Allegheny County last Sunday three children were arrested by constables, taken before a squire and fined. The constables were from other districts.

"It is time for this to stop. We hear that if we cast a vote for this bill we are going to perdition, hook, line and sinker.

"The law of 1794 was not handed down from Mt. Sinas. The Legislature did it."

Representative Elder Peelor spoke against the measure, and Matt Dunn, of Allegheny, replied. Dunn asked any member of minister to show him in the Bible where the first day of the week was the Sabbath. He said:

"The ministers never write letters favoring widows' relief or social legislation. All they protest against is something that will take money from them."

Cambria Man Jailed As Slayer of Wife

EBENSBURG, Pa., May 12.—(AP.)—Joseph Roma, 39, was held in the Cambria County Jail on a murder charge here today after nearly a week of hiding since his wife, Martha, 21, was shot dead last Thursday.

The man was captured near Tyrone late yesterday. He admitted shooting his estranged wife, police said, asserting he killed her after his arrest and imprisonment on her complaint of desertion and non-support.

ASSERTS TAXES BALK GROWTH IN DOWNTOWN

High Levies Keep Business Interests From Building, Bamford Informs Council

High taxes are preventing a number of business interests from erecting buildings and skyscrapers in the downtown section, J. W. Bamford, of the Pittsburgh Building Owners and Managers Association, charged in a communication to Council, asking steps be taken to consider the 1932 budget and find some method of reducing the millage.

Bamford asked that immediate action be taken into putting in force recommendations made by the organization's committee to Council on the question of reorganization of the market house personnel. He said:

"The present tax rate is a burden to building owners. There are at least 180 vacant storerooms in the downtown. There are a number of new building contemplated, but the present budget and tax setup is not conducive to a program of building operation."

A tentative hearing on the 1932 budget was asked of Council by Bamford. No date has been set, President John S. Herron said.

The association's plan for reorganization of the market houses includes revision of leases at the Diamond and North Side markets and reduction of personnel at the South Side market.

HOUSE PASSES GUN CURB BILL

HARRISBURG, May 12.—After previously defeating the Wilkins bill, designed to regulate the sale and possession of firearms, the House has passed the measure finally and sent it to the Senate. By a vote of 110 to 83 the House early yesterday gave its approval to the bill.

Two weeks ago the bill was defeated by a margin of more than 25 votes. The following day it was reconsidered and after offering minor amendments, Representative Wilkins, Philadelphia, the sponsor, had further consideration postponed.

from prison a year ago through his knowledge of legal procedure. He had been sentenced to 10 years in prison in 1926 for the theft of an automobile in Mt. Vernon, but, after obtaining 11 hearings for himself on habeas corpus proceedings, effected his release.

"SPECIAL OFFICER"

The police immediately went to work on the theory that he had been "rubbed out" by the underworld. In Sloane's pockets were found a false mustache and a shiny badge stamped "special officer." He was at liberty under heavy bail in connection with an $8,000 jewel stickup in the store of Karos & Stein last February.

His mother said that of late he had been doing detective work—"investigating." He was "getting witnesses" in a case, she said.

Police said they believed two women, who had accompanied Sloane to the club, "put him on the spot."

Witnesses said the women stepped to one side and as they did so the clatter of the machine gun burst out as the car sped by without stopping.

STRUCK BY EIGHT BULLETS

Sloane fell, eight bullets in his head and body. A dozen or more shots missed him and shattered the windows and door of the club.

The son of a minister, his mother an author, a brilliant record at college, Sloane deliberately chose the sordid and crooked path which finishes 10 times out of 10 in the cemetery.

MECHANICAL GENIUS

They used to call him the boy prodigy, a mechanical genius. Even when he was a kid student in a middle western high school they predicted he would rise to great heights.

He devised an airplane stabilizer which won the attention of experts.

He spent four months at Carnegie Tech. Later, at Columbia University, they kept saying he would make his mark. When he began to study law they said he had a brilliant future.

But there must have been a kink somewhere. After he had been sent up for 10 years he turned his mechanical talent in Sing Sing to making a set of tools to escape. The attempt failed and Sloane was tried in White Plains for concealing a pair of brass knuckles and got seven more years added to his sentence.

Sloane attended Carnegie Tech from September, 1923, to January, 1924, records here revealed today. While in Pittsburgh he lived in the home of Charles H. Thompson, 420 Todd street, Wilkinsburg.

He was there for about a year and a half, Mrs. Thompson said, while working in the Westinghouse Air Brake plant and was a model roomer, quiet and unassuming.

ELECTION CODE CHANGE LOOMS

HARRISBURG, May 12.—(AP.)—Final action on the administration election code was postponed when the bill came up as a special order of business in the House last night.

Postponement was the result of decision to consider amendments to remove objections that have been raised.

The provisions which may be modified or eliminated are those providing for the addition of a committee woman from each county in the party organizations; the provision prohibiting public officials from being delegates to any political convention or being members of any political organization, and the provision to extend the hour of closing the polls from 7 to 9 p. m. County members have objected to the latter provision, and a compromise to 8 p. m. is under consideration.

Five in District Get State Posts

HARRISBURG, May 12.—Appointment of five persons from the Pittsburgh district to positions in various state departments, was announced here today. The persons and their salaries include Andrew Charles, investigator, property and supplies, $3,000; Paul Dimling, Mt. Oliver, assistant buyer, property and supplies, $1,860; Clare W. Lotz, McKeesport, investigator, revenue, $1,810; John A. Madigan, Dormont, accountant, rever ue, $2,100, and John J. Murray, Pittsburgh, bookkeeper, revenue, $1,860.

STATE BUILDING BILLS UP

HARRISBURG, May 12.—On the House calendar for final action today is a bill introduced by Representative Steedle, Allegheny, chairman of the Appropirations Committee, which would authorize the expenditure, during the next biennium, of $10,778,310 for construction at state institutions. This bill when originally introduced set aside $9,330,300.

Other appropriation bills include: University of Pittsburgh, $1,650,000; Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal Board, $100,000, and University of Pittsburgh, Falk Clinic, $60,000.

Drunken Driver Test Bill Passes Senate

HARRISBURG, May 12.—State money from the motor license fund can be used to pay physicians for examining motorists to determine if they are drunk, by provisions of the Buckman bill which the Senate passed.

If the test shows the driver was not drinking, the state is directed to pay a fee of $5 from the auto license receipts, but if the driver is found to be intoxicated, the fee becomes part of the costs of the case.

AUTO FEE CUT ATTEMPT FAILS

HARRISBURG, May 12.—(AP.)—The House of Representatives last night refused to permit amendment of the motor code to reduce the automobile license and drivers' license fees.

Representatives opposed to the administration sought to amend the bill to conform with promises of reductions made by Gov. Pinchot in his campaign but the move failed by large majorities in the face of declarations by administration members that the fees could not be cut if the proposed highway program were to be carried out.

The House passed the Cauffiel resolution calling upon the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate the rates now in effect for coal hauling compared with other states.

The resolution charged that preferential rates result in Pennsylvania coal, with a 600-mile haul, being unable to compete with coal hauled 1400 miles.

Phila. School Bill To Be Amended

HARRISBURG, May 12.—The Baldi bill, which would provide that employes of Philadelphia schools must live in the city, was sent back to committee in the Senate last night, and will be amended today to exclude the school board.

Senators William D. Mansfield and Frank J. Harris, among others, fought the bill, although it does not apply to Pittsburgh.

Time Payments For Babies Announced

CHICAGO, May 12.—(AP.)—Now the baby may be paid for in installments along with the furniture, radio and automobile.

The Presbyterian Hospital announced it had placed on sale for prospective mothers coupon books calling for payments as low as $5 a month.

ASSEMBLY ENDS SESSION MAY 28

HARRISBURG, May 12.—The General Assembly has approved a resolution to adjourn finally on May 28. The House Rules Committee last night reported a resolution fixing that date and it was adopted with applause and cheers.

The Senate lost no time in concurring the House resolution to close the 1931 session.

With less than 10 legislative days remaining, the Appropriation committees of both Senate and House began releasing bills.

Reno Dry Preacher Put on Police Force

RENO, Nev., May 12.—(AP.)—Mayor E. E. Roberts, advocate of whisky and "dippers at each street corner," has appointed the Rev. E. F. Jones, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, as a regular member of the police department.

PLAN HISTORY SURVEY HERE

An intensive survey of the history of Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania is to be directed for the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania and the University of Pittsburgh by Dr. Solon J. Buck, formerly of the Minnesota Historical Society.

Dr. Buck

Dr. Buck, a nationally known historian, has agreed to take charge September 1 and direct a staff of six trained research historians in delving into the ancient lore of the Pittsburgh district. A fund of $70,000 was provided for the work almost one year ago by the Buhl Foundation and the University of Pittsburgh added to this grant $25,000.

A board of control, including five members of the society and four of the university faculty, has general supervision of the survey. The appointment of Buck has been announced by Judge Robert M. Ewing, president of the society.

Nixon-Nirdlinger Trial Set May 20

NICE, France, May 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Charlotte Nixon-Nirdlinger will go on trial May 20 on a charge of fatally shooting her husband, the Philadelphia theatrical magnate, in their villa here last March.

Man Wills Estate To Latvian War Debt Account

SEATTLE, Wash., May 12.—(AP.)—John Leckney, 77, a hermit, native of Latvia, regretting his country failed to make arrangements for the repayment of its war debt to the United States, left his estate of $2,515 to be applied on the account.

Clark M. Burkheimer, attorney for the estate, said Ogden L. Mills, under-secretary of the Treasury, had accepted the bequest and Latvia would be credited with a payment.

VETS' BAND HIT BY AUTO, 1 DEAD

RANDOLPH, N. Y., May 12.—(AP.)—Ten members of the American Legion Fife and Drum Corps of this village were in a hospital today suffering from injuries inflicted by an automobile which ran through their ranks as they drilled last night in preparation for a Memorial Day parade. An eleventh member of the organization was killed.

Merrill Hiller, of Price's Corners, a village three miles away, was arrested later by Sheriff Frank Annis, of Chautauqua County, accused of driving the car. The sheriff said Hiller admitted stealing the car.

Russell Barber, 28, the legionnaire who was killed, was married and the father of a small daughter. The injured represented about half the roster of the fife and drum corps.

STAGE STAR ILL AFTER SWIM

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—(AP.)—Fred Lightner, vaudeville star and brother of Winnie Lightner, film comedienne, was recovering today from acute dilation of the heart suffered following a swim in the private pool of Esther Ralston, motion picture actress.

Physicians said that after holding his breath for long intervals while swimming under water, Lightner, one of a party at the pool Sunday, had lapsed into unconsciousness at his home several hours later.

They reported him to be weak but improving in condition last night.

River Yields Body Of Rich Phila. Man

NEW ORLEANS, May 12.—(AP.)—The body of Brinton Wetherill, member of a wealthy Philadelphia family, who had been missing since April 2, was found in the Mississippi River here.

A coroner's jury found Wetherill met death by drowning. The coroner expressed the opinion the body had been in the river since April 2, the day he disappeared.

American Comedian Makes King Laugh

LONDON, May 12.—(AP.)—It took chewing gum, a grand piano and the American comedian, Al Trahan, really to make King George laugh at the "command" performance at the Palladium Hall last night.

The King and Queen were given an ovation when they arrived for the performance, to which Charlie Chaplin turned down a "command" invitation.

Trade Council Bill Out of Committee

HARRISBURG, May 12.—The Pinchot bill to create a Greater Pennsylvania council, of which Dr. Charles Reitell, of the University of Pittsburgh, is to be chairman, was reported from the Senate Appropriation Committee for action. The commission would be given $475,000 to foster industry and commerce and agriculture.

New York Assured Sufficient Water

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—All danger of a water shortage in New York this summer or fall has disappeared with an announcement by William W. Brush, chief engineer of the water department, that recent rainfall had given the city reservoirs a total of 226,000,000,000 gallons.

Sharon's Oldest Resident Dies at 101

SHARON, Pa., May 12.—Mrs. Marie Hassell, Sharon's oldest resident, died today. She would have been 101 Monday.

Blames Church For Capital's Speakeasies

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(INS.)—The national capital, which President Hoover declared would be made a "model city" soon after his inauguration, has 3,000 speakeasies, according to the Rev. William S. Abernethy, pastor of Cavalry Baptist Church. Dr. Abernethy said:

"This condition exists because church people allow it. Three-fourths of the church people don't care whether the city is cleaned up, and it doesn't make much difference to three-fourths of the preachers."

GLOBE TROTTER VISITS SPAIN

The far corners of the earth have been combed for the latest sound news pictures which are contained in the current Hearst Metrotone News with the voice of the Globe Trotter describing innumerable thrills.

Spain's new president, Dr. Alcala Zamora, on his visit to Barcelona, is seen and heard at the capitol of Catalonia, which threatened to secede from the newly-formed republic.

A thrilling flight over the Pacific shows the Eleventh Bombardment Squadron dropping practice bombs from a height of 4,000 feet. As many as 20 bombs are released at one time by the aviators.

Accompanied by a roar that can be heard for two miles is a picture of the sensational oil well fire at Gladewater, Tex. The fire has defied the fighters for weeks and continues to send a flame 200 feet into the air. Thousands upon thousands of gallons of oil are consumed every hour.

Pittsburghers Back From Visit Abroad

NEW YORK, May 12.—Miss Mary Elizabeth Wallace, of Pittsburgh, returned last night in the Anchor liner Cameronia from a six-months' visit with relatives in Ireland and England. Another passenger was Joseph William Eynon, of 7333 Kelly street, Homewood, Pittsburgh, who has been visiting his parents in Glasgow.

$3 and you make your car new!

WITH Steelcote, you can paint your car to look like a factory finish.

You can't believe how true this is until you understand how different Steelcote is. Not a paint, not a lacquer. It's the only perfected rubber base enamel.

Steelcote flows itself on smooth without a sign of a brush mark, lap or streak. Anyone can get results that a skilled painter would be proud of.

It dries smooth, brilliant. One coat is usually enough and no varnishing is needed. Dries over night. Paint today and drive tomorrow.

And it's the most durable finish of all. Steelcote looks and lasts like baked enamel. Because it is made from an elastic base, it won't crack, peel or chip off—it stays put.

"Look at the old bus now!"

Use it right over old lacquer, paint or any finish your car has. Then finish the top with Steelcote Rubber Top Dressing—and you have a new car over night.

Cost?—$3 or less—for a quart is enough even for a large car. Made in all car colors.

Why wait? See what a difference, in your car, $3-and-you-can-make with Steelcote. See a Steelcote dealer today.

[Note—Before painting your car, you can even up the chipped or rusted places level with the surrounding surface, with Steelcote Chip, Check, Crack Eliminator—only 70c.]

Not How Cheap, But How Good

—should be the first consideration in buying an electric washing machine which is desired to do good work and last many years. A few dollars more may be the difference between a cheap washer and a genuinely good one. The difference in cost is insignificant over a number of years.

The A. M. C.

washer is a GOOD washer, in the true sense of the term. It represents the developments and improvements of modern manufacture. It is the choice of leading stores throughout the country, and is a five-to-one favorite over the next washer at this store. Quantity sales figure prominently in its low price.

Eight-sheet capacity, porcelain-enamel tub, General Electric motor, safety wringer. Requires just about half the time of the older type machines for washing.

Convenient Payments May Be Arranged

Do Your Dry-Cleaning... Safely...at Home!

If you like light-colored clothes . . . wear them . . . and forget about subsequent cleaning bills, for you can clean clothes at home—quickly and without danger—for very little cost with Globe equipment.

The Globe Cleaning Machine is a compact and efficient worker. Just pour in the Globe Cleaning Fluid, put in garments, draperies, or whatever else you wish to clean, turn the handle a short time, and they will be dirt-free!

Globe Cleaning Fluid is a non-explosive and non-irritating liquid for all kinds of dry cleaning. It is particularly good for cleaning dresses or blouses with fine pleating, for it doesn't disturb a pleat.

While the Globe Fluid is easiest to use in the Globe machine, it may be used in any container.

OBITUARY

Lyon Funeral.

Funeral services were to be held this afternoon from the family residence, 16 Oakland square, for J. Charles Lyon, 58, who died Saturday. He was born in Pittsburgh, the son of Maj. Robert W. Lyon, former mayor of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Harriet Barclay Lyon. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lillian Kane Lyon; a daughter, Mrs. Frank D. Rommel, of Glassport; three sisters, Mrs. James Messick and Mrs. Laura M. Campbell, both of Sheraden, and Mrs. William Grubbs, of Glenshaw, and two grandchildren.

McDonald Funeral.

CHESTER, W. Va., May 12.—Funeral services were to be held today for Allen McDonald, 87, secretary of the Hookstown Fair Association, who died Sunday in his home at 205 Carolina avenue. The services were to be held in the family home and burial was to be in Mill Creek Cemetery. Mr. McDonald died from a fractured skull sustained when he fell from his porch recently. He had been engaged in the sheep-raising and farming business near here for many years. He leaves a daughter, Miss Emma McDonald.

Samuel Heppenstall.

Word was received here today of the death of Samuel Heppenstall, a former resident of Pittsburgh, active among steel men 20 years ago. Born in England, November 23, 1842, Mr. Heppenstall came to this country in 1867, settling in Philadelphia. He came here in 1877 and became associated with Howe-Brown Company, and later was identified with the Trethewey Manufacturing Company, which he reorganized, and which later became the Heppenstall Company. He was president of the company until 1920, when he retired and became chairman of the board. Since 1914, Mr. Heppenstall had made his home at Bala, near Philadelphia. He was a Knights Templar and a Shriner. He leaves six children, Mrs. C. S. Lindsay, Bridgeport, Conn.; George T., C. William and Samuel B. Heppenstall, of Pittsburgh, and C. Henry and Walter L. Heppenstall, of Bala; 10 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. His body will be brought here for burial.

The Rev. Hill Funeral.

Funeral services will be held tonight for the Rev. Dr. John J. Hill, 67, former Millvale pastor, who died Sunday in his home at Gettysburg, Pa. The Rev. Dr. Hill served as pastor of the Christ Lutheran Church at Millvale from 1916 until 1929. Services will be held in his home. Burial is set for tomorrow in Gettysburg. He was born near Leechburg and ordained by the Hartwick synod of the Lutheran church in September, 1891, in Canajoharie, N. Y. His entire ministry was spent in the Lutheran churches of Central and Eastern Pennsylvania until he came to Millvale in 1916.

Paul St. Peter.

Paul St. Peter, 73, for the last 16 years a tipstaff in Criminal Court, died yesterday in his home, at 245 North Dithridge street. He was born in Three Rivers, Canada, and came to Pittsburgh when a boy. From 1895 until 1905 he was executive secretary of the Window Glass Workers Local No. 300, Knights of Labor, and for three years served as president of the local. When he retired from his trade as a glassworker he was appointed a clerk in the office of the clerk of courts and later became a tipstaff. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Ellen Kelly St. Peter; four daughters, Miss Helen St. Peter and Mrs. Francis A. Devlin, of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Ralph Gaul, of Gaspe, Can., and Mrs. Laurence M. Keoughan, of Chicago; three brothers, Henry St. Peter, of Jeannette, Pa., Edward St. Peter, of Corry, Pa., and John St. Peter, of Kane, Pa.; two sisters, Mrs. Delia Van Dyke, of Cleveland, N. Y., and Mrs. John Gilroy, of Elmira, N. Y., and six grandchildren.

Brunn Funeral.

Services for Harry D. Brunn, 72, member of a pioneer Pittsburgh family, who died Sunday, were to be held late today at the Protestant Old Couples' Home, Wilkinsburg, where he had resided for the last seven months. He was the son of Capt. Jacob Brunn. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lizzie Kahler Brunn, and a brother, A. L. Brunn.

$9,000 Fund Asked For Mayview Streets

Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the Department of Public Welfare, today put in a request for $9,000 to City Council for repaving of streets and roads at the city home and hospital at Mayview.

Extensive use of the thoroughfares by trucks during the rebuilding program at Mayview placed them in poor condition, Mrs. Rauh said. Council's Committee on Finance was to act on the matter today.

TORMENTING CORNS CEASE TROUBLING

Why endure the torture of a corn—why ruin your fun and make your work a burden—when there is such a trustworthy way to end the pain and drive away its cause?

Rightly, naturally, you are afraid to chance harsh, rapid-fire "cures" and infection-inviting paring. But millions can tell you of a safe, sane treatment that brings relief without risk.

For 31 years these millions have used Blue-jay corn plasters to end corns. Instant relief comes the moment Blue-jay cushions the tingling spot and stops the chafing pressure. And that same moment Blue-jay's mild medication starts softening and loosening the corn.

Ask your druggist today for Blue-jay—the sensible treatment, made by Bauer & Black, noted surgical dressing manufacturers. Keep them handy—stop corns at the start! 25c a box.

CHEER UP! DRESS UP!

Reflect your confidence in yourself and the future by your appearance

A new suit of clothes has been the turning point in more than one man's business career. Wear as good clothes as you can afford, and go to the best store you know for them—the store which has a reputation for supplying the wardrobe requirements of well-dressed men.

A down-at-the-heel appearance excites sympathy, but arouses pessimism and doubt. New clothes and a well-dressed appearance reflect optimism and create confidence in the future.

This is the message of Men's Week from the Horne Men's Store.

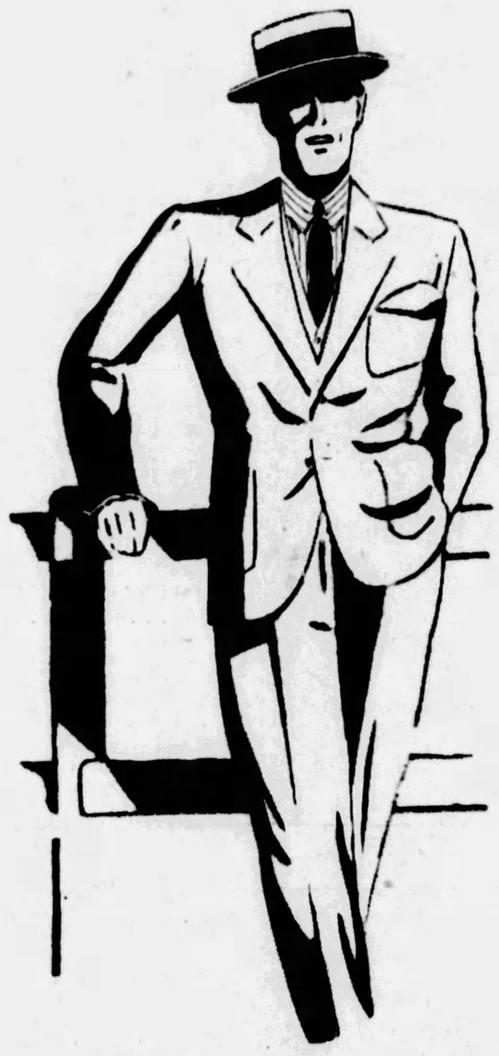
Special values in all the divisions of men's wear, this week, give men strong incentive to complete spring and summer wardrobes at this time.



Two-Trouser Flannel Suits

Angora Berets

$1.25

This is a special, of course, for the berets are imported ones, the superior kind that sit as lightly on one's head as the foam does on the ocean, and "take" all colors beautifully.

Five hundred of them, fresh and new, offer a happy opportunity to all who want berets for active sports, for the country, for motoring. They come in white, a wide range of pastel and bright shades, and in colors suitable for travel.

. . . Horne's, Millinery Salons, Fourth Floor . . .

A New Costume Featured in the Sunshine Corner

$25

Flowers don't actually grow in this glamorous department, but the jonquils on this jacket-frock are so life-like in shape that one is almost tempted to pluck them. And better than real ones, they will never fade, for they are woven right into the washable silk fabric.

By the way, the silk itself is rather unusual, being dull white with gleaming white cross-bars flecked with black or green, or peach-color similarly treated.

In women's sizes 34 to 44.

BANDITS SLAY 4 AFTER HOLDUP

GOMEZ PALACIO, Durango, Mexico, May 12.—(AP.)—Three men and a woman were lined up against a wall and shot to death by bandits who raided a summer resort at Raymundo, near here, yesterday.

The bandits, believed to be Mexicans recently repatriated from the United States, obliged the two proprietors of the resort to hand over the receipts from the previous night's business, then formed a firing squad and executed them, together with the wife of one.

A waiter employed in the resort interfered and also was executed, while the pianist escaped amid a hail of shots.

Plain, Old-Fashioned Pie Wins In Contest

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Old-fashioned, unadulterated, double-crust apple pie has been adjudged the best by experts in home economics in a prize contest conducted by the Home Baking Center. Such modernizations as insertions of nuts and raisins didn't even place or show. Mrs. Mark McGhee won the blue ribbon, a set of sheets and pillow slips.

Wed on Boundary Bridge to Foil Law Bans

DETROIT, May 12.—(AP.)—A Scottish bride who could not enter United States because of quota restrictions, and an American bridegroom who could not secure a marriage license in Canada because of a legal technicality, were married on the center span of the Ambassador Bridge, which links United States and Canada.

Then they returned to Canada, where they expect to live until the bride can secure a visa, in about 15 days, to enter the United States as wife of an American citizen.

Emily Hunt, 31, of Windsor, Ont., and Reginald A. Crudge, 40, of Detroit, were the bride and bridegroom.

Japanese Royalty Feted in Chicago

CHICAGO, May 12.—(INS.)—More than 500 notables tonight were expected to attend a Japan-American Society banquet in honor of Prince and Princess Takamatsu, who are encircling the globe on their honeymoon.

CONVICT HELD AS STRANGLER

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 12—(INS.)—Progress was reported by authorities today in the investigation of San Diego's numerous recent murders.

Richard Ward, alias Jack McVane, 56, escaped convict from Folsom Prison, was held as an important suspect in the murder of 10-year-old Virginia Brooks and kindred slayings.

Moss E. Garrison, 37, was under a formal charge of stabbing to death his sweetheart, Hazel Bradshaw, 22, former West Virginia girl.

Another mystery was cleared up with the return to her home of Louise Kesler, 17, business college student, who had been missing since Friday. She told a story of having been kidnaped by two men. Juvenile authorities were assigned to the case.

Hit by Crane Hook, Steel Worker Dies

Struck on the head with a crane hook while at work Sunday in the Edgar Thomson Works of the Carnegie Steel Company at Braddock, John Urda, 41, of Pitcairn, suffered injuries which caused his death in West Penn Hospital last night, the coroner's office reported.

The

GREATEST VALUE IN OLDSMOBILE HISTORY

$845

The Oldsmobile for 1931 offers you the greatest value in Oldsmobile history—and Oldsmobile cars of past years have earned a nationwide reputation for value.

This statement is based on provable facts, which you can check to your own satisfaction.

For example, the new Oldsmobile is equipped with the famous Syncro-Mesh transmission—a feature heretofore found only in higher-priced cars. It permits silent shifting through all gears . . . from low into second, from second to high, and from high back to second, as desired. In addition, a new Quiet Second Gear, added to Oldsmobile's Syncro-Mesh transmission, assures smooth, swift acceleration which rivals high gear performance in quietness.

Performance, too, is even more pleasing than in the past. New down-draft carburetion brings increased power—with higher speed, faster acceleration, and greater smoothness. It also makes starting in cold weather quicker and easier. And a new carburetor-silencer contributes to quieter engine operation at all speeds.

Further, the new Oldsmobile offers finer coachwork. Body lines are long, low, and smart. Fundamental advancements in construction make the new insulated Fisher bodies strong, quiet, and serviceable. And new appointments, together with smartly tailored upholstery . . . optional in mohair or whipcord . . . add to the luxury of body interiors.

An additional contribution to distinctive appearance is the new wheel equipment provided on all Oldsmobile models. Five wire or five demountable wood wheels are offered optionally—and at no extra charge.

These features, and others which you will see when you examine the new Oldsmobile, add to the quality and dependability of a car which has proved its merit in the hands of nearly a quarter of a million enthusiastic owners during the past three years.

Naturally, this finer quality makes the new Oldsmobile a better buy than ever. And substantially lower prices, plus added quality, make Oldsmobile's value doubly impressive.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. We will be glad to detail for you the reasonable difference between Oldsmobile's list and delivered prices.

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

NEW YORK, May 12.

SEVERAL YEARS BACK, a great movie mogul sat in his office and gazed at the ceiling. He was the head of a great organization. Starting from nowhere, he had climbed steadily in the motion picture profession. No one could—or ever can—take the credit from him. He had amassed many millions by a sincere and mighty struggle. In his life there was a great story.

Suddenly he recognized that fact. He also recognized the fact that such a story would be a very nice thing for him and his friends to have. It would make a good book and a highly interesting one.

The magnate pushed a button and 70 assistants sprang into view. From them the mogul picked a young and highly capable man.

"My life story," he announced, "would make a good book. I want such a book. I will give you some of the material; as much, that is, as I can remember. You will gather all the rest."

The young man nodded. Happily. Here was a choice assignment. He admired his boss immensely. To gather facts and write a book about him was the last word in opportunity.

"I will do my best," he asserted.

"Good," returned the big shot. "I don't care how long it takes you to gather the material. Make it years if you wish to. But remember that I want everything—and I want it correct. Is that clear?"

It was perfectly clear . . . .

For almost two years the young man labored mightily. He did an excellent job of digging. His heart was in the work. When all the material was completed, he turned it over to his boss. He expected to be complimented and told to go ahead with the book.

As far as the compliment was concerned, it arrived on time on track five. But the rest of the expectation never developed. Instead, after reading the data, the magnate cabled a noted author and offered him a staggering price to write the book.

The author proceeded to America pronto. He met the motion picture executive and looked at the very comprehensive material that was at his command. Whereupon he smiled and took the assignment. And I can't say that I blame him much. The money he was to receive for the work bordered on the fantastic.

Meanwhile, the young man took the turn of events philosophically enough. After all, he was in the magnate's employ, and the latter's word was final. Moreover, as a specific reward for his great labor, his name was to be used in a special foreword. And that, although it would mean very little to anyone else, meant a great deal to the young man.

In due time the book was published. The chap who had done all the digging was presented with a copy. Eagerly he looked at it. His heart sank. There was no special foreword. His name had not been mentioned.

When he asked about it, he was patted on the back.

"Just an oversight," they told him. "A printer's error, no doubt. Don't you worry about it. We'll see that it goes into the second edition without fail."

So the young man, not quite understanding, is waiting for the second edition for his poor reward. But there's a joker in that, too. The book is not so hot. The high-priced author did little but praise the movie magnate and his family, and that kind of a biography rarely makes the customers storm the bookstores.

Accordingly, a second edition is unlikely. And maybe it's just as well. When the second edition failed to give him credit, the young man would probably begin to understand. . . .

ALTHOUGH there are quite a few press clipping bureaus in this city, I have yet to come across one that understood its business thoroughly. Inasmuch as there is none of us without vanity, I should imagine that a good press clipping service would make itself much money. Some day somebody's going to make a fortune by developing this idea properly.

As an example of the stupidity in this line of endeavor, you might consider the case of the author who called one of these bureaus only the other afternoon. The author, who has a famous name and is well known all over the world, asked to be connected with someone in charge. He was switched to the manager.

"I would like to join your service," said the famous man pleasantly. "My name is ——. What are your rates?"

The manager repeated the author's name and then coughed.

"Our rates would depend on your business," he replied. "What business are you in?"

P. S.—He didn't get the job . . .

THIS is one of the most unusual letters I have ever received. I print it only for that reason. It comes from Virginia Rose, Box 312, Walterboro, South Carolina.

"I am an ant," it reads. "There are millions of ants in this slippery bowl with me. We are all trying to escape, but a sinister finger obstructs our path and shoves us back into the black, squirming mass.

"The finger cannot be everywhere at once, and some manage to escape. Their fates do not concern us; it is enough that they have escaped. One needs but the strength to endure defeat and a saving sense of humor in order to plan other moves. It is fatal to take one's troubles to heart, for the will to try again becomes dangerously submerged.

"How can one win results unless one keeps on trying? Even the most fantastic move may prove to be the way out.

"In the meantime the height of luxury is to keep reading stories of New York—and Broadway. For five or ten or fifteen minutes I lose myself in another world. The darkness of the present is suddenly illuminated by the power of the printed word.

"Tourists drive through here on their way to Florida and back. I follow every New York car with wistful eyes. We see cars and people of high and low degree. Perhaps those people are the fortunate ones who have escaped.

"There is nothing to keep me here, but, strive as I might, I can gain no distance. It is 900 miles to home—and I am an ant." . . .

DON'T TELL me it isn't so, because I was there when it happened. The mother and father are what the country knows as "up-to-date New Yorkers." The only child—a boy—is just past 7, and it goes without saying that the parents are extremely proud of him. I was sitting with the mother and several other friends a few afternoons ago when the kid burst into the room.

"What do you think, mamma?" he cried. "We had drawing today in school and I drew you and papa."

Mamma was very proud. You could see it in her eyes.

"Yes, dear? she smiled. "And what did you have us doing?"

"Oh, it was beautiful," continued the child excitedly. "Papa was pouring from a gin bottle and you were holding a glass!! . . .

MOTORIST SUED BY POLICEMAN

Alleging he was injured seriously when his motorcycle was struck by an automobile running on the left side of the street, William E. Bruce, city motorcycle patrolman, asked $20,000 damages in a suit against Fred J. Krieger, of Pittsburgh, filed in Common Pleas Court. The collision occurred on Baum boulevard near Graham street, July 26, according to the suit.

Adam Belinoti, of Creighton, on behalf of himself and his seven children asked $75,000 for the death of his wife at a grade crossing, in a suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. She was struck at the Burns crossing of the railroad February 5, 1931.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stuckwich, of Clinton, asked $25,000 damages for injuries to their daughter Audrey, 9, by an automobile, in a suit against the Hagan Corporation and Clifford T. Smith. The child, alighting from a school bus in front of her home December 12, was struck by an automobile owned by the Hagan Corporation and operated by Smith, it was alleged.

TRAFFIC DEATH TOLL REDUCED

A reduction in traffic accidents in the city since the first of the year is seen in the report of City Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre. Based on figures from the coroners's office, the report shows 12 adults and three children killed in traffic during April. This compares with four children and the same number of adults during April a year ago.

During the first four months of this year 43 traffic deaths were reported, a decrease of 34 per cent from the 65 fatalities in the same period of 1930.

DAMAGES WON IN U. S. COURT

Leo C. O'Malley and his wife, Mrs. Sarah O'Malley, of Youngstown, O., and their son, Thomas O'Malley, 5, were awarded a verdict of $3,500 by a jury in Federal Court against Barnett Salulsky, of West Aliquippa, a grocer.

Allison Store Burns, Loss Set at $10,000

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 12.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed a general merchandise store at Allison yesterday with $10,000 loss. It was owned by Herman Angerman, Brownsville.

Enno, Meeno, Minno, Reno

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

It reverses the usual ringlet ritual. The bride takes it off her own fingers, winds up like a baseball pitcher and hurls it into the river.

The idea is to plop the single handcuff into the middle of the stream, where it gurgles a while, then sinks peacefully to the bottom. The divorcerine has rid herself of the last badge of slavery. And is free to do it all over again.

There should be pretty good placer mining in that river. Not only that but for the first time in history you find your nuggets guaranteed 18 karat.

The husband has no rings or other official insignia to toss into the torrent. But if he really wants to do something big and clean he can toss himself in.

Some years ago in this very same paper we wrote a line for which we have always been sorry. As usual, it became very popular with the lower class vulgarians and the mental hitchhikers.

We said that paying alimony was like buying oats for a dead hoss. All we can do is to apologize to the ladies for writing it and again for repeating it.

Everything turns sour in this work sooner or quicker. And if a lady makes a mistake in her choice of husbands she can acknowledge it without having to live with it.

Reno is where the West begins. And where the easterners stop. It is the city of the Great Divide.

By doing simple sums in legal arithmetic it makes two out of one. It is the queen city of the gypsy fortune tellers.

It not only reveals the past. But it reveals the past with four reliable witnesses. It parts the united. But it's too smart to foretell the future.

You look into the crystal globe. And what do you see? Yourself. And that's a pretty enough sight to please anybody.

The mills of the gods may ground slowly. Or they did until Reno geared them up to high speed.

Just six short weeks in that far western town and you are as free as a bird with six sets of wings. You arrive when you want to. And you can go when you please.

And modern marriage seems to be strictly go as you please.

Finds Way To End Acid and Gas Pain Quick

"I've suffered my last spell of sour stomach," says H. K. White, of 2619 Washington Boulevard, Chicago. "I found out that by taking ACIDINE three or four nights a week, I never have that uncertain feeling, whether my meals are going to sit right, or make me miserable from the excessive acid and gas I used to have so regularly."

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japtase, that in laboratory tests digests 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness in acid conditions. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at your druggist. Watch how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, short breath vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Maker refunds money if not delighted.

But After a BLOOD Test--What?

That's the question that should interest every sufferer. The microscope tells a truthful story — the Laboratory tests are a matter of science — but what of THE TREATMENT? How soon can HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE be lowered to normal? Can the terrible pain of stomach troubles be relieved? Will the treatment stop the rheumatic pains racking the muscles, and will the nerve-breaking insomnia yield? Will unsightly skin ailments disappear under treatment? Can the workingman and his family afford these treatments? All these questions find happy answers in the Health Service offered by this Institute.

Symptoms of a faulty blood stream we are successfully correcting: Anemia, Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, High Blood Pressure, Neuritis, Nervous Disorders, Skin Disorders—Psoriasis, Eczema, Acne, Impure Blood—Stomach Troubles. Over 35,000 patients successfully treated at this Laboratory.

COUNCIL ASKED TO FIX STREETS

Council today was prepared to act on petitions filed yesterday by property owners in sections of the city, requesting improvements to streets.

The petitions asked:

Repaving of Neville street from Center avenue, approximately 200 feet.

The petitions probably will be acted upon by committee and referred to the Public Works Department.

GASOLINE USE GAINS HERE

A gain of 236,335 gallons of gasoline consumption over April of last year is seen in the reports for Allegheny county for last month. The entire state showed a loss from the figures for April 1930, the Pittsburgh Motor Club announced.

A total of 10,022,459 gallons were sold in this country last month. Total sales for the state last month were 66,750,750 gallons, a loss of approximately 1,000,000 gallons compared with sales for April of last year and a loss of approximately 10 per cent from March of this year.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

FLOWER SHOW SET THURSDAY

A flower show in the lobby of the William Penn Hotel will be a feature of the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the Civic Club of Allegheny County, Thursday night in the club rooms in the hotel. The floral exhibition will be under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Florists and Gardeners Club.

The display will include 22 classes of tulips and other classes covering summer larkspur, narcissus and delphinium, in addition to hydrangeas. The Davey Tree Expert Company is offering a prize to the exhibitor who shows 75 tulips—three of each of 25 varieties—in one holder. The Florists and Gardeners Club will award a prize for three varieties of tulips, larkspur and gladioli, and the Civic Club a silver vase as the sweepstakes prize.

The display will continue through Thursday night and Friday.

CURRENT KILLS CRANEMAN

Howard Hellyer, 35, of Russellton, was electrocuted last night as he attempted to dislodge a 2,300-volt electric wire which fell onto the tracks of the Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad at Russellton, according to the coroner's report.

Hellyer was operating a locomotive crane when the boom knocked the high-voltage wire to the tracks. Hellyer got out of his cab and attempted to lift the wire, it was reported. Fellow workers and a physician tried for more than three hours to revive him by means of artificial respiration.

Ohio Brick Firm In Fuel Operation

SHARON, Pa., May 12.—The Valley Cities Brick Company has received several orders which have placed its plant at Masury, O., in operation at capacity. A long run is assured. The company's product will be used in the new Elks' Home here, the Champion, O., school and the Lordstown, O., school.

ITCHING ENDS WHEN ZEMO TOUCHES SKIN

—thousands say. It's wonderful the way soothing, cooling Zemo brings relief to skin which itches and burns. Even in most severe cases, itching disappears almost as soon as Zemo touches the tender and inflamed surface. To draw out local infection and help to clear away unsightly blemishes, we know of nothing better than invisible Zemo. Always keep this family antiseptic on hand. Use it freely. It's safe as can be. 35c, 60c and $1.00. All dealers.

Miss Rogers Gained 15 Pounds in Six Weeks

Skinny Men and Women Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days Or Money Back.

My Dear Friends:

After my attack of Flu I was thin, run-down and weak. I had a sallow complexion, my cheeks were sunk in and I was continually troubled with gas on my stomach. I felt stuffy and had lost my appetite. I had read about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets and decided to give them a trial. At once, I began to pick up an appetite, my cheeks filled out and my complexion became healthy looking and I gained 15 pounds in six weeks and am very thankful for what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets did for me.

Miss Alberta Rogers, Decatur, Ill.

To take on weight, grow strong and vigorous, to fill out the hollows in cheeks and neck, try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets for 30 days. 60 Tablets—60 cents at druggists everywhere. If they don't give you wonderful help in 30 days, get your money back—you be the judge. But be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine.

MEETINGS SET IN THIEL DRIVE

Two rallies are to be held in Pittsburgh tonight in the interest of the financial campaign now under way for Thiel College, Greenville. They will take place in the First Lutheran Church, Grant street, and the Mt. Zion Lutheran Church, Perrysville avenue. Speakers will be the Rev. Dr. Henry H. Bagger, president of the Pittsburgh Synod of the Lutheran Church, and the Rev. Dr. E. Clyde Xander, president of Thiel College. Two rallies were held last night.

The series of rallies covers the entire territory of the Pittsburgh Synod, 24 being scheduled between May 1 and May 22. The campaign is to raise funds to expand the college, the synod's educational center.

Orphanage to Mark 98th Anniversary

The Protestant Orphan Asylum, Perrysville and University avenues, North Side, was to hold its 98th anniversary exercises today with an entertainment and drill by the children, followed by open house for visitors. The Rev. Benjamin F. Crawford, pastor of the Perrysville Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, was to speak. The program was to be under the direction of Mrs. Sophia D. Cochran, superintendent of the orphanage.

Electric Firm Holds Open House Display

Several hundred dealers from the tri-state district are visitors at the open house celebration the Brown-Dorrance Electric Company of Pittsburgh is holding this week in its new location in the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Building, Duquesne Way. Several new appliances are being demonstrated, including a new washing machine and ironing machines.

Real Estate

The National Association of Real Estate Boards will present to the directors meeting of the executive committee at the association's annual convention in Baltimore, May 27 to 30, a plan to be submitted to the federal government to aid home financing and stabilize the real estate market.

PLAN APPROVED

The plan, according to L. T. Stevenson, a member of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board and of the executive committee of the national association, was discussed and approved at a recent meeting of the committee in Chicago.

Stevenson says the plan suggests that houses should be financed as consumption good with greater emphasis on the responsibility of the purchaser and not solely as investments secured by resale value.

An improved property on lot 83x91 feet in Kenmont avenue, Mt. Lebanon, has been purchased by Catherine Yetter from Frank J. Mundy, for a consideration of $12,000.

A brick and shingle home of six rooms on lot 30x120 feet at 1037 Bayridge avenue has been sold by A. J. Mitsch to C. E. Paden, according to Smith & Mott, realtors.

SELL HOMES

The same realtors have sold for A. J. Achman to C. R. Sherbon a frame and shingle house of six rooms at 1434 Woodbourne avenue, and for Peter Rauch & Sons, builders, to Edward P. Gearing a six-room brick and clapboard home and double garage at 1213 Woodbourne avenue. The lot measures 30x120 feet.

Applications for building permits follow:

Match Head Burns Youth, Starts Blast

WAYNESBURG, May 12.—Charles Durbin, Jr., 14, was burned severely about the hands and face when the head flew off of a match, one of a group of youths attempted to strike, and ignited a gasoline pump at the general store of L. L. Clutter, at Nineveh, Greene County.

A fire company was called from Waynesburg to extinguish the blaze, which threatened the storeroom and several houses for a short time.

TWO MEN TAKEN IN RUM RAIDS

Prohibition agents reported finding a wildcat brewery last night in the basement of a vacant building in the rear of 226 Chess street, Monongahela, where they arrested Hugh McLinden, 41.

Three hundred gallons of mash and 110 gallons of beer were said to have been found in the basement, which was equipped with an 18-foot bar.

John Rentz, 35, was arrested, agents said, in a raid at 1111 Crest avenue, Charleroi, where two pints of whisky and seven cases of home brew were confiscated.

Lady Viola Tree Signs With 'Follies'

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Lady Viola Tree and Miss Ethel Borden were signed today to appear in the new edition of Ziegfeld's "Follies." They will be seen in dramatic sketches which they have been playing at private parties given by Mrs. Vincent Astor and other members of New York society. Lady Viola, daughter of Sir Hubert Beerbohm Tree, came here from the London stage several months ago to play with Billie Burke in "The Truth Game." The "Follies" will be Miss Borden's first appearance on the stage.

Former Indian Scout Dies in Baltimore

STAGE AND SCREEN REVIEWS WITH STUDIO AND AMUSEMENT GOSSIP

By GEORGE SEIBEL

To train an active volcano is no easy task, and the balky Mount Pele in "The Bird of Paradise" last night at the Alvin Theater will no doubt improve its eruptive technique after another rehearsal. Aside from that and a tendency to exaggerate the awkwardness of Princess Luana into low comedy, the latest ambitious experiment of George Sharp turned out very well, and a large audience saw the tale of passion, superstition, degeneration and patriotism unfolded in very impressive style to the moaning accompaniment of muted ukeleles and the wail of Kanaka chants.

George Seibel

Paul McGrath played Dr. Wilson, the white man who weds the Bird of Paradise, and is dragged down through association with the natives, enervation by the climate and indulgence in Hawaiian hooch.

Gladys George must have taken ultra-violet ray baths to transform herself into a swarthy savage, and acted Luana with alluring sympathy until she succumbed to the temptation to get some laughs by rather cheap comedy stunts.

It must be admitted that much of this trouble is inherent in the drama, which creaks with rust of time. When Richard Walton Tully wrote it, modern psychology was just beginning to toddle on its tiny feet. Hoary-whiskered melodrama ramped haughtily across the stage with a mouthful of well-chewed words for every big situation. And the big situations were neatly stacked one upon the other to a pyrotechnic climax.

At this precise point Luana jumps into the fiery crater and the play is over.

OUR FAITH IS GONE

Now we know better how human beings behave and our faith in the old melodrama is gone.

High Priest Hewahewa, played by Joseph F. Woods with all the dignity of a Roman Senator denouncing Catiline, and the old witch Mahumahu, represented by Alice Ann Baker as an aging mammy from Alabama, furnished most of the local human color, the rest of the characters being decorative and ululative.

Robert Fiske did a very fine piece of work as the beach-comber who quotes Omar Khayyam as he gulps down his forbidden juice. Fiske can read his Rubaiyat as if he had come straight from Naishapur.

Billy Link was a canting missionary and Katherine Maison a lady uplifter as they were required by the script of dramatist Tully, who needed them to oil the machinery of the plot.

SLANDERING THE SAVAGES

Still, though we may resent the slandering of the savage who doesn't know the use of finger-bowls, and though we may think Capt. Hatch, well played by Fred Sullivan, a poor amateur as a revolutionist, the old play has a certain charm of the exotic and romantic, with its waving palms and blue distances.

It's like listening to an organ-grinder playing "O sole mio" and seeing the Castello dell' Ovo rise out of the deep sapphire of Naples' magic bay.

Even to attempt the ambitious scenic scheme of this drama was a daring stroke on the part of George Sharp and Horace Sinclair. That they have succeeded so well ought to bring them a few of the floral leis which Luana festoons everybody with.

And by tonight they will surely have taught the lurid enough volcano the true meaning of the Fourth of July.

Pitt Players Offer Comedy by Barrie

Thursday evening, in the Y. M. H. A. Auditorium, the Pitt Players, dramatic organization of the University of Pittsburgh, will present "Alice Sit By The Fire," English comedy by James Barrie, as their last production of the year.

Jack Gilbert Not to Play Opposite Greta Garbo As First Planned

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, May 12.

Having abandoned the plan of reuniting Jack Gilbert and Greta Garbo in "The Fall and Rise of Susan Lennox," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is all ready with another story for Jack.

It is "Candlelight," a play from the French of Alfred Savoir. New York saw an English translation two seasons ago, I believe, and a company headed by Reginald Owen and Mme. Leontovitch did the play later on the coast. This was before the actress' Broadway hit in "Grand Hotel," and the Los Angeles critics failed to note any superlative quality in her acting.

Jack Gilbert

"Candlelight" is whimsical and sophisticated, with only a thread of a plot. It has to do with a four-way masquerade of a master and his valet and a baroness and her maid. As I recall it, numerous changes will have to be made for the films.

Gilbert, you know, has just finished "Cheri-Bibi." It is disappointing from the fan's point of view that he will not play with Greta, but "Candlelight" ought to be right in his line. It will be his first sophisticated role since that ill-starred picture, "His Glorious Night."

GABLE AGAIN

This year's phenomenom is Clark Gable, who is soaring towards stardom at Metro-Golwyn-Mayer, brought out here by Stage Producer Louis MacLoon to do "The Last Mile," he got into the films, and has been furiously juggled ever since from heavy roles to leads. He played the gambler in Norma Shearer's "A Free Soul," and he will be Greta Garbo's lead in "The Fall and Rise of Susan Lennox." Now, they've assigned him to play Wallie Beery's pal in "Sea Eagles."

THE KING IS DEAD

The Hollywood grapevine reports that Fox is disciplining Rowland Brown, who, only a few weeks back was given a bonus and a trip to Europe for his direction of "Quick Millions." Mr. Brown, like other Fox bad-boys, now can be found in the scenario department . . . But he should worry. "Quick Millions" proved he is cut out to be a director. And as the author of "The Doorway to Hell," he probably can get a job at Warners any day. . . Ralph Block, another highly touted Fox official, has left the studio entirely, with a settlement for the rest of his contract. Maybe he quit, of his own accord. To be handed an assignment like "Girls Demand Excitement" was enough.

SCOOP BY METROTONE PUTS CROWLEY IN NEWS REEL

By REGINA CREWE

NEW YORK, May 12.—In a scoop as sensational as the city has seen, Hearst Metronone Newsreel has camera-captured a real life drama which tops all competition on the excellent bill presented at the Newsreel Theater.

The thriller of guns, gals and gangsters might be titled "Cops and Killers," for it portrays no less a page one event than the capture of "Two-Gun" Crowley, his fat friend, and his silly sweetheart, by our bold boys in blue.

Within 12 hours after New York's finest scotched the trio, the entire battle of West End avenue, caught by Hearst Metronone Newsreel photographers, had been flung from the West End front to the laboratories and thence to the news reel's screel. If there were a Pulitzer prize for an outstanding news reel feat, this achievement should receive the award. And, incidentally, why isn't there a prize for news reel accomplishments?

NO SYNTHETIC THRILLS

"Cops and Killers" beats the synthetic thrills of Broadwy's gangster movies in the dynamic power and reality of its drama. Here, after all, is no nice family man like Edward G. Robinson masquerading as a murderer; no sweet-faced kid like Lew Ayres; no likeable youngster like James Cagney; no versatile thespian like Wallace Beery—the leading roles are played by the real thing. The rat-eyed, weak-chinned Crowley is ideally cast as the kid who is facing "The Doorway to Hell." The dull-eyed Duringer, gross, repulsive, looks the part he portrays—the venomous villain. The love interest of the film is provided by the pathetic figure of Helen Walsh, a sadly sympathetic little girl who quit the communion rail to consort with cobra-like associates.

CAMERA, BEST SHOT

Hearst Metrotone Newsreel shows all three in long shots, mediums and close-ups. The siege of the Ninetieth street hide-out is portrayed in graphic detail—the cornered gangsters shooting desperately in a vain fight for freedom, the milling crowds, the gun fire, the daring of the police who get their men, and finally the capture sequence and the final exodus of the gunmen guarded by the victorious heroes against the mob assembled to witness "The Last Parade."

The production is excellently staged, and ably directed by Commissioner Mulrooney, who shows special talent in handling mob scenes. From the number of bullets exchanged, it is obvious that the best shooting is contributed by the Hearst Metrotone Newsreel cameramen.

This Town of Ours

Jean McCraw Ackerman, of the Ziegfeld tribe, and Walter Hirshon, of the Exchange, quietly got their license Friday and will be sealed this wk. . . . The Willard Macks are On the Verge . . . The late A. Rothstein's Rolls-Royce was just peddled for $400 . . . It's a lad over at the Nathan Burkans . . . Colleen Moore's brother, Cleve, and Ruth Abbott, the player, have been secretly blended for months . . . Sinclair Lewis is gunning for Ernest Boyd because of the latter's current Vanity Fair caption . . . The Morrison Perrys have melted, and Ruth Everard, the new honey, is a half-million richer . . . The 49th-to-53rd St. sector, now being demolished for Radio City, will force 171 speakeasies out of business there. . . . Norman Jacobsen, the artist, and Sutton Vane, author of "Outward Bound," were secretly welded 10 days ago.

The Oliver LaFarges (Wanden Matthews) have a lad. She is a society gal, and he copped last yr's Pulitzeribbon with "Laughing Boy" . . . The Carl (N. Y. Sun) Helms are Phfffting! . . . Edna Purviance, once Chaplin's femme lead, and Allen Murphy will be middle-aisled . . . Phil Baker has the miseries because Eileen Culshaw (of the "Whoopee" chorus), to whom he was engaged for six yrs, suddenly married a Londoner last wk. . . . Bill (actor) Boyd's new honey is Virginia Whiting . . . Many a lad who adored her 3 yrs ago will sigh upon learning that the gorgeous Patricia Caron is returning from Hollywood . . . MGM did not take up Marie Prevost's option—excessive weight . . . Jean Malin's real handle is Victor Malinauskas.

Frederick Lonsdale, one of the better writers, refused to pen a scenario for La Garbo because "she cannot speak good English." . . . Banks here refused to accept withdrawn accounts from a sister in distress which had two suppressed runs . . . The Lee Gordons (Doree Leslie) anticipate their blessed-event within the fortnight . . . Alfred Knopf, the tome publisher, has closed the London branch . . . May Vandergrift has a fractured skull because "there should have been steps there!" . . . Sue Bergman and her husband have had A Long Cry and are reconciling . . . Harrison, N. J., has 300 speakeasies within the 4 sq. miles of the burg . . . Allan Forrest, ex-heart of Lottie Pickford, just got something from her to remember him by for a few days—an eye Away Out to Here. . . . Suggested name for a speaky: "The High Sign."

Elmer Ellsworth, who writes under the tag of Tiffany Thayer, has a new book to irritate the censors—"Call Her Savage" . . . The text may get by—but the illustrations? . . . Monday night is always the Big Night at the Clover Gardens dance hall for "Daddy" Browning . . . The forthcoming Goodrich Bathing Cap ads are attractive because Beryl Wallace, a "Vanities" Venus, posed for them. . . . On Chewsday they will announce the betrothal of Gorgon A. Ogden to a Niagara Falls gal . . . His pappy is Pres. of Dunhill, Inc. . . . The drummer in Ed Wynn's "Simple Simon" troupe was Fred Henry, ex-Big League pitcher . . . The Movie Industry pays fancy prices to experts to watch the grammar in the flickers, yet the "Public Enemy" foreword contains a split infinitive.

Recommended to diversion seekers: Rube Goldberg"s serious piece in Cosmop . . . Chick Endor's parody on "Love Is Like That," at the Jungle . . . Forrest Wilson is in the May Harper's Bazaar. . . . The privately recorded platter of Ravel's "Bolero," by Leo Reisman (if you know Reisman well enough to get the gift) . . . The "Lyda Roberti" number at the 300 (the old Abbey) . . . Buddy Rogers warbling "Someone to Love" . . . The ditty, "We'll Be the Same" . . . Barry & Fitzgibbons, back from London, at the Central Casino . . . Any Yankees-Washington ball game, and one-half sherry and one-half rye for Married Ladies—it makes them see double and feel single.

William Bolitho's widow, Sybil, still is sore at Bela Blau's production of her late husband's "Overture" play; she has omitted Blau's tab in the published version . . . Last Monday eve'g was the toughest in the history of the Leblang cut-rate ticket trade. . . . Mary Garden was not turned down by the Civic Opera; she refused a new contract . . . Helen Hayes is getting 5 Gs weekly in Hollywood . . . What opera star spurned a chin-ema contract because they wanted her to have her orbs straightened? . . . Because it was said here that a "party costing $20,000 would be held at the Casino," Colette D'Arville canceled it and held it at Delmonico's . . . A movie is being planned using the current depression for its theme, and Izzy Elinson suggests an appropriate title—"The Famishing American."

Although millions pass it weekly, they never see Charley Thorley's name chiseled in the Times Bldg. cornerstone, three stories up, on the N. W. corner of the Canyon . . . Gen. Fechet, of the Army Air Corps, takes a stiff sock at what hero in a current mag? . . . Stating that one of America's most famous pilots is not safe left alone in a cockpit, and would make a better bartender . . . Will Hays drew a correction from the Times Satdee about what Bad Boy Crowley was supposed to have said about getting his idea for shooting cops from films . . . The most beautiful word in the language, according to a verdict reached by English professors in Britain, is "murmuring" . . . Norman Anthony's new humorag will be christened "Ballyhoo" . . . It is too bad that the best "Two-Gun" Crowley capture newsreel shots were censored.

RKO kept NBC and Amos 'n' Andy from exploiting their Paramount appearance over the air . . . The E. Lehman, Jr.'s (Virginia Pine), who were secretly Parson'd ever so long ago, are being stork'd . . . Bettie McDonald, of the Ziegfeld choir and the magazines, will soon be Hollywood-bound, and a certain screen star will go crazy again . . . A double for the late Louis Wolheim has been discovered on the Astoria Paramount set . . . The J. Holtons, of the Fox Films, are blessed-eventing . . . Ditto the H. de Beckers of "The Silent Witness" cast . . . The Hillebrand Bartons (Mary Dailey, of the Winter Garden shows) are having it Reno-vated.

One syndicate that tried to peddle Chili Acuna's vice story got nothing but insults from out-of-town editors . . . If you take a photo in Reno without permission of the subject you are fined $100 and run outta town . . . Sonia Wilson is telling it to a Paris judge, claiming fraud . . . Seabury, the vice investigator, has a pipe organ in his home which he pecks at at all hours of the night . . . which is another form of vice, if you ask the neighbors . . . Jean Murray, who has more curves than Dazzy Vance, is back in circulation after a two-year spell with Bud Wagner . . . Although the Frank Doelgers (Edna Leedom) are divorcing, she received a $10,000 Mother's Day gift from him . . . That Peppy de Albrew person is around again, giving women the shudders by wearing a new live white mouse in his lapel . . . The Jean Malins (Lucille Williams), who were sealed on Jan'y 30th, have definitely parted, and he will name a former (and too handsome) boxer as co-respondent . . . After all these years, the Charles Macks (Moran & Mack) will tell it to a judge.

Comedy Arranged At Allegheny High

The three-act comedy, "Kempy," will be given tomorrow night in the auditorium of the Allegheny High School, by the players of the Fellowship of Mt. Olivet Lutheran Church, Spring Hill. Music will be given by the Fellowship Orchestra, with solos by R. A. Maser, Mrs. L. R. Schnarrenber, accompanying. In the cast are: Myrtle Dillinger, R. Gura, Sr., Mrs. R. F. Gura, Betty Ferrall, Oliver M. Gura, N. J. Maser, R. A. Maser and W. D. Maser.

James Hall Cast With Mae Clarke

James Hall, well-known screen juvenile, who recently completed work in "The Lightning Flyer," has been selected to depict the leading male role opposite Mae Clarke in "Good Bad Girl." The story is a highly dramatic account of a modern girl's regeneration through love. R. William Neill is directing, with a cast that includes Edmund Breese and Robert Ellis in addition to Miss Clarke. Hall, a graduate of musical comedy, made his screen debut in 1924.

Don't Be Skinny

Gain pounds of weight in few weeks with new IRONIZED YEAST—a special combination of dried brewer's yeast plus iron—or pay nothing

It seems almost unbelievable how fast new Ironized Yeast has added pounds of good firm flesh—on men and women, children and old people. Nervousness, tired feeling changed to new strength and pep; constipation, indigestion vanished.

People ask—what is the wonderful power in Ironized Yeast that has transformed sallow, lifeless, blemished complexions into fresh, smooth, lovely skin? No wonder thousands of women pour in letters praising the marvelous youthifying effects of Ironized Yeast.

Yet the answer is simple. Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—special weight-building dried brewer's Yeast and blood-enriching, strengthening iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. Double-tested for strength, purity and potency. Used by doctors and big hospitals.

To this concentrated dried brewer's Yeast is added three kinds of easily assimilated Iron to quickly make rich, red blood and tone up nerves and muscles. By this special process Ironized Yeast is made more effective than yeast or iron taken separately. Contains no starches, flours or gas-forming fillers. That's why Ironized Yeast works so quickly. Pleasant little tablets—no nasty taste, no gas or bloating. Never spoil, safe for everybody.

Go to any drug store today, get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast, and take the little tablets as directed. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with quick results, your money promptly refunded by manufacturer.

GIMBELS Will Not Knowingly Be Undersold

MR. BARRYMORE PUTS SVENGALI IN NEW WARNER FILM

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

John Barrymore reminds of the little schoolboy who wants to show off when company comes. He likes to be dramatic in that great big way. And so in the title role of "Svengali," film version of George Louis Du Maurier's old novel, "Trilby," he is in his glory. The part affords him the opportunity to put his dramatic talent on gawdy display and to be the whole show.

This Svengali is quite a fantastic character. He is musician, who, by strategic hypnotic power, turns a little Parisian artist's model into a great singer. He begins by taking away the little girl's headache and he ends by taking away her life.

PHOTOGRAPHY HELPS

The photography goes a long way in creating the proper atmosphere and in making the Barrymore dramatics appear convincing. And though the story action falters at times, there is an element of foreboding that retains suspense throughout.

The director, handicapped perhaps by the dominating presence of a Barrymore, manages things fairly well, though, when he goes symbolical he is anything but original. A cat and a mouse are introduced to symbolize Svengali's power over the little artist model, Trilby, and a closeup at the finale of a baton dropping from a cold hand announces Svengali has become an obituary.

PROPERLY BEARDED

Mr. Barrymore is made up for his part in exhibition style. He's all properly bewhiskered and looks quite the menace. In walk, poise and gesture he is effective, and there is plenty expression in his eyes. So much, in fact, that use of trick manipulation of these eyes in hypnotic sequences makes the whole thing seem over done.

Mr. Barrymore also gives his Svengali a sense of humor that brightens the picture in spots, but the spots aren't frequent enough to ease the tragedy of the romance very much.

Supporting players include Marian Marsh, as Trilby, Carmel Myers, Donald Crisp, Bramwell Fletcher and Lumsden Hare, who satisfy, but who seem to suffer from too much Barrymore.

'DIRIGIBLE,' AIR FILM, OPENS SECOND WEEK

"Dirigible," photoplay of the air, opened its second week in the Pitt yesterday. Besides having thrilling aerial episodes, in which the huge dirigible "Los Angeles" plays an important part, "Dirigible" has a romantic love story concerning the love of two men for one woman. The men are portrayed by Jack Holt and Ralph Graves, and the woman by Fay Wray.

Plays, Players and By-Play

Factory Girls Wear Pajamas at Work

LYNN, Mass., May 12.—(AP.)—Girls working in shoe factories are wearing gay beach pajamas, finding them more comfortable and more economical than skirts.

If BABY HAS COLIC

COLIC comes suddenly. Your first intimation that something is wrong may be a warning cry in the night. If you have a bottle of Castoria handy you needn't worry, for a little of this pure vegetable remedy will soon have baby his happy self again; let him go back to sleep.

Castoria is always the sensible thing to give an ailing child. When a child is restless, fretful, with coated tongue, bad breath and lack of appetite, it is a mother's standby. Most mothers give Castoria an important place in their homes. Ready for sour stomach, constipation, or upset. When buying Fletcher's Castoria always look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. This identifies the genuine product.

This Woman In 4 Weeks Lost 17 Pounds of Fat

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer, of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

"Gentlemen: I started taking Kruschen every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs., and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity.

May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince anyone."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at any drug store in America. Take one-half teaspoon in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning. To help reduce swiftly cut out pastry and fatty meats and go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar.

The Kruschen way is the safe way to reduce—Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back. Your druggist knows all about Kruschen.

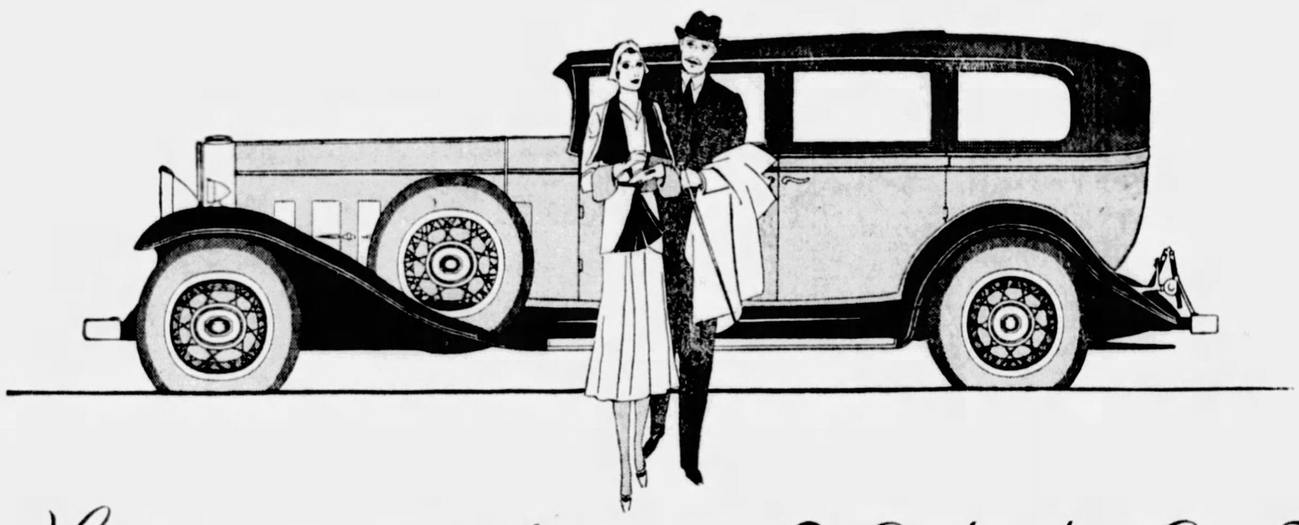
CADILLAC V-12



Have you ever driven a 12-Cylinder Car?

The one fundamentally new thing in motoring is multi-cylinder performance. Unless you have experienced a demonstration of a Cadillac V-12 or V-16, you cannot appreciate what the multi-cylinder engine means to motoring luxury. In fact, it has made motoring as genuinely luxurious, from every standpoint, as any known mode of transportation. Yet, these cars do not carry the penalty of excessive price. The V-12, for instance, is priced within the immediate range of numerous conventional cars. May we send you a V-12 for an informative demonstration?

The Cadillac V-12, with Fisher and Fleetwood coachwork, ranges in price from $3795 to $4895 f. o. b. Detroit. Convenient G. M. A. C. terms are recommended.

RECAPTURE YOUTH

By Reducing, Easily, Comfortably, and Immediately

Not every woman is so fortunate as to have that youthful form over which modern frocks can be so skillfully molded. It is possible to rid your body of that excess fat, quickly and easily, and, in addition, improve your general health.

Fayro Bath Salts contain nothing except pure ingredients, which, dissolved in water, give you a healthful invigorating bath. Fayro opens wide the pores of your skin and the excess fat beneath the surface disappears. Your skin, invigorated by the mineral salts, takes on a new texture and color.

Don't endanger your health by taking doubtful preparations internally. By eating less starchy foods the loss of weight can be hastened, but don't restrict your diet too much unless on the advice of your physician.

Hundreds of physicians and enthusiastic users of Fayro in all parts of the nation have written *letters of the excellent results they have obtained.

Dr. C., of Marshall, Minn., says, "I have tried Fayro in several cases I am attending now with very good results. One patient lost two pounds in two baths and four pounds in one bath. I believe it very good."

"Yesterday I received one package of Fayro. Last night I used it and lost three and one-half pounds. I was delighted." This is part of a letter from Miss S.

Fayro is sold only on an unconditional guarantee that if you are dissatisfied for any reason your money will be instantly refunded. More than a million and a half treatments have been sold on this guarantee. You risk nothing in giving it a fair trial.

One dollar at drug stores and toilet counters everywhere.

*Write for copy of sworn statement before Notary Public that no testimonial for Fayro has ever been solicited or paid for in any way. Fayro, Inc., North Side, Pittsburgh.

Fayro REDUCING BATH SALTS

Fayro is sold at Mayflower, Dow and Walgreen Stores, and at Hite Drug Store, Ohio and Federal Streets

RADIO NEWS AND PROGRAMS

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

Hurrah for Snoop and Peep! The demon de-tec-a-tives have caught up with an elusive wavelength . . . and return to NBC-WCAE at 11 o'clock tonight . . . hear them solve crime with rhyme. . . . We anticipate with pleasure the debut of Archer Gibson, famous organist, in his Tuesday night series to be known as "Dream Pictures" (KDKA, 10:45). Gibson is to play from the console in his New York home . . . when not occupied as organist at the Brick Presbyterian Church in New York, Gibson is private organist for Charles M. Schwab, the Rockefellers and Henry Clay Frick. . . There's a surprise slated for WJAS fans at 10:30. . . Ernest Lubitsch, German film director, is to discuss his experiences with Jerry "Closeup" Madison, more familiarly known to us as Don Clark, the CBS announcer. . . . Pittsburghers always extend a welcome to the "long, tall girl from Dixie, Irene Beasley," who contributes two songs to the Roundtowner program, WJAS at 8:45. . . Elsie Mae Gordon, known to us as "Sneed" and lots of other people in "Real Folks," substitutes for Georgia Backus as "Flo" on WJAS at 9.

Darrell V. Martin

Happy Bakers (WEAF, 9:30) leave the air next Tuesday after three years of weekly appearances . . . all a matter of raising dough.

When the Baker feature moves off, its place is to be taken by the Brush Man now heard on WJZ-KDKA Saturday night.

QUESTION A DAY:

A few nights ago I picked up a new station at the bottom of my dial. It was a one-sided conversation, but apparently the man at the station, which I thought he said was WACC, was speaking to an aviator traveling to Pittsburgh from Columbus. Can you solve this?—D. L., Dravosburg.

Answer—You heard WAEC at Bettis Field communicating with a transport plane. WAEC operates on 94 meters night time and 54 meters daytime. We think your reception was aided by some peculiar atmospheric or electric condition in the neighborhood as this wavelength is far out of the broadcast band.

STUDIO LIGHTS

With Anthony Wons as m. c., the Pleasure Hour transfers from NBC to CBS on Monday, June 1, with Morton Downey and Jacques Renard's Orchestra as the only entertainers . . . leaving Mary McCoy et al in the lurch . . . the new time, 7:45 to 8, and the local station, WJAS.

"Spike" Shannon's morning exercises are soon to emanate from KQV waves.

Not a bit "high hat" about the way he approaches the Kentucky Derby, Clem McCarthy is to go right into the stalls this Friday at 6:45 (WEAF network) to interview stable boys, trainers and others about the big race scheduled for the following day.

Paul Miller takes "Skippy and Ray" to KDKA on Monday, May 18, at noon . . . again Wednesday, May 20, at 6:30.

New twist in radio entertainment: Jim Londos, heavyweight wrestling champion, tells how he does it this Sunday night at 9:15, WJZ.

Dream Pictures, WJZ, WENR, 11:30.

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, May 12.—After 10 years of hushing and shushing, gossip from Washington has finally reached the radio, and the microphones have taken on a new significance.

Edwin Alger, of radio's stampeding journalistic army, has given us a picture of the White House with special attention to the grandfatherly moods of Hoover. The broadcast, it seemed to us, did more to humanize Hoover than any event that has taken place since he ascended the throne, with the possible exception of his recent hospitality to Colorado's young Bryan Untiedt.

There appears the certainty that radio is to be utilized more and more for the next 18 months to building up, as the boys say, the Hooverian personality at the fireside. The strategists of the White House have the microphonic jump on their political opponents—more than a year's jump, to be exact.

The Democrats, obviously, are unable to get started until after the convention. They'll have to hide their time. And pray that when the time comes they'll have a candidate who not only has a radio personality but a home life and a background that can be exploited sentimentally and humanly on the air.

Radio has taught the politicians that sentiment and humanness on the air brings votes. They have learned—and it took them some time—that pompous dignity and spread-eagle oratory drive votes away. Clarence Darrow once summed it up for us:

"It isn't so much what a speaker says on the radio, but how he says it—that and common sense."

The microphone is not only humanizing politics, it is chiefly instrumental in placing boxing upon the altar of respectability. It has been responsible for bringing new patrons to the ringside—feminine patrons for the most part, who, gaining a glimpse of the drama and color of the arena over the loudspeakers, wished to observe at close range the full effect of the drama wand color.

In providing entertainment for the nation no showmen in America are in a class with the gaekwars of radio. They form a superlative kind of showmen. In spelling "S" they invariably make it come out as "$." . . . .

For 18 hours a day they must pour into the parlors an astounding variety of amusement and information. They must capture for the eardrums the big shots of the day's news, the mahatmas—and mahatmammas, too—of the stage and screen, the rulers of the concert and operatic kingdom, the music and drama and speech necessary to the advertised presentation of soap and soup—their hardest task, if you ask me—and still find time to arrange international programs, supervise the work of thousands and keep pace with the newest faceliftings of television.

Radio is not only big business, it is also big art. And don't let anybody fool you. The artistic side of radio has not yet kept pace with the mechanical and electrical side. But it is catching up. Perhaps it is because its greatest rewards have been to those who are not of radio, who look upon it as a swell racket, as a means of acquiring a vast amount of money for a minimum amount of labor.

PIANOS
The BECHSTEIN
A very fine musician said to us recently: "The Bechstein Piano is for those people who love the music of a string quartet. It requires that kind of a music-lover to appreciate its beauties."
It was such a fine tribute we felt we must give it wider utterance.
Bechstein Pianos are the leading pianos of Europe and of the world. They are imported direct from Berlin and sold exclusively in Pittsburgh by Boggs & Buhl.

ECONOMY SEEN IN COUNTY'S ROAD PLAN

Offers Cheaper Proposal for Woodruff Ave. Widening Than Does City Commission

Saving of $3,778 for widening of Woodruff avenue in connection with the city-county Saw Mill Run boulevard project was indicated today if Council adopts a plan drafted by the county instead of one developed by the City Planning Commission.

Council yesterday received a letter from Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, presenting 12 ordinances repealing former proposed legislation to widen Woodruff avenue from the Saw Mill Run boulevard to Banksville avenue.

When the Planning Commission prepared its widening data, according to Lang, Allegheny County's engineers were dissatisfied. Plans were prepared by the county, Lang told Council:

"Allegheny County has a far better and more desirable plan than that made by the Planning Commission."

Council was informed it would be necessary to change location of the boulevard route from where it passes under the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad tracks to Wilmerding street, to prevent construction of two bridges.

Estimated damages for the widening under the Planning Commission's method are $203,773, while the county sets its estimate at an even $200,000.

CARSON STREET WIDENING UP

City Council's Committee on Finance today was to act on an ordinance providing for widening of Carson street, Twentieth Ward. Cost of the improvement, according to the Department of Public Works, will be assessed against property owners. No estimate of the cost was made in the departmental communication given Council yesterday.

An ordinance for a storm sewer on Gidday way at Lindell street, to cost $17,000, was to be acted upon.

The department asked councilmanic permission to replace a wall and curb on Stanton avenue, north of Morningside avenue, with labor to be furnished at no cost to the city by the Allegheny County Emergency Association.

INDEPENDENTS TO MEET

Voters of the Seventh, Eighth and Eleventh wards have been invited to attend a meeting in Peabody High School Thursday night, May 21, called by Mrs. Frank Boyle, of 5504 Howe street. It is understood it may result in the organization of an independent movement in the coming city-county campaign.

Invitations, it is said, have been extended Secretary James F. Malone, of the State Department of Property and Supplies; County Commission Charles C. McGovern, Deputy Attorney General Ralph Smith and a number of judges.

Fear of Blindness Prompts Death Leap

CHICAGO, May 12.—(INS.)—Knowledge that she was becoming blind today was advanced as the reason why Mrs. Mary Whipple Jacobs, 61, wealthy widow and formerly a prominent society woman, leaped to death from her ninth floor suite in the Mozart Apartment Hotel.

Fire Truck, Paving Ordered by Etna

Etna borough council last night passed ordinances for paving Oakland street, part of Hickory and High street extension, and the repaving of Grant street. The improvements will aggregate $30,000. Council also authorized bids for a new fire truck.

Edgewood awarded McCrady Construction Company the paving of Walnut street for $4,900.

Water Leak Floods Downtown Street

A leaky water connection caused Water street, between Market and Wood streets, to be partially flooded early today. The Public Works Department was notified and the leak repaired.

Ruth Nichols Aide Arranging Flight

LONDON, May 12.—(AP.)—H. H. Railey, manager for Ruth Nichols, American aviatrix, arrived today to make preliminary arrangements for her projected trans-Atlantic flight.

He will obtain meteorological service and arrange accommodations for Miss Nichols at a British airport in the event that a landing in England is necessary. Her object is Le Bourget, France.

American Reported Killed in Tampico

MEXICO CITY, May 12.—(AP.)—Dispatches from Tampico to the newspaper El Universal today said an American named Samuel Prais, whose address in the United States was not given, was murdered by several unidentified men in his home on the outskirts of Tampico yesterday.

Akron Cuts School Pay to Meet Deficit

AKRON, O., May 12.—(AP.)—The Board of Education has voted to cut two weeks pay from the salary of each teacher in the city schools and from every employe of the school system in an effort to make up an estimated shortage of $500,000 in taxation revenue.

Altoona Iron Dealer Asks Bankruptcy

A petition of voluntary bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court today by A. Abelson & Co., Altoona scrap iron dealers. The firm's liabilities were listed at $183,430.73 and assets, $62,524.75.

Blonde Twins In Bellevue Need Home

JIMMY AND BOBBIE . . . PROMISE A HOME, YOU CAN HAVE 'EM

BLOND TWINS WANT HOME

They are two of the dozen youngsters in the Salvation Army Home and Maternity Hospital, 108 Meade street, Bellevue.

The home is equipped to care for from 15 to 20 fatherless children until they can be adopted or until the mothers can find work which will permit them to reclaim their children.

One of the features of the home's policy is that a mother, once having obtained work but unable to give the child a home, may keep it at the institution, paying board until such time when she can have it with her.

There are 30 rooms in the hospital for unfortunate mothers.

Children's Custody Given to Mother

Judge W. Heber Dithrich today permitted Mrs. Ada Hoover, North Braddock, to retain custody of her children, Verl E., 8, and William, 7. The decision followed a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by Homer C. Hoover, Jr., who charged his wife refused to let them visit him.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

ROSWELL, N. M., May 12.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

You have heard of great preparatory schools where they turn out great football talent for the large universities, well right here in Roswell, N. M., the prettiest little city you ever saw, is situated the New Mexico Military Academy, and their kid polo teams are famous, its the incubator for coming international polo. Think of a preparatory school with 120 kids out to make the team. This country is all doing fine, they already charged off and started in on a new basis of values, the same as the whole country has got to do. Up to 1929 was a nightmare, and they have just forgot it and everybody is happy. Yours, WILL.

FIVE AND TEN

By FANNIE HURST

What Has Gone Before

John G. Rarick has made millions as a chain store operator. His wife, Jenny, shortly after their marriage, lent him $2,500, all she had, when he was near failure, and out of this money he built riches. She plans the social education of their children, Jennifer and Avery. The thought is always in her mind that without her $2,500 Rarick would have achieved nothing. Her goading results in Rarick's agreeing to go East and buy a magnificant home, but, secretly, he finds himself hating her. This is accentuated by his own temperamental inability to get close to his children. All their appeals to him are made through their mother. Rarick meets an odd genius, Dr. Felix Gerkes, an authority on art and gems, and installs him in his house. Jenny objects to his presence and a bitter scene follows in which Rarick delivers the ultimatum that Gerkes remains.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER V.

A story about Jennifer Rarick went the rounds that winter, creating hilarity at many a cocktail and dinner party.

It seemed that the Rarick house, shiningly conditioned, was now being pointed out by sight-seeing omnibus megaphones as the billion-dollar Ficke-Rarick mansion purchased with Rarick dimes.

One morning, just as Jennifer, in riding habit, was emerging from the house to enter a large fawn-colored roadster which she was accustomed to drive herself across the park to the academy where she kept her mounts, one of these omnibuses slowed while the megaphone roared of Rarick dimes and billion-dollar mansions.

Throughout this canned oration, the daughter of John Rarick, one hand against her slim hip, the other thumbing her nose at the omnibus, held posture, precipitating the picture by a dash into her roadster at its conclusion and leaving a gasping and bucolic sightseeing omnibus load not quite sure that it had happened.

Whether it did happen or not, the gesture might be said to be somewhat typical of Jennifer. I am. You are. Take me. Leave me.

Usually you took her. Even at her worst, when she was cocksure and tiresomely sophisticated and pseudo and pretentious, there was about her a hearty self-loathing, concerning which she was robustly frank.

"I despise myself," she was constantly saying to people on club verandas and in grand stands at polo matches, where patter predominated. "I am a swine. I'm N. G. I'm stealing a ride through life. I'm a panhandler."

After a fashion she meant it. After the fashion of one who attempts to appease a dissatisfaction by throwing to it slops of words.

Costly Tantrums

People were always saying of her, "She has brains," in the key of saying, "Too bad, the girl has brains."

"So's my old man," was Jennifer's usual retort, in the slang with which she hung her speech. She meant this. She admired her father from the distance that lay between them. She wanted his respect and, strangely enough, gave him precious little of hers.

The evening following his scene with Jenny regarding the coming of Gerkes, Rarick sent for his daughter.

In a house filled with the confusions, the comings, the goings, the ringing of telephones and the hurrying of servants that the two women, mother and daughter, managed to create about themselves, the occasions of family conference were seldom enough.

When the summons came for Jennifer to go to her father, in library, she was in the act of slapping about her rooms, with her own confused English maid and her mother's Breton maid hurrying at her heels, in an effort to help her toward a dinner engagement for which she was already 30 minutes late.

The fact of the matter was, she had remained shockingly overtime at a bridge game at the Mayfair, vainly trying to retrieve a several hundred dollar loss.

Jennifer was of that species of tormentor who, abusive of her servants, was none the less beloved by them because, quite contrite, she wooed them back by anointing their wounds with tips and gifts.

SUSPECT FLEES SHOTS; 2 HELD

Fleeing in a hail of bullets one of three alleged burglars who attempted to loot a confectionery store of George Simchacks, McKees Rocks, early today was being sought by police.

A man and a woman, the latter supposed to have been the "lookout," was captured singlehanded by Policeman Saul Roth, who frustrated the attempted burglary.

The man gave his name as Albert Wertheimer, 29, of 211 Goodrich avenue, North Side. The name of the woman has not been disclosed.

Roth believes a bullet struck the fleeing burglar and hospitals have been notified to be on the lookout for an injured man.

HILL 'TERROR' ONLY DUMMY

Center avenue police and homicide detectives were called out early today to investigate the finding of a "thing" with three faces, three arms and three legs in a coffin-like box in debris of a stable that burned down recently behind the Entress brickyard, Bedford avenue.

A small Nego boy, who found the box and peeped into it, fled to the police station and told the officers, but he refused to go back with them. Hundreds visited the place.

At first police said it was the mummy of a prehistoric animal. Later, with the arrival of Capt. John Schnurr, and Homicide Detectives James O'Kane and Robert Carroll, it was found to be a plaster of paris figure similar to the ones used in museums.

Searches Ashes Of Home for Lost $1,100

STOLEN CHECKS FOUND IN CAR

A bundle of checks, stolen from the Washington branch of A. L. Mars & Co., wholesale grocers of Penn avenue, were found yesterday in a gondola car on the Pennsylvania Railroad at West Homestead. The checks were found by J. C. Shook, brakeman, and turned over to the police department of the railroad.

The checks were stolen May 2, when about $500 was taken, A. L. Mars said. The checks totaled about $200.

PINCHOT ASKED TO AID INSANE

Governor Pinchot today had in his possession a telegram from City Council, requesting his approval of a bill to increase state aid to the indigent insane cared for by municipalities and counties.

The bill is sponsored by the County Hospital Association and Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the city Department of Public Welfare. It has passed both houses and awaits the Executive's approval or veto.

Providing an additional $1 weekly to the $2 given institutions by the state for indigent insane patients, the legislation would save the city at least $100,000 annually. The fund would apply to Mayview, where 3,400 patients are given help, Mrs. Rauh said. Council ordered the telegram sent after its meeting yesterday.

Teachers to Honor Retiring Official

C. Herman Grose, retiring superintendent of Ambridge district schools, will be given a testimonial dinner tonight by more than 200 teachers and members of the Board of Education in the Keystone Club. Grose will leave Ambridge to take a similar position in Mt. Lebanon.

John E. Hines, 58, Trafford City tinsmith, was found dead with a bullet wound in his head in his shop in Brinton avenue late yesterday, according to police, who said the wound was self-inflicted.

READY TO ACT IF SUSPECTS RETURN HERE

Philadelphia Files First Claim While New York May Hold Men in Robberies There

The district attorney's office today was preparing evidence against alleged bank bandits being held in New York. The evidence will be offered before the grand jury in an effort to indict the men in connection with the $52,000 holdup at the Manchester Savings and Trust Company.

Joseph Flynn, 26, and Sam Ruben, 38, identified by bankers as bandits who took part in the robbery, and two others, Robert Naples, 41, of San Francisco, and James Foley, 40, of Seattle, Wash., have been tentatively identified by employes of the bank, detectives said. The fifth suspect is Barney Niefield, of New York.

URGES TRIAL HERE

Doubt as to whether Pennsylvania would get the men for trial existed in New York where it was thought probable they would be tried for other robberies there. Philadelphia officials have begun extradition proceedings in attempt to bring the gang to trial there for the $37,000 Philadelphia City Bank robbery.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park said that indictments will be sought in event it becomes possible to bring the men here for trial. Park said:

"I believe they should be tried here, but there is no chance of more than one set of extradition papers being honored by the Governor of New York. Now that Philadelphia has started proceedings, there is nothing I can do until they are through, unless the prisoners waive extradition."

WOMEN AT HEARING

Arraigned in New York, the suspects were held without bail for a hearing Friday in connection with the theft of $31,000 from the Amsterdam branch of the Seward National Bank, New York. Watching the proceedings were three women, one said to be the wife of Foley, and the others Peggy Cotter and Kaye Shean, sweethearts of Flynn and Niefield.

New York detectives said the men are responsible for a series of bank holdups in which they obtained $150,000. The men continued to deny the charge, and insisted the money they spent in night clubs and at race tracks had been obtained in their operations as "society bootleggers."

Declares Store Not Damaged by Fire

I. Dinovitz, wholesale clothier, doing business at 820 Fifth avenue, was not affected by the fire which partially destroyed the clothing store of Harris Berman and his son, M. A. Berman, on the second floor, 820 Fifth avenue, Thursday, April 30, and resulted in their arrest, charged with arson, he said today. The Bermans were released under bail pending further investigation by arson and bomb squad detectives.

1,900 Utility Vets Honor 50-Year Service Men

William C. Sheldon, veteran employe of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, was presented with the Byllsby emblem, symbolic of 50 years' service, at the fourth annual banquet of the Veteran Employes' Association of the Philadelphia Company in McCreery's last night.

Mr. Sheldon

The dinner was attended by approximately 1,900 veterans whose service covers 20 years or longer. They came from all territories served by the Duquesne Light Company, the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Equitable Gas Company, many making the trip from Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

Among the speakers were E. W. Judy, vice president and general manager Duquesne Light Company; D. F. Shauer, vice president and general manager of the Equitable Gas Company, and Dr. William Montgomery McGovern, of Oxford. Thomas Fitzgerald, who acted as toastmaster, presented the emblems.

Survey Begun to Clear Playground of Debris

A survey was being made today by the Department of Public Works to determine cost of removing dirt from Monument Hill to fill in Charles street playground, against which complaints have been made to the Department of Health.

Councilman Harry A. Little introduced a resolution in yesterday's meeting directing action on the survey. Findings are to be speeded to permit work to start before the school vacations.

The playground, according to complaints, has been useless four years, although $20,000 was spent last year to improve it. Seventy-six men are now at work attempting to improve the ground, under a councilmanic appropriation of $5,000. The city paid $45,000 for the property in 1927.

A complaint told the Health Department that until a few weeks ago, the playground was used as a dumping ground.

SHORTS IN CAMP APPROVED FOR GIRL SCOUTS

New Style Hats Also Given Sanction, Regional Meet At New Castle Advised

By MARGARET RUSSELL
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 12.—Official sanction has been given to "shorts" as a part of the regulation Girl Scout uniform in camp, it was announced here at the twelfth annual conference of Region III, attended by 150 Girl Scout leaders from Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, Maryland and Washington, D. C.

Miss Schain

According to Mrs. Henry H. Flather, national board representative, this attire was agreed upon at the last meeting of the executive committee. She said:

Miss Josephine Schain, national director of Girl Scouts, spoke informally to delegates at a dinner at the New Castle Field Club last night. She said:

"When a city child goes to camp she meets all the magic of out-of-doors. She learns to cope with the elements and to find a friend in nature. Camping experiences become her most precious memories."

DISCUSSIONS SLATED

Today's program includes discussions of leaders' training, the national scout quota and troop committees. Delegates will be entertained at tea at the home of Mrs. J. C. McCready, New Wilmington, Pa.

COAL INDUSTRY RECOVERY SEEN

CINCINNATI, May 12.—(AP.)—Veterans of the coal mining industry, here for the eighth annual convention and exposition of the American Mining Congress, manufacturers' division, see a rosy future ahead for business in general if "the business interests of the country gather upon their courage and move straight ahead."

For the coal business itself, they expect a definite comeback, "like it always has in the past."

James F. Calbreath, Washington, secretary of the Mining Congress, said the country possesses all the resources to make a prosperous people.

THE PENALTY of GRAY HAIR

Gray hair—age—slipping. All these unpleasant ideas seem to go together. Yet it is not at all necessary. Gray Hair often comes to a young head and people who have it are neither old nor incapable. But now often you hear people say, "Why, she has gray hair!" and—she is on the shelf.

This penalty need no longer handicap the woman who uses Canute Water. This is a clear, spring-like water, of wonderful properties which actually restore hair to its original girlhood color. No complicated "color plan"; no danger of getting brunette shade when your hair is blonde. Not only the one kind but the one bottle is enough. It really is surprisingly what successful, youthifying results it gives.

Apply Canute Water yourself, in the privacy of your own home. Many women in town are doing the same thing; they simply do not mention it. You need not mention it either. Just buy a bottle from any good druggist—and get rid of the "age-penalty" in gray hair. Canute Water is so safe, so scientific and sure that your dealer knows it will satisfy you; if not, he will refund your money. Sold and recommended by Kaufmann's and all Mayflower Drug Stores or your own druggist. —The Canute Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

DANCER JAILED IN RADIO THEFT

Joseph E. Hines, 31, a former Pittsburgh marathon dancer who claims he was once a major in the United States Army, was sentenced to 13 years in Allegheny County Workhouse after he pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge George V. Moore in Criminal Court. He pleaded guilty to 11 charges of false pretense, two of larceny and two of passing worthless checks.

The false pretense and larceny charges grew out of Hines' practice of going to homes where radio sets had recently been installed, announcing that he was from the store where the set had been sold and that he had come to take it back for a test. Receiving the instrument, he would take it to his home and sell it.

CITY TAKES UP HERRS ISLAND BRIDGE PLEA

Council Considers Request For $205,000 Structure To Replace Weakened Span Expenditure of $205,000 for rebuilding of the old bridge to Herrs Island over the back channel of the Allegheny River was to occupy city Council's attention today.

Should Council act favorably on the plan suggested by the Public Works Department, the new span will replace an old bridge erected by the City of Allegheny in 1893.

A communication from the department said traffic to the island was being slowed up by the weakened condition of the bridge and that if something was not done soon, the bridge would have to be closed. A speed limit of six miles per hour is now being enforced.

Meanwhile, a suit filed two years ago is still pending in court to determine responsibility of maintenance of the old bridge. An opinion to discover whether the city or the Pennsylvania Railroad is responsible is wanted, the department said.

Has Perfect Bridge Hand, Loses Bid

TACOMA, Wash., May 11.—(AP.)—Miss Gilda Holgerson, a school teacher, held 13 spades in a bridge hand last evening, but failed to get the bid. Robert Baker, of Auburn, Wash., where the game was played, bid seven no-trumps and made it.

Orders Picked From Air Guide Police in Autos as Clark Inaugurates New Service

Three of the recently acquired radio-equipped police cruising cars were in operation today, With Public Safety Director James M. Clark and Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh at the microphone in Mt. Washington Police Station yesterday, giving orders to the cruising cars, the system was officially inaugurated.

The first message broadcast to the cars cruising in the downtown, North Side, and East End sections, was for the apprehension of an escaped convict from the Rockview Penitentiary.

The second broadcast was for a car stolen from a North Side garage. Four hours later No. 3 car, operating in the North Side district, found the auto abandoned. The East End cruiser also reported finding a stolen auto.

As fast as the other cars are completed they will be put into service until the entire 29 cars are operating.

LEGAL ADVICE AWAITED ON VOIDED METER CONTRACT

READVERTISING OF BIDS URGED BY KERR

Dunlap Uncertain Whether To Ask New Offers or Give Work to Low Firm

Director of Supplies W. R. Dunlap today was awaiting an opinion by the city Law Department on procedure in connection with the contract for water meters, award of which to the high bidder was voided by the state Supreme Court yesterday in reversing a decision of the Allegheny County Court. Dunlap said:

"The question is whether the city contracts should go to the low bidder or whether they should be readvertised."

A ruling handed down by the higher court held void the contracts for purchase, installation and repair of water meters awarded by former Supplies Director Bertram L. Succop to the Pittsburgh Equitable Water Meter Company, a high bidder. Objections were filed by the Neptune Water Meter Company. Judge James B. Drew held for the local company but his action was overruled yesterday.

The contract aggregates $42,000.

Engineer James H. Kennon, of the Bureau of Water, said today some meters already had been purchased from the Equitable company because of Judge Drew's decision.

Controller James P. Kerr said it appeared the only thing the city could do was readvertise.

ARMED BANDITS ROB TWO GAS STATIONS

Escape With Money After Holdups in East End And North Side Depots

Search was being made today for two bandits who held up the Cities Service Company gasoline station at 3500 East street, and looted the cash register of $65 last night.

John Walsh, of 7702 Tioga street, manager of the station, was alone in the place when the armed pair entered.

Three armed men escaped with $30 from the cash register of the Sunoco gasoline station at 7501 Penn avenue, after forcing attendants to turn over the keys of the place to them, according to a police report.

C. Cohen complained to detectives that an electric saw, worth $150, was taken from his automobile while the car was parked at Center avenue and Roberts street.

PUMPER VOTED IN SHARPSBURG

Sharpsburg Council last night voted to purchase a $12,000 fire truck pumper, capable of delivering 750 gallons of water a minute. The vote brought an end to a controversy which resulted in two petitions, one for and the other against the proposal, being presented to Council.

Those opposed to the purchase contended the need for the apparatus did not justify the outlay. The chief argument in favor of the purchase, the possibility of a freight train delaying the one pumper now owned by the borough, prevailed.

Several councilmen pointed out that lack of proper equipment several years ago cost the borough school district $150,000 in the destruction of a school building. The members voted five to one for the purchase.

WOMAN INJURED IN CRASH DIES

A fractured skull, received late yesterday in an automobile accident, caused the death early today of Mrs. Anna A. Gardner, 72, of 7365 Hamilton avenue, according to a coroner's report.

Mrs. Gardner was taken to the South Side Hospital after the machine, in which she was riding with her daughter, Mrs. Ella Fox, also of the Hamilton avenue address, skidded into an iron pole on Carson street between the Smithfield Street and Point bridges.

Mrs. Gardner was raised in the old Allegheny Arsenal, where her father was the sergeant. Besides her daughter, she leaves two grandchildren and two brothers, John and Thomas William. Funeral services will be held Thursday from the home, with burial in Allegheny Cemetery.

Burke to Fight Ohio Extradition

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., May 12.—(AP.)—Attorney Charles W. Gore, counsel for Fred Burke, revealed yesterday that he would resist efforts of Ohio authorities to extradite his client to stand trial in Toledo for murder. Gore, who said he expected to confer this week with Burke in Michigan branch prison at Marquette, contends Burke cannot legally be extradited unless he is unconditionally paroled from the Michigan prison.

Avalon Pair Safe Home After Braving Perils of Revolt, Shipwreck

After almost a year abroad, during which time they encountered the revolution in Argentina and were shipwrecked in the Mediterranean Sea, Mr. and Mrs. John Canetta are today in their home at 134 Prospect avenue, Avalon. Mrs. Canetta was formerly Miss Nancy Walter, of Avalon.

Canetta, a mechanical engineer for Westinghouse Air Brake Company, and his wife had gone to Buenos Aires in connection with the construction of the Lacroze subways being installed there. The revolution had been taking place throughout the city, and citizens had been warned to stay clear of the streets.

Mrs. Canetta tells of having been roused from an afternoon nap by the patter of bullets on the tin shutters of their room, in the Plaza Congresso. Her husband, at work at the time, was expected home soon, and she tells of having crept to the windows, expecting to see him shot down in the street. He escaped injury, however, and the Canettas remained in the city until the finish of the subway project.

They sailed from Buenos Aires aboard the Florida, which, when a few days out on the Mediterranean, was rammed by the English warship Glorius, then in battle practice on the sea. Thirty-four persons were killed in the crash, but again the Canettas escaped injury. All remaining passengers were transferred to the Glorius, which was towed, stern foremost, to Malaga, Spain, where they left the ship. They traveled through Europe and into England, where they boarded a liner for the United States.

Mrs. Canetta said:

"The most exciting work I expect to do for the next few weeks is to compile the pictures we took into an album. There is so much to remember from this trip. I don't believe we will start on another of its kind very soon."

A risk no woman should take health risk in ill-made substitutes for Kotex

NO woman should deliberately risk health by using a sanitary pad of doubtful hygienic value. Yet that is what you do, if you accept a substitute because it merely looks like Kotex.®

You should ask how this substitute was made. Where? By whom? Would a hospital use it?

Trust no pad that cannot answer these questions to your entire satisfaction. Every woman, at these times, needs the purity of Kotex. Its absolute immaculacy. Kotex is made with hospital care. Its use in hospitals proves that. This assurance is worth everything to you—far more than the few pennies you may save by accepting a substitute of whose makers you know nothing.

Kotex is adjustable. Soft. May be worn on either side with safety.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Mary Caroline Schoyer To Make Her Bow to Society June 24

Just a few more weeks and our little season will be with us again, one of the most charming times of the year. And I've just heard of another date taken for this season.

The William E. Schoyers, of Dunmoyle street, will present their daughter, Mary Caroline, whom everyone knows as Polly, on Wednesday, June 24, at a tea in the family home.

In the fall Polly will return to Radcliffe College, where she's now studying. And with the exception of the little season her debutante days will be limited to vacations.

To Give Plays

Just everybody in the social world interested in the theater will go to the Twentieth Century Club tonight to see the final program of the Stage and Play Society for the season.

And a supper at the Pittsburgh Golf Club will follow, and election of officers for the coming seasan. I might add that before the performance tonight there'll be one of those popular dinner-dances at the Twentieth Century Club.

The plays to be given this evening are Maurice Baring's "Alexander's Horse," Percival Wilde's "What Never Dies," and Sir James Matthew Barrie's "Half an Hour."

Just a little different was the program presented yesterday before the Homestead Woman's Club. A musical sketch of Romany, arranged and composed by Mrs. H. D. Everett was presented by her and Mrs. W. B. Hartley, with Mrs. R. R. McWhinney accompanying. In keeping with the gypsy atmosphere of the sketch, Mrs. Edwin Omans read a paper on Conrad Berkovici, Rumanian author, who was adopted by the gypsies.

The Alcoma Country Club has been chosen as the place for the annual luncheon of the Homewood Women's Club. The annual business meeting wound up club affairs yesterday when the nominating committee's ticket headed by Mrs. Garnet E. Cooper was elected in its entirety. Mrs. Elmer Deem, historian, reported that the club's history for the last 20 years has been compiled by means of clippings and pictures. Miss Dorothy Conn, reporting for the juniors, told of the splendid work being done by the younger club women, which includes funds for Braille work and for a needy family's milk supply.

For the benefit of the scholarship fund a luncheon and card party will be held by the club on June 10 at the home of Mrs. R. H. M. McKenzie, South Graham street, and the last all-day sewing for the blind is announced for Wednesday, May 20.

There was a goodly turnout of members at the mortgage fund tea given yesterday at the Congress of Clubs for those women who have contributed to the fund in honor of the retiring president, Mrs. R. W. Johnston. The affair was entirely informal and was without receiving line or program. There was music, however, continuous throughout the afternoon, by a string trio of Carnegie Tech students. Mrs. T. M. Stahlman and Mrs. George J. Campbell presided at the beautifully decorated tea table.

DESIGNERS PRESENT NEWEST VOGUE IN SPORTS CLOTHES

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, May 12.—Sweet simplicity — the sartorial variety of course—comes high, but it certainly is attractive. The new sports frocks worn so often by women who don't know a tennis racquet from putter are devastatingly attractive and equally expensive. But, as they give that trim, dashing elegance that is often so difficult to achieve, most of us will overlook that item and buy several models. Clever handwork is the principal theme of ornamentation, and it is no doubt these touches that give the frock the right to call itself exclusive even if it is a mere sports model. For it is only during the last few years that the designers here have taken cognizance of sports clothes, as they concentrated only on regular street clothes when it came to anything but formal wear. But sport and outdoor life has become the mode and so the mode must be obeyed. The sports clothes of a few seasons ago, skimpy and short, were not at all attractive, but the new models retain their practical appeal, coupled with charm and chic.

THE DRAWING TODAY groups two very attractive outdoor costumes done in the new manner. The sports frock to the left is by Louiseboulanger and is one of the gems of her new summer collection. It is of heavy white crepe de chine and has double hemstitching worked on the bodice and skirt. As red with white is such a popular summer color alliance, the cuffs, collars and double tabs on the blouse are bound with bright red crepe.

THE FIGURE to the right is wearing a smart but simple summer ensemble by Augustabernard. The sleeveless frock and jacket are of natural shantung and are trimmed with white handkerchief linen. The deep flounce which forms the lower half of the skirt is closely laid in side pleats about one and a half inches in width.

Summer Blouses
5 for 2 cents!

WHAT adorable blouses! But supposing you wash them with ordinary soap and—

well, then, you'll have to spend money for new ones!

But if you wash them in Lux, they'll still look brand new. Won't fade or shrink or grow yellow or sleazy (Lux is made to prevent all these things).

And just a tiny fraction of a box of Lux (2¢ worth, to be exact) will wash 5 of these fetching blouses. 5 for 2¢! Like getting new blouses for this wee bit of Lux!

STUDY CAR LINE FOR HIGHWAY

The County Commissioners today instructed engineers to survey the roadbed of the Pittsburgh, Mars and Butler "Short Line," interurban railway on which service has been suspended, to see if certain sections of it can be used for county highways.

Commissioner McGovern, who made the motion for the survey, said:

"The railways company built a nice roadbed which was expensive when it was put down and we might get short cuts on it for our roads to thickly populated districts.

"We build highways costing $75,000 a mile which the company monopolizes with its buses. Maybe it will concede something to the county in transferring its right of way."

The motion was made after Maurice R. Scharff, receiver for the Short Line, informed County Commissioners his company could no longer maintain a bridge where the tracks cross a main highway near Butler.

Patient Attacks Two Policemen

Investigating a riot call today, Lieut. John Murphy, of Center avenue, and Wagonman David Wolson, of Central Police Station, were attacked by John Winkler, 29, of Fifth avenue, in Passavant Hospital. Neither was injured seriously.

Winkler had been taken to Passavant Hospital for treatment for injuries received during a fight with John Chiou, 45, a chef, at a grill, 728 Fifth avenue. Both were held for further investigation.

DR. MACARTNEY CLASS SPEAKER

The Rev. Dr. Clarence Edward Macartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, in an address at a memorial service held during commencement exercises of Westminster Theological Seminary, at Philadelphia, today, said:

"Nothing is more amazing in the recent history of the Christian church than the defection of a large portion of the Protestant church and its swing away from faith in the authority of the Scriptures. The Protestant church once proudly proclaimed itself the defender of the Scriptures, and in the great crisis of the Reformation, appealed to the Scriptures as the supreme authority. Today it must be evident to all that there has been a complete change of front."

Robbery Suspect Held to Face Trial

Accused of having robbed the Standard Oil Company filling station at Putnam and Hamilton avenues, March 2, William Hall, 48, of 7500 Frankstown avenue, today was held for court at Central Police Court on a charge of robbery and carrying concealed weapons. Hall was accused by police of having robbed Frank Ellis, station attendant, of $11. He denied the charge.

Polish-Czech Trade Pact Moves Delayed

WARSAW, May 12.—(AP.)—A respite in negotiations between Poland and Czechoslovakia to extend their commercial treaty has been declared until after the League of Nations Council meeting in Geneva. The visiting delegation has started for Prague.

The discussions have not been made public, but it is believed they represent a phase of a counter-movement against the proposed Austro-German customs union.

Army Masses Men For Air Maneuvers

DAYTON, O., May 12.—(AP.)—Army Air Corps officers who will direct 672 army planes in the greatest maneuver demonstration ever held in this country began arriving today. They will direct preliminary training of 400 enlisted men and more than 700 subordinate officers for the final takeoff, May 22, of the planes for New York and for maneuvers in the East.

Casting Club Asks Platform in Park

The Pittsburgh Casting Club, through Public Works Director Lang, today asked Council to rebuild the fly casting platform at Lake Carnegie, Highland Park. The platform was torn down when work was started on erection of a bathhouse and swimming pool there. Estimated cost of the platform is $3,000.

Lang said the club members told him there was sufficient space in the lake, despite the new pool, for casting.

A SAFE DENTIFRICE
for children

ABOVE ALL, you should choose a dentifrice for your child which will not irritate the gums or harm the teeth. Squibb Dental Cream contains no grit, no astringent—nothing which might injure. It is safe.

Dentists also agree that a dentifrice like Squibb's is the most effective type. Read the following summary of the replies received from an investigation made by a prominent research institution among 50,000 practicing dentists:

95% of the answers stated that germ acids most frequently cause tooth decay and gum irritation;

95% agreed that the most serious trouble occurs at the place where teeth and gums meet;

85% stated that the best product to prevent these acids from causing decay and irritating the gums is Milk of Magnesia.

Isn't this convincing evidence that Squibb Dental Cream will protect your teeth and gums? It is made with more than 50 per cent Squibb Milk of Magnesia.

SOVIET CURBS CARD RATION SYSTEM

Workers Must Get Orders From Unions or Factories To Buy Clothing or Shoes

MOSCOW, May 12.—(AP.)—Premier Molatov and Joseph Stalin, head of the Communist party, issued a joint decree today abolishing the card ration system for practically all commodities except food, fuel and certain building materials.

This system has been in operation more than a year. Due to a purported scarcity of commodities workers were required to obtain orders from their unions or factories to purchase shoes, clothes and other necessities from government co-operative stores.

The scheme was described in the decree of having caused a growth of bureaucracy, an accumulation of large quantities of goods, maldistribution of products and an artificial shortage.

The government's move is visualized as killing two birds with one stone—gathering in excess rubles for purposes of currency deflation and immensely popularizing the Soviet regime.

Russ Term Stimson Claim Of Forced Peace 'Farce'

MOSCOW, May 12.—(AP.)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's statement that the United States forced the Soviet government to withdraw its forces from Manchuria in 1929 by marshaling the world's opinion behind the Kellogg-Briand pact was described in the Moscow press today as "farcicial and humorous."

Commenting on the American official's recent radio address on the foreign policy of the United States, newspapers said it added proof to their charges that "the American bourgeoisie is back of a Russian intervention plot."

Jeweler Held Up Loses $2,000 Gems

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 12.—(INS.)—Two young bandits today held up and robbed Ludwig Kuhl, Central City jeweler, of diamonds and wrist watches valued at $2,000, and escaped in a downtown throng before Kuhl could give an alarm.

Detour Set During Repairs to Bridge

During repairs to the Stoystown Bridge, at Stoystown, a detour on Lincoln highway was announced today by the State Department of Highways. Traffic will be routed over 4,000 feet of earth road in good condition. The detour will continue about 10 days.

SCIENCE DISCARDS ORANGE-SQUEEZING AS OLD-FASHIONED

With the introduction of "National Dairy" Orange Juice, the tedious job of squeezing oranges every morning is now unnecessary!

"National Dairy" Orange Juice is delivered at the doorstep by the milkman. It is pure, tree-ripe orange juice—just as it is squeezed at the groves, right in the orange country. Nothing is added. Nothing is removed.

Frozen under vacuum 4½ minutes after it is squeezed, "National Dairy" Orange Juice is flavored with the goodness that only sun-ripening can give fruit. It is rich in minerals and Vitamin C, a health-essential recommended by all authorities.

A customer writes: "There are six in our family and it used to be quite a job squeezing orange juice for all of them every morning. It is no longer necessary, and besides, they like the ripe flavor of 'National Dairy' Orange Juice better."

Just melt the icy-orange cylinder that is delivered at your doorstep. Then taste delicious orange juice at the height of its flavor! 15 ounces sell for 20 cents; 7 ounces, 11 cents.

Elks Oust Man Who Caused Rum Raid

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 12.—(AP.)—Daniel Powers, past exalted ruler of the Jersey City Elks Lodge, No. 211, was ordered expelled from the order last night. The expulsion was announced by Secretary William Culver after a trial forum heard charges.

Powers was tried on charges that followed a raid on the Elks club bar by county officials a few weeks ago. Powers filed the complaint which caused the raid. He said he did it "for the welfare of the order."

COLLEGE REBEL WAR GROWS

TIFFIN, O., May 12.—(AP.)—The "uprising" of Heidelberg College students because of the trustees' failure to reappoint Dr. Newell Sawyer, instructor of English, will be taken up at a meeting of the student council tonight.

Meanwhile the "rebellion" against the administration of President Charles E. Miller grew as a part of the student body protested against the bans on dancing, smoking and card playing on the campus and Ye Ponie Railer, suppressed student humor publication, was revived. Last night janitors went about with gasoline cleaning sidewalks of signs: "The war is on" and "We want Miller out."

CINCINNATI, O., May 12.—(AP.)—Minority members of the Board of Education at Reading, a suburb, are expected to call a special meeting late this week to reconsider the choice of superintendent as a result of a parade of students last night as a protest against the ousting of Chester N. Murphy, principal.

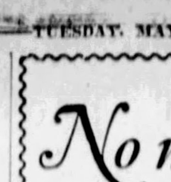
No more bathtub ring

BY MARY LEE WORK

How to remove it without rubbing—scrubbing—scouring

An easy way to conquer this and 2 other hard jobs



Would you like to know how to get bathtub rings out of the bathtub without having to go through the drudgery of scrubbing and scouring?

Today, I am going to tell you how to do this ... and to make 2 other hard jobs easier ... how to cut dishwashing time in half; how to avoid faded, gray-looking washings.

To do this, you use a preparation called Climalene that you can get for 10c a package at any grocery store

Thousands of women are using it and taking the time it saves them to shop, go to the movies, and otherwise enjoy themselves.

It makes it possible for you to do all your own work, and still have lovely hands. For it is made from the same elements as costly Bath Salts and thus really acts as a beautifying agent to the hands.

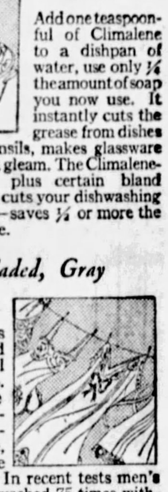
Banish Bathtub Ring

Add a tablespoonful of Climalene to your bath water. It makes the water soft as summer rain. Soap makes a quick, rich lather. After the bath—just rinse the tub. That is all. There just isn't any "high-water" mark. No scrubbing—no rubbing.

To Make Dishes Sparkle Like Jewels

Add one teaspoonful of Climalene to a dishpan of water, use only ¼ the amount of soap you now use. It instantly cuts the grease from dishes and cooking utensils, makes glassware sparkle and china gleam. The Climalene-softened water, plus certain bland cleansing agents, cuts your dishwashing time ⅓ or more—saves ¼ or more the soap you now use.

To Avoid Faded, Gray Washings



Use 2 tablespoons of Climalene, and ¼ the usual amount of soap. Clothes emerge soft, spotless, utterly without fading. For soap fade, and soap eat are ended this way. In recent tests men's blue shirts were washed 75 times without noticeable fade; sheerest French hosiery 100 times or more—to prove the blandness of this way.

Why It Cleans

Climalene instantly takes all the harshness out of Lake water, medium hard water, and hard water. Makes it soft and gentle as rain water. So soft it does the work with ¼ the soap you use now. At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all grease, dirt and grime, and thus cuts your working time ⅓ or more, in washing, cleaning and in the dishpan.

CHAMBER SIFTS TRADE PLAN

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce is considering the feasibility of taking part in a statewide industrial promotion movement in an effort to spur local development and advance Pennsylvania's position as a manufacturing center, according to A. S. Keller, industrial manager of the chamber.

Keller left Pittsburgh last night for Harrisburg to attend the first meeting of the State Industrial Planning Committee which was to be held today under the auspices of the state chamber.

In the event of the local chamber joining the movement, industrial expansion work already under way here would be continued, Keller said. At the present time he is negotiating with a New Jersey plant employing 500 to locate in the Pittsburgh district.

BUILDING STEEL JOB AWARDED

The McClintic-Marshall Company has been awarded a contract for 3,500 tons of steel to be used in erection of the new Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, Fifth and Bellefield avenues.

It is said to be one of the largest "beam and column" orders to be placed here for some time. Foundation work on the new building is almost completed and erection of the new steel superstructure will begin soon.

Tech Grad Awarded Coffin Fellowship

James P. Fugassi, of 519 Larimer avenue, is one of nine persons to be awarded a fellowship by the Charles A. Coffin Foundation, it was announced today. The fellowship will enable Fugassi to carry on post-graduate research work at the University of Wisconsin, in the field of physical chemistry. He is the son of James I. Fugassi and is a graduate of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

TELL IT TO SALLY

Don't Become a Slave to A Broken Heart

Have we a right to grieve?

Is prolonged grief . . . grief that makes us helpless, useless . . . grief that makes us abandon every other duty and tie . . . sacred and beautiful?

Should we pity those in the grip of such a grief? Should we relieve them of all responsibility and forgive them for unkindness and neglect?

Strange, sad questions — but all of us must ask them sooner or later. This "Heart Broken Mother" is asking them now. And she plainly feels that we should answer them in the affirmative.

Pathetic Letter

"My dear Sally Martin:

"I have come to you for help. I should say for consolation. I have just lost a most wonderful treasure . . . my little baby boy, 13 months old. The sweetest and dearest thing God ever put in this world. But God snatched him from me, and left me with a broken heart. I had 13 months of bliss with my darling, and I gave him the best of care.

"I know that you have gone through the same trying time I am to start now. I'm heart-broken, for I loved him so. I cannot reproach myself for treatment I failed to give him. . . . But I am tortured when I think I shall never again have him. It is agony.

"My baby died of septicemia after an illness of two weeks. The doctors do not know how he acquired it, but I do feel that if certain things had been done for him, he might be alive today. The poor dear suffered so at the end that my heart breaks to think that a helpless little thing who never hurt a soul, and who gave pleasure to all, should have gone through it. At least an older child could have spoken of its hurts.

Seeks Advice

"I have another child, a girl, six years of age, and everyone tells me that I must live for her, and my husband. But with the grief that I can't help but show, I feel that I'm not very much use to them. I want to admit to you that my thoughts have gone to suicide, but the future of my girl seems to be on my mind. I just can't stand it much longer. I know that all this carrying on will not bring my darling back, but I don't know what to do. People say that time is a good healer, but I say that, until that time passes, I don't know what will happen to me.

"Friends tell me of countless other tragedies, far worse than my own, but that doesn't console me. I feel for all of them. Dear Sally Martin, could you please give me some sort of advice about what I could do, and so ease suffering?

"HEART BROKEN MOTHER."

There's the letter . . . pitiful words which most of us must utter, some day, out of the depths of our despair. Neither you nor I have any right to try to answer that cry unless we've known tragedy ourselves. For, unless we too have suffered, we can't possibly understand how this woman is suffering.

The picture she has given you is true. She is facing the greatest desolation that can fall on a woman's soul. She has not merely "lost someone she loved" . . . she has lost someone who was a part of her, and part of her being is actually in a death struggle. She doesn't want to live for others any more! She doesn't even want to live for herself. She wants to die.

But has she any right to let herself die?

Is even the greatest grief an excuse for deserting life?

Despised by Society

That longing to escape from life comes in many forms, and we find many answers. The drunkard, the drug addict, the gambler, find their escape from life in liquor, in morphine, in cards and dice. Many a one whom you consider "insane" is escaping from life in clouded dreams. They suffered greatly from life before they ran away from it—these poor wretches. But do you respect them for running away? Do you consider their cowardice "sacred"?

No. You don't. You despise them. You feel that they should face life squarely like brave men, no matter how bitter its experience. And that's the right and healthy way to feel. If men didn't feel that way about human conduct, life could never go on. The race would have ended with the original pair of cry-babies.

And the law that applies to the drunkard and drug addict applies just as truly to the heart-broken mother.

We have no right to run away from life. No grief is sacred that makes deserters of us.

Don't pity the broken hearted. That's the worst thing you can do to them. Challenge them rather to show their courage . . . to stick by their bargain with life.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Facts About Undulant Fever

Much information, as well as misinformation, has been spread abroad concerning undulant fever. Though not new, this disease has recently aroused world-wide interest.

Dr. Copeland

During 1926 only 46 cases were reported in the United States. The number of cases increased so that in 1929 there were 1,301 cases. In 1931 every State in the Union reported cases of undulant fever.

The exact figures are unquestionably higher than here given. It is probable many mild cases go unrecognized. Further, the disease so closely resembles typhoid fever that undoubtedly many cases of undulant fever have been reported as typhoid.

This disease was first believed to be traceable to the flesh of diseased goats and to goat milk. Subsequently, cases were reported in sections of the country where there are no goats. It was then discovered that this disease could be caused by diseased hogs and cattle, as well as goats. Contamination could be brought about by direct contact with these animals or by consumption of various raw milk products.

It has been most frequently found in localities where such milk products are consumed. Raw milk from certain diseased cows invariably produced undulant fever. Where the milk was pasteurized, no ill effects were seen.

The germ causing this disease is called the "brucella abortus." The first symptoms resemble those of a slight cold. Then chills, fever and sweats occur. There are loss of appetite and loss of weight.

The disease may be slight and last for a few days. In another form there is a daily afternoon temperature, with nightly chills and drenching perspiration.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to the purity of the milk or milk products that you are using, get in touch with your local health officer. He will be glad to give you the necessary advice.

Happy Marriages Some Women Brag About Mostly Showmanship—Fay King

By FAY KING

The previous great "popularity" and unusually "happy marriages" some women are always bragging about seem to me nothing to sigh over and envy.

It is mostly a matter of showmanship.

In fact their methods remind me pretty much of the acts one sees at the circus.

Before marriage it reminds me of the trained seals. As impartially as the trainer tosses a fish, these women have tossed smiles of encouragement to every man they met and the reward was attention and entertainment.

After marriage it reminds me of a lion act.

Though their husbands be as ordinary as a house cat, with the usual exaggeration of circus showmanship they make the world think he is some great, grand lion only they could capture and manage.

Dicky's Temper Flares as Tree Is Being Trimmed

As Junior made the comment that when he was big enough to trim the Christmas tree there wouldn't be anybody to surprise with it there was such startled realization in his voice, such wistlessness—or so I fancied—as well, that there was a sudden lump in my throat. I was conscious also that my cheeks were scarlet, although Catherine was the only one besides my small nephew Roderick who had heard my young son's plaint. Glad indeed was I that the next instant he forgot all about the thought that had come to him and asked:

"What's the most Christmassy thing in the world you said we could do?"

"Come with me," I said, knowing the effect of waiting upon child psychology and taking one of them by each hand I took them to the library where my father was reading.

"Father, dear," I said smiling, "are you in a story-telling and reading mood?"

He looked at the two small boys and smiled at them and at me.

"Always, my dear, when Junior and his friends want a story."

My small son began to jump up and down.

"Oh, I know what it is now," he said. "It's the Christmas Carol, Grandpa's going to tell it to us."

"What's the Christmas Carol?" Roderick wanted to know, and Junior registered horrified astonishment.

"Don't you know about Tiny Tim and Old Scrooge?"

"Oh, they read something about it in school," Roderick said in a bored voice, "but I couldn't find out what it was all about."

"But you didn't have Grandpa tell it to you," Junior said confidently and I gestured to the big couch near which my father sat beneath the reading lamp.

"Suppose you curl up here, each in a corner," I said, "and listen. Perhaps Grandpa will read you little bits now that you're older and tell the parts that have the big words in them."

"That's what I had planned to do this year," my father said. "I've been thinking that Junior is old enough to appreciate some of the Dickensian phraseology.

"And because you've been such good boys," I continued, "I'm going to let you have a few pieces of the Christmas candy as an extra dessert. But you must promise not to get yourselves or the couch sticky."

"Oh, sure we won't," they chorused and then Roderick said explosively, stressing the verb.

"Gee. This is Christmas."

"I brought them the candy with a big napkin apiece, and my father began to read to them while I slipped away with a little ache in my heart for Roderick. I wished it were possible for me to take the little lad and rear him with Junior. Both boys needed companionship. But even if I had dared to assume the responsibility, I knew that Harriet and Edwin would resent any attempt to take the boy away from their home.

I went back to the living room, where I found Dicky perched upon a stepladder attaching the strings of colored electric bulbs to the tree, while Henry and William stood below obeying the short, quick commands he shot at them from time to time. I always make it a point to keep out of the way while this particular job is going on for something invariably goes wrong with the lights. Dicky as invariably loses his temper, but finally everything always comes right. I skirted the tree gingerly therefore but Dicky saw me and called out an irritable:

"Isn't there a doo dab that goes on top here while I'm up here?"

"Yes, the Star of Bethlehem," I answered, "but we have it outlined in colored bulbs this year. Didn't you get that one?"

"I didn't get that string or I'd be holding it in my lily-white hands right now," he retorted crossly, and curiously enough, my heart gave a little throb of happy relief. If he were seriously aggrieved about the Veritzen roses he would have been icily polite. His unreasoning irritation at petty things made me realize that he was his usual self and I rejoiced in the knowledge.

"I'll try to find it for you," I said meekly and turning pretended to make an exhaustive search. I had seen the missing string right behind Dicky, but I knew that if I found it at once, with the inevitable implication that he could have seen it if he had looked, it would only feed his irritation.

"No wonder you couldn't find it," I said at last, "It was under a lot of these boxes. Here it is."

"If that isn't like you," Dicky retorted, "piling a lot of boxes on the most necessary thing of the lot." And Hank exploded.

"She didn't do any such thing."

Household Hints

To prevent bottles of medicine, ink, etc., from leaking, when traveling, cork them rather loosely and dip the tops in melted paraffin. Or, draw a finger from an old glove over the cork and neck of the bottle and tie with cord.

Here is a good frosting for glass, which may be used on windows, electric light bulbs, auto headlights, etc. Dissolve three teaspoonsful of Epsom salts in a glass of water; add a teaspoon of liquid glue, stirring thoroughly; apply to glass with a brush. If greater opacity is desired, use more of the salts and less of the water accordingly.

A steamer, with two or three compartments, will greatly reduce the gas bill. With this sort of vessel all the vegetables for a meal may be prepared over one burner instead of three with the same satisfactory results. And, if all three compartments are not required for one meal, beets may be cooked for pickling or eggs boiled for the next day's luncheon.

Correct Manners

Invitation to the Son's Graduation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Our boy is to graduate from high school very soon and we are wondering how many, or rather to whom we should send announcements. He thinks perhaps some might think he is hinting for a gift.

2. Should the aunts and uncles be included as well, of course, as the grandparents?

3. We have also had an argument as to whether you introduce a lady to a man or vice versa. Please tell us.

MRS. B.

1. This depends on the wishes of the family. Usually invitations are sent to relatives and close friends.

2. Yes.

3. A man is introduced to a woman.

The Five O'Clock Church Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been invited by formal invitation to a wedding and reception. The ceremony is to take place at 5 in the afternoon at the church. The reception is at a nearby restaurant. I claim that the ladies should wear formal afternoon frocks and the so-called "dressy" coats and hats. The gentlemen should be attired in plan dark suits. My friend, on the other hand, holds that formel evening clothes should be worn. In either case the ladies must wear hats or coverings of some sort while in church.

Will you kindly solve our problem? R. A.

BUCS, ROBINS IDLE TODAY

Sport Comment

By JAMES J. LONG

Dazzy's Streak Broken. • Cub Shakeup Denied.
Meine in Fine Stride. • Herrera Wins Praise.

FIRST WIN OVER VANCE SINCE 1927

IN GIVING ANOTHER of his brilliant spring pitching exhibitions in Brooklyn yesterday, Heinie Meine did more than hurl the Pirates to their second straight victory on the eastern trip. By beating Dazzy Vance he broke up one of the longest runs of slab successes that any pitcher in the major leagues has enjoyed in recent seasons at the expense of one particular club. It was the first time in almost four years that the Pittsburgh club succeeded in winning a game from the Brooklyn star.

Dazzy Vance

You have to go back to the season of Father Pitt's latest pennant winners and to the days when Donie Bush was manager and Vic Aldridge was a member of the local mound staff to find the last previous occasion on which the Pirates defeated Vance. Until yesterday the Bucs had not won a decision over the Dazzler since July 27, 1927, when Aldridge held the Robins to five hits and vanquished the speed ace by a score of 2 to 1 in a hard-fought flinging duel at Forbes Field.

IN THE MEANTIME, Vance downed the Rovers nine times in a row, as follows: 1927—September 19, 3 to 0, against Hill, allowing only one hit. 1928—July 22, 5 to 0, against Grimes, and August 15, 6 to 5, against Fussell. 1929—August 10, 6 to 3, against Meine, and September 8, 2 to 1, against French. 1930—May 11, 10 to 2, against French; July 14, 12 to 8, against Spencer; August 7, 6 to 4, against Spencer, and August 17, 5 to 0, against French.

As will be seen, Dazzy's victories included three shutouts, a game in which the Bucs got only one run, another in which they got but two runs, and another in which they were held to three tallies, a total of only six runs in six of the nine tilts. At that Vance fell one game short of equaling the record made against Pittsburgh by Red Lucas, of Cincinnati, who trimmed the Corsairs 10 times in succession before they stopped him—the last three games he pitched against them in 1927, four in 1928 and the first three in 1929.

THE SUCCESS OF the Pirates in grabbing the first two games in Brooklyn was a most encouraging start on the eastern trip after a string of four consecutive defeats. The Bucs have a peculiar record in that they won the majority of their games on the road up to today, eight out of 15, while losing the majority at home, five out of eight.

French and Meine turned in a couple of flossy hill performances in spilling the Robins twice. In the two games they yielded only three runs and 13 hits to an offensive that is reckoned the most powerful in the National League.

MEINE'S SPLENDID PITCHING yesterday was a pleasing continuance of the fine form he has been showing since the latter part of April. He has won three of his last four games in impressive fashion, and would have made it four straight with any kind of luck in the argument with the Cardinals that went 13 innings. Another encouraging development yesterday was that two of the hitters who had not been delivering, Adam Comorosky and George Grantham, showed signs of coming out of their slumps in making five of the club's 10 blows. Both had been below par for some time, Comorosky in particular. Until he singled in the fourth inning yesterday for the first of his three safeties, Commy had gone to bat 15 consecutive times without making a hit.

Rogers Hornsby

QUOTED IN DISPATCHES from New York as having said he would immediately bench Hack Wilson, Gabby Hartnett and Charley Grimm because they were not hitting, Manager Rogers Hornsby, of the Cubs, headed off a series of fan explosions in Chicago by denying that he planned any such move.

Not infrequently an individual star is taken out of a lineup temporarily for the purpose of trying the rest cure for a batting slump, but this would have been the first time in numerous moons that so many as three regulars were lifted at the same instant. There surely would have been a roar in Cubland if Rogers had gone through with it, and the Bruins continued to lose. Meanwhile the many rumors and denials of dissension are not going to do the Cubs any good.

HERE'S ONE THAT got away from Ripley: It is possible for a pitcher to go through a full nine-inning game and be credited with a victory without pitching a single ball.

Section 10 of Rule 44 provides that the batsman is out if he steps from one batsman's box to the other while the pitcher is in his position ready to pitch. If 27 batters did so, the pitcher would get credit for a full nine-inning no-run no-hit victory, provided his own club made at least one run in the meantime.

BILLY EVANS, business manager of the Indians, and for many years an American League umpire, admitted such a game would be possible and legal when the question was fired at him. "It would be possible, but of course such a fool thing would never happen," he said. "If 27 men were crazy enough to step from one box to the other as the pitcher was about to deliver the ball, such acts on their part would automatically eliminate all of them, whether or not the pitcher pitched the ball. Thus it would be possible by having 27 infractions of the rule for a pitcher to win a game without pitching a ball, if his own team in the meantime made one or more runs for him."

THOUGH HE LOST the decision to Jack (Kid) Berg, Tony Herrera convinced his opponent and other boxing men that he is a fighter of class. "He's one of the best lightweights in the world, and I've met them all," says Berg, who meets Ray Kiser at North Braddock next Monday. "He's the hardest puncher I've ever faced. Boy, but he dusted off my chin. I saw sparks every time he nailed me."

"Herrera is a naturally sly youngster," adds Jimmy McLarnin, star welterweight socker. "He boxes well and he can hit. I've had the gloves on with him, and I know. Those legs may appear skinny, and he may not look strong, but nobody can shove this kid around the ring nor put him on any spots. Tony can take good care of himself. He's as smart as you please and untiring as well."

BOSTON REPORTS AN interesting experiment going on at John R. Macomber's private racing establishment in Framingham Center to settle a discussion as to the comparative speeds of the American thoroughbred race horse and the pure Arabian.

H. C. Bughman, Jr.

The owner of the plant has placed an Arabian, owned by a Chicago friend, in training with some of his thoroughbred colts, and up to date, according to Bob Dunbar, the vaunted speed of the horse from the land of Abou Ben Adhem has failed to show.

HENRY CLAY BUGHMAN, JR., is serving his fourth year as chairman of the Allegheny Country Club horse show, scheduled for June 4, 5 and 6 in the ring at the Sewickley Heights clubhouse. His activities in connection with riding and horse shows have covered a period of seasons, during which he has been an amateur whipper-in with the Sewickley Hunt, a member of the board of that group, and for several years secretary. In addition to directing the show, Chairman Bughman rides each year in many of the classes, including the parent-and-child division, in which he always appears with his daughter, Betty, one of the Sewickley Valley's younger riders. Last year he rode H. N. Van Voorhis' horse Bingo in the winning hunt team, the other members being B. F. Jones III, on Young Dictator, and the huntsman, on Flashlight. In 1929 he rode the Van Voorhis horse in the Cleveland show.

BAD WEATHER, WATER LACK PROBLEMS

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Director of County Parks Paul B. Riis, who has been charged with inefficiency and tardiness in the construction of the North Park county golf course, defended himself in an interview by stating that although a chain of unfortunate circumstances had held him back, he was confident the park's courses would be worthy of their object. He definitely stated that the North Park links would be opened June 15 as per schedule.

Director Riis said:

"A chain of unfortunate circumstances well understood by experts in my profession—the weather, water facilities, drought, organization work—has caused the tardiness in progress to be found at the county parks. To try to explain these unfortunate circumstances to one who is either prejudiced or not in sympathy with the technical side of the work is almost useless. I have been in this business for 40 years; I have a splendid record behind me, and I do not intend to put it in jeopardy this late in life. I am not like a contractor who constructs for a price, and then leaves his mistakes for others to take the blame: I am here now, and I shall continue to be here to accept the responsibility of praise or criticism of the county parks links for some time to come. I accept that responsibility and feel that public relationship with these achievements—for our county parks are achievements—will cement our mutual friendship and admiration."

WATER CONTAMINATED

"We had a month or so of work on the North Park links in 1928; in 1929 we went ahead with the layout work, and planted seed. During the winter of 1929 and 1930 we were frozen out, but started all over again in the spring. A creek in the same park, which I had been told upon my acceptance of the job as director of parks was of good water and volume, proved to be contaminated and useless to utilize for our work.

"Then came the drought and the little of it we could use was dried up. The Commissioners were going to spend $70,000 to have a line run in which would have cost $8,000 a year in water rental—I acquired from them $2,500 to drill a test well, found water, and at a much smaller price, now have wells with sufficient water, that will cost only about $1,000 a year to operate. I fought with utilities companies to get lines in, but they were slow and I could not force the issue. I expect to have my water lines open for test purposes from these wells for the first time today; that will be our big help at North Park.

"I have said that the first nine holes at the North Park will be open for play on June 15. Believe me, they will be opened on that date.

PLANTING GAMBLE

"The Wildwood Country Club course was constructed during a perfect growing year. The county parks courses have been under construction under exactly the reverse in growing conditions.

Marrakech—April, 1931.

I offer you Marrakech the Red! This city of the Sherifs, moulded from the red earth of North Africa, is worth your while all the while.

And if you think Africa is a barren waste of sand, listen when I tell you that I rode all day long down here from Casablanca on a road that stretched straight as a ribbon through green fields and beautiful wild flowers. This part of Africa most resembles California—except that the roads are better here.

But picture Marrakech the Red—lying in a verdant valley and backed by the mighty snow-covered Atlas Mountains. Snow? Yessir, snow. As I once stated in a Believe It or Not cartoon, "A caravan of 20 people froze to death near the equator in Africa beneath the blazing tropical sun." One look at the white heads of these gigantic mountains would convince all those who doubted me.

But Marrakech the Red! The Koutoubia over all. It is the minaret of a ruined mosque standing sentinel-like over the city. The ground on which this fragrant tower stands is the oldest "entailed estate" in the world. It has remained in the same hands for 1300 years.

The flag at the top indicates that it is the hour for prayer. As the sun goes down you will hear the muezzin cry from the four corners:

"ALLAH AKBAR, ALLAH AKBAR, LA ALLAH IL ALLAH LA ALLAH IL ALLAH, U MOHAMMED RASSUL ALLAH" which means: "God is Great. There is no God but God, and Mohammed is the Prophet of God."

This call, which is heard by more people than any cry on earth, sounds weirdly fascinating as the setting sun bathes the hoary heads of the Atlas in gold. Then it sinks from sight, and Marrakech is no longer red—but black.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: WANG TUNG—Wang Tung (583-616 A. D.), elder brother of Wang Chi, was such an ardent scholar that by the time he was 19 years old he had not taken off his clothes for nine years lest the act disturb him in his studies. After he withdrew to a rural retreat great crowds of disciples flocked to listen to his teachings. His epigrams are famous in China to the present day. THE WELL THAT SPEAKS—The "speaking well" (Les puits qui parlent), of Troo, near Montoire (Cher et Loire), France, presents a curious acoustic phenomenon. It repeats whole phrases spoken into it. While I drew this curiosity on the spot, during my sojourn in France, I put the famous echo to the test. The French well reproduced my English questions faultlessly and without the trace of an accent. 40,000 ROSES TO MAKE ONE OUNCE OF ATTAR OF ROSES—Attar of roses is the volatile and highly aromatic oil obtained from the petals of certain roses by distillation. In Bulgaria I have traveled through entire districts specializing in this distillate. About 40,000 roses (200 pounds) are required to produce a single ounce of attar, making it a most costly perfumery ingredient.
TOMORROW—THE SMELL THAT HAS LASTED 800 YEARS.

P. T. A. NETTERS DINE TONIGHT

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

The annual Pittsburgh Tennis Association "tennis night" smoker captures attention of district net enthusiasts this evening. The event, slated for the P. A. A. clubhouse at 8:15 p. m., will draw several scores of racquet devotees of the Steel City area and will mark formal inauguration of the 1931 P. T. A. campaign.

Special features of tonight's program include dedication of the new Inter-Club League trophy, the "Davis Keg," which henceforth will stand as symbol of Section I supremacy. President J. Phillips Davis of the court body is the donor and will first turn it over to the association and then place it into the hands of Capt. Frank Smith, leader of the Edgewood host, 1930 champion.

The keg, according to plan, has been inscribed with the name of the P. A. A. for 1928 and of Edgewood for 1929 and 1930.

It has been definitely decided by the P. T. A. schedule and sanction committee that Inter-Club circuit contesting will be initiated on Saturday, May 23. The Section I card will be announced in the course of this evening's affair, but the Section II program must perforce be withheld until final word from several outfits doubtful as to whether or not they will be able to inject teams into the competition can be received.

The tennis night soiree is under the chairmanship of J. Howard Moore, former P. T. A. prexy. He is being assisted by Dr. Dave O'Loughlin and by H. Vernon Porter. Other varieties of entertainment will likewise grace the bill, which also calls for extensive buffet luncheoning.

Miss Orcutt Again Seeks British Title

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Maureen Orcutt has decided to try again for the British women's golf championship, which will be held this year at Portmarnock, Ireland. She will sail for Europe May 20.

CARNERA BRIEFS DUE TODAY

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Decision as to whether Primo Carnera is to be allowed to fight Jack Sharkey at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, June 10, or be enjoined from so doing by the federal courts, has been delayed at least 24 hours by the illness of Carnera's lawyer, George Sylvester.

Judge John Knox, before whom the injunction suit was brought by the Madison Square Garden of Illinois, seeking to prevent Carnera from meeting Sharkey until he has fulfilled a contract with it, allowed Sylvester until 2 p. m. today to submit briefs.

Steinke Disqualified In Boston Match

BOSTON, May 12.—(AP.)—Hans Steinke, 255, German wrestler, was disqualified for using a strangle hold on Tiny Roebuck, 245, former Haskell Indian football star, here last night, in the feature bout at the Boston Garden. Referee Herman Wolf awarded the match to Roebuck after 16 minutes of rough grappling.

Steinke's illegal hold had the Indian on the verge of unconsciousness when the referee intervened. As he was assisting Roebuck to his feet, Wolf was struck on the head and severely cut with a bottle hurled from the first balcony, presumably at Steinke, who was climbing out of the ring at the time.

SUMMER PIN LEAGUE SET

The Greater Pittsburgh Alley Owners' Association has organized a summer bowling league of three sections and will start operations with competition in two divisions next Tuesday night.

Plans for the league were completed at a special meeting of the association yesterday. Two of the three sections were completed, with the third to be filled at a meeting Friday at the Iroquois alleys, Broad and Frankstown avenue.

Next Tuesday's matches follow:

SECTION I
Dispatch at Browns.
Greensburg at Homestead (Nuss alleys).
Penn Recreation at Wilkinsburg.
Elba at Vandergrift.
Haus Alleys at Turtle Creek.

SECTION II
Homestead No. 2 at Greensburg No. 2.
Browns No. 2 at Iroquois.
Wilkinsburg No. 2 at Penn Recreation No. 2.
Wabash at Elba No. 2.
R. & G. at Perrysville.

SEC. II GAMES HEAD CARD

CITY LEAGUE GAMES TODAY

Section I.
Peabody at Connelley.
Schenley at Allderdice.

Section II.
Langley at South Hills.
Oliver at Carrick.
Allegheny at Vocational.

There is dynamite packed into the Section II baseball card in the City League today, what with four of the teams still in the running for the sectional gonfalon tied up in important tussles. Section I, with two games listed, hardly figures to provide much excitement.

The most important fracas, and one of the most colorful and important of the entire season, brings together the leading Oliver nine and the dangerous Carrick entry at Carrick. A victory for Oliver will just about put the Brighton Road nine in as sectional champs. On the other hand, a triumph for Carrick will so scramble the situation that it will be impossible to name a champion until the season is complete next week.

In the second important game of the day, Langley and South Hills battle at South Hills. Both teams still are in the running for the title.

Allegheny has a fine chance to make hay while the sun shines by taking on lowly Vocational.

In Section I, Peabody and Schenley, tied for the lead, meet Connelley and Allderdice respectively.

Gladstone takes on Washington; Baxter meets Liberty and Fifth Avenue is slated to play Somers in Junior League tussles.

Yesterday, in the W. P. I. A. L., Scott High, of North Braddock, won a tie for the Section IV title by defeating Edgewood, 8-to-5. Scott made six hits produce eight runs, four Edgewood errors playing an important part in the scoring.

SANTA STOPS GROSSO

OAKLAND, Cal., May 12.—(AP.)—Jose Santa, giant Portuguese, knocked out Johnny Grosso, New York heavyweight, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. Grosso was downed with a right to the jaw just after the round started.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Cold and cloudy weather kept the Pirates away from the Flatbush today, the third and last game of the Pittsburgh-Brooklyn series being called off shortly before noon on account of the inclement weather.

Coincident with the announcement of the postponement was the decision of the Brooklyn officials to run off the game as part of a double-header at Ebbets Field on Tuesday, June 23. The Freebooter will be making their second tou of the East at that time.

CALLED OFF EARLY

Uncle Robbie and his associate took no chances concerning the last game of the series. They called off the battle before the Pittsburghers started for the battlegrounds.

Yeterday they decided to have a game, when John McGraw and his partners elected to put out the "no-game" sign, and the Ensmen are skeptics enough to think the Flatbush boys were swayed a bit by the fact that Dazzy Vance was all set to pitch. It is altogether possible the Brooklyn people were counting chickens before they were hatched. In any event, the Buccos spoiled the Vance coming-out party and Uncle Robbie today faced the prospect of using a second-string pitcher against Ervin Brame, Southpaw Watson Clarke, one of the Brooklyn aces, is ill and the Pirates would have been the favorites had there been a battl

So the Pirates are through with Long Island on the preser jaunt. Tomorrow they will tra a few miles northward to th Polo Grounds, where they ar slated to open a three-day engagement with the revamped Giants. After finishing with the Giants on Friday the club will move on to Boston to heckle Bill McKechnie's Braves.

Philadelphia is the last eastern stop on the present big traveloque, the Pirates being scheduled to take in Chicago and St. Louis 'ere they get back to the home port.

MEINE IN FORM

Heinie Meine reeled off another masterpiece yesterday afternoon as the Buccos made it two in a row over the Robins. Heinie outpitched the Dazzler and the Pirates gave the Luxemberg Dutchman fine support. The score was 4 to 2.

Meine allowed only five hits. The flock bunched three of these in the fourth to score their two runs. Heinie finished with a great finish—he fanned Pinchhitter Ike Boone with a fast ball as the DETROIT, May 12.—Those Boston Red Sox aren't any charity patients this season. They wobbled into Cleveland on crutches, but the fresh breeze off Lake Erie acted like a whiff of cocaine and you saw what they did to the Indians. It only goes to prove you never can tell when the Pekinese is going to leap at the bloodhound's throat. Any team that has a stretch of games with the Red Sox this season can throw away their paper pie plates because it isn't going to be any picnic. The Boston club is just a load of carbolic acid with the poison label left off.

The real opening of the Commercial and Industrial loop is scheduled for this evening, two big games being listed. The Reliance Life aggregation, defending champion, will start out in defense of the 1930 title at Langley Field in the feature game with the Reick-McJunkin nine furnishing the opposition.

With both of the Insurance boys' games called off last week, this will be the first chance followers of George Miller's classy club have had to get a line on the makeup of the club, but assurances from the popular Reliance manager indicate that practically all of last season's team are back.

The other game finds the Joseph Horne team clashing with Frank Rush's Baltimore and Ohio aggregation at Burgwin Field.

St. Phillips and Ingram open the Crafton-Ingram Church League season.

LINWOOD FACES TEST

In the West Penn League, Linwood goes to Turtle Creek High School stadium to meet Manager Winters' Community nine.

The Homewood City League team will try and get its home opener under way this evening with the old rival aggregation from Dormont furnishing the opposition.

Two games will be played in the Monon Valley League. Riverview travels to Van Vooris and Keenie's Garage and the Patton A. C. clash.

In the Steel City circuit, four of the classiest light first-class teams in the district will get together. The D. J. Brodericks make the trip to Mifflin to meet the Athletics; the East End Cardinals make the trip to Frazier street to meet the Depasquale club.

The North Side Civics dropped another City League game last evening to Book Shoe, losing out by a 7 to 3 score. In a second league tussle, North Side Buicks defeated the J. L. Thomas nine, 4 to 2.

In the North-South League, the Pathfinders defeated the Jean nine, 6 to 4 and the Lineys won over the Cronewith Dairy, 3 to 2. Edgewood downed Iroquois, 5-4 and Murs defeated Wally Smiths, 2-0 in Greater Pittsburgh League frays.

Sterlings defeated Silver Aces, 2-1 in the Wagner Junior circuit, the Twenty-eighth Ward Republicans downed the Colliers, 6-1, and the Grand Cadets upset Colteryahns, 7-2 in Central League contests.

Sharpsburg blanked Tarentum, 3-0 in an Allegheny Valley League feature.

The Pirates made a run in the first round, largely on account of the enemy's loose play. The Ensmen salted the battle away in the fourth. Grantham, Traynor and Comorosky made successive singles in this round and Regan helped out in the next barrage with a sacrifice which set the stage for Boston College Eddie.

SPORT SHORTS

READING, Pa. (AP.)—More than 100 teams from Eastern Pennsylvania are expected to compete in the first annual Eastern Pennsylvania Bowling Congress starting here tonight. The tournament will be staged on the sweepstake plan.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—(AP.)—The six-round bout here last night between Johnny Rodgers, Morgantown, and Jimmy Williams, Pittsburgh, Negro, was declared "no contest" after six rounds of listless mulling. The boxers were barred from further participation in bouts at the Michael gymnasium. It was announced after the fight.

BOSTON.—(INS.)—William T. (Big Bill) Tilden and Vincent Richards, leading professional tennis players, were here today for the second of five-match series to be played at Boston Garden tonight. Tilden won the opening match of the series in New York last Saturday.

WAYNESBURG, Pa.—Athletics representing Trinity High, of Washington, Waynesburg and Canonsburg High Schools will engage in a track and field meet here today. Waynesburg finished second in the Little Five meet at Burgettstown, Saturday.

CINCINNATI.—(AP.)—George Chicmard, 21, has been signed by the Cincinnati Reds in 1932, it was announced here yesterday. He was said to have been the first pitcher to throw a curve ball in Cincinnati.

NEW YORK.—Babe Ruth, one of the best pickers in baseball history, will select Grantland Rice's All-America team for the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs next Saturday.

CHARLEROI, Pa.—Pitcher Bill Cuppett, who received a trial with the Buffalo Bisons, has been returned to the local Middle Atlantic League club. Shaner, Blake and Watson have been released to the Governors.

DUKES STAGE SPRING GRID FRAY TODAY

By JESS CARVER

An honest-to-goodness football game tops the collegiate sport card today. It will be played up on the Bluff, between picked elevens of the Monogram Club, Duquesne's varsity letter winners' organization. The chances are that last year's varsity and those hoping to form next fall's Red and Blue eleven will oppose each other.

Coach Elmer Layden, who, to give him his dues, should be called director of athletics and head football coach, is sponsoring the game. He instituted it when he first came to Duquesne, and it has been an annual fixture since. For some reason or other, the scores of past games have slipped this splendid mind, but I do know there have been games in the past and that there will be one today.

COAST STARS LEAD

What a kicking around the performances at the Penn, Ohio State and Drake relays took from the boys of the Pacific Coast this year. My, oh my, it was simply astonishing the way in which those far westerners improved on the marks turned in at the middle western and eastern carnivals.

In only one event did the East and Mid-West hold its own with the Coast. All three carnivals reported times of 14.7 for the 120-yard high hurdles.

The most impressive marks made in the coast relays came in the 100, were Wyckoff ran the century in :09.5; the mile relay, as the crack Stanford team turned in a 3:12.6 performance for a new world record; the broad jump, where they jumped 24 feet 5 inches; the javelin throw, where 208 feet 1¼ inches was negotiated and the two-mile relay, with its sensational 7:48.3 time.

The Tipoff

Yesterday's scheduled varsity and freshmen tennis matches between the racquet wielders of Pitt and Tech were postponed because of rain and wet courts and will be played sometime in the future whenever a suitable date can be arranged. The hint has been dropped that the postponement simply saved Carnegie a trimmin'.

Der Massie Hannum, who cracks the whip out at Tech as director of sport publicity, must have stood out in the sun what sun there was) last week too long. In his publicity for Sunday he announced to all and sundry that Tech and Wash-Jeff were to clash in a dual track meet today when he meant Saturday. It all goes to show what comes from tootin' a basketball whistle too long.

This afternoon the Geneva and Grove City net squads tie up in a match at College Hill. Carnegie Tech's freshmen trackers and Peabody meet in a dual meet in the Tartan Bowl and Shady Side Academy and Aspinwall High School hook up at Aspinwall.

The crack Ellwood City High School track and field squad is being coached by Todd Lloyd, former Geneva College hurdle star. The team is a first choice for the W. P. I. A. L. meet Saturday, despite the fact that two of its star members, Mac Murdo and Mike Dunn, are not eligible for competition.

Famous Jockey Injured in Auto Crash

TRENTON, N. J., May 12—(INS.)—James (Pony) McAtee, noted jockey, attached to the Greentree Stables, was reported recovered today from cuts and bruises received in a four-car crash near here.

Joseph McTaggart, also widely known as a jockey, was slightly injured in the same accident.

McTaggart was driving the car at the time of the accident, police said. Three other machines became involved with the McTaggart car as the result of a traffic jam. Both jockeys were cut by flying glass, but it was believed that their riding will not be impaired.

CLEVELAND 'IN' AS BOUT SITE

CLEVELAND, May 12.—(AP.)—Staging of the heavyweight championship boxing match between Max Schmeling and W. L. (Young) Stribling, in the new Cleveland Stadium on July 3, was assured last night with signing of a contract between city officials and the Madison Square Garden Corporation, of Ohio, promoter.

Before the signature formalities, city Council adopted a resolution waiving the boxing commission's usual 6 per cent cut in receipts of boxing matches, in favor of a flat guarantee of $5,000. The promoters will pay $20,000 for use of the Stadium and split even with the city on concession receipts, in addition to building 20,000 or more field seats to revert to the city after the match.

CIVICS SIGN VET

Charley Rohleder, veteran hurler of the sandlots, has accepted terms to pitch for the North Side Civics in the City League and probably will face the Homestead Grays on Thursday evening when the two clubs clash.

SEC. I. TEAMS BATTLE IN OPENERS

The inaugural contesting in the women's team league of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania is under way today at the Allegheny Country Club. Section I teams being in action.

Play got under way at 10:30, with Allegheny engaging the Pittsburgh Field Club. At 11 o'clock, Stanton Heights and Fox Chapel started, while at 11:30, Oakmont and Edgewood teed off. The next Section I tilt is slated for the Pittsburgh Field Club next Tuesday.

Section II will not begin play until a week from today when its group moves into action over the links of the Alcoma Country Club.

WOMEN IN TOURNEY

The women held their opening competition at the Shannopin Country Club this morning. A golf breakfast at 9 a. m. set the ball arolling, while at 10, Professional Charley Manning delivered a lecture on the rules of golf. A nine-hole competition followed.

Shannopin has its big formal opening tomorrow, scheduled as Hospitality Day. A lot of golf and a dinner in the evening are carded. It will be an open day, with members bringing out unlimited numbers of guests.

Tomorrow evening, women of the Valley Heights Country Club will engage in a putting contest, their weekly event.

Paul (Toots) Erath, of Edgewood, topped the field yesterday in the first tournament of the Caddie-Masters and Assistant Professionals' Association over the Edgewood links. Erath turned in a card of 75.

In second place came Frank Bruno, of Nemacolin, who had a gross of 81. He split the kicker's handicap prize with his brother, Jimmy, of Alcoma. Mike Swisdak and Hector Smith, of Edgewood, These scored 78's.

ONE SCHOOL MATCH

One of the two scheduled Interscholastic Golf Conference matches was played yesterday, Kiski's crack squad handing Taylor Allderdice a 25-2 defeat over the Schenley links. The Carrick-McKeesport duel was postponed, Carrick being unable to muster a team.

LANGFORD INJURED

BOSTON, May 11.—(AP.)—The failing eyesight of Sam Langford, Negro, famous oldtime boxer, led him into the path of an automobile here today for the third time this year. The "Tar Baby" suffered a minor laceration over his right eye.

PHILS CHECK CARDS

KLEIN CLOUTS SIXTH HOMER; NATS WIN

Associated Press.

Manager Burt Shotton has his Philadelphia Phillies using an entirely different system this season, and they are getting surprisingly good results.

Last year the Phils went in for bushels of hits, including doubles, triples and homers, but they didn't score in proportion. The result was that they led the National League in hitting and were a strong eighth in the final club standing.

This year, however, Shotton has his boys going at it differently. With such sluggers as Lefty O'Doul and Fresco Thompson gone, the 1931 Phils are not getting as many hits, but they are getting them where they count, leaving fewer men on base and winning more ball games.

KLEIN HITS HOMER

For instance, they collected only five hits yesterday, but they cut off the eight-game winning streak of the St. Louis Cardinals, 2 to 1. Chuck Klein hit his sixth homer of the year to tie the score in the sixth inning. Then big Buzz Arlett got on second and Les Mallon, rookie infielder, brought him in with a lusty double. With Phil Collins turning the Cards back round after round, that was all the Phillies needed. Wild Bill Hallahan was the victim of the winners' concerted attack.

Their loss to the Shottonmen reduced the Cardinals' lead over the New York Giants to a single game. Cold weather at New York kept the Giants and the Chicago Cubs indoors and gave Manager Rogers Hornsby, of the western team, an opportunity to speculate on what had happened to his hitters.

Braving the chill winds on the opposite bank of the East River, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Brooklyn Robins got in the day's only other National League contest. Heinie Meine let the Robins down with five hits to give the Pirates their second straight victory, 4 to 2. The invaders bunched four hits off Dazzy Vance to score three runs and sew it up in the fourth.

NATS SINK TIGERS

Only one American League tilt survived the epidemic of rain and cold, the Washington Senators burying Detroit under an avalanche of hits, 14 to 4. Ossie Bluege led the 18-hit assault on four Tiger pitchers with a homer, double and two singles. Kuhel had a double and two singles and Joe Kronin a homer and single.

Carl Fischer went the route for the Senators to score his third victory.

Diedrich State's Most Valuable Star

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 12.—Frank Diedrich, of Woodbury, N. J., was selected as Penn State's "most valuable athlete" of the year today by the Athletic Association Committee of Award.

He was captain of the football team last fall and now is playing center field on the baseball team. He has won three letters in each of these sports.

SCOTTIES SET RUN RECORD

Scottdale set an early season mark for hitting and run scoring in the Middle Atlantic League yesterday by pounding out 17 hits and as many runs to crush Huntington, 17 to 8. The West Virginians used four hurlers in an effort to check the Scotties.

At Johnstown, the Johnnies suffered their first defeat of the season, but remained in first place, by losing to Hagerstown, 5 to 4. Lefty Brinker started on the hill for the Johnnies, but was relieved by Roberts.

Cumberland picked up a bit of ground on other first division clubs by nosing out Jeannette, 6 to 4. The defeat was the fifth in a row for the Jays.

Beckley defeated Fairmont, 8 to 5, in another free-scoring game. At Charleroi, the Guys were beaten by Clarksburg, 9 to 6. Reese, although hit hard, went the limit for the losers.

Wheeling and Charleston were kept idle by wet grounds.

The Stogies' mound corps was further weakened when Frank Chismar, last year the most effective righthander on the staff, was found to be suffering from a cold in his arm. In his two starts this season he has not shown anything of his old cunning.

Battling Gizzy Wins Over Johnny Chiodo

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 12.—(AP.)—Battling Gizzy, 133, Donora, won in 10 rounds over Young Chiodo, 131, here last night.

U. S. Carpentier, 134, New Kensington, won a six-round decision over Jimmy Reilly, 134, McKeesport.

Young Bordel, 131½, New Kensington, we given the verdict after six-rounds of fighting with Walter Strapple, 134½, Windber.

A young fellow who spent the better part of nine years in hospital cots and then went into the fight game to build up his health and became an outstanding amateur and then a professional around Chicago is now in Pittsburgh seeking to startle the natives with his ringwork.

Benny Goldblatt

He is Benny Goldblatt, 22, former Chicago Golden Gloves, A. A. U and Olympic eliminations champion. His father, Sidney Goldblatt, is managing him and will be aided here by Jack Crystal.

Benny is an effervescent youth. He says he missed a lot during his hospital days and has just begun to live and enjoy life and that boxing is a pipe compared with being an invalid. He started off by breaking a leg in a fall from a roof and the limb was four inches shorter than the other one when it knit. As a result, he had to spend many months in bed with weights on the leg to pull it back to normal size.

CLAIMS FIGHTING EASY

Prior to that his lungs had become affected and he was sickly and on the verge of tuberculosis. While lying in the hospital he read the newspapers and got the idea of being a fighter and the day after being discharged he showed up in a gymnasium and he's been at it ever since. He's been a pro only six months, but he has a scrapbook full of clippings to tell of his prowess.

In addition to his other illnesses and injuries, Benny has suffered a fractured skull and at one time was given up for dead for a few minutes. He figures nothing that may happen to him in the ring will be half as tough as he's been through already. He hopes to be on an early card at the Meyers Bowl or Hickey Park.

Between Rounds

Tony Herrera being unable because of injuries to go through with a return match with Eddie Anderson as the opening feature at Hickey Park, in Millvale, Thursday night of next week, the club is at work on a battle between Bucky Lawless and Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, who never has lost a decision in close to 40 bouts as a professional.

Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, reports lively interest in his final show of season, featuring Jimmy Belmont and Tiger Joe Randall, Thursday night. He has Buddy McArthur and Bruno Sala in the semi-final, Jimmy Reilly and Johnny Montefusco in the second bout and Carl Cesko and Tony Bazzarone in the opener.

Harry Fine, Hill District lightweight, is back home from a fighting trip to Michigan during which he boxed Billy Hoon and Morris Sherman at Mt. Clemens and Johnny Corbett and Don McLeod at Flint.

Archie Bell and Pete Sansiul will box the main bout of a show at Montreal Wednesday night of next week. Willie Davies figured down a bout with Lew Farber on the same card.

Marty Gold and Art Giroux box a 12-rounder at Portland, Me., May 26. Giroux last week received a close decision over Willie Davies in Montreal.

George Panka, Homestead heavyweight, now is in Cleveland where he likely will fight under the management of Eddie Mead, who is negotiating to buy the erstwhile Strickland's contract from Bunny Buntacks.

Billy Jones, former local Negro light heavyweight, who recently defeated Champion Maxie Rosenbloom in a non-title fight here, meets Willard Dix, of California, in the main bout of an open-air show in Philadelphia Thursday night.—HARRY KECK.

Ray Steele Wins Over Jim McMillen

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—Ray Steele, of California, defeated Jim McMillen, Chicago, in the feature wrestling match at Madison Square Garden last night. Steele threw McMillen in 1:05:27 of a finish match with a crotch and body hold. Steele weighed 214, McMillen 215.

WEST BEATEN IN UPSET AT GARDEN

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

The best indoor boxing season in the history of Pittsburgh flickered out in listless fashion last night as Motor Square Garden rang down the curtain with a so-called all-star card of six bouts before the smallest crowd of the campaign.

Topping off the bill was a pathetic six-round exhibition between Dominick Petrone, of Mt. Washington and formerly of New York, and Babe Ruth, of Louisville, a pair of featherweight veterans who simply went through the motions. Petrone was the winner by virtue of a series of spurts in which he stormed about his opponent, who sopped up the gloves as a sponge absorbs water and then fought it out on even terms or better between the splurges.

Petrone was arm-weary over most of the route, as in his first appearance here, against Steve Nugent, some weeks ago. He started off with a rush that threatened to make short work of Ruth, but he lacked the punch to finish the job and thereafter it wasn't anything to write home about.

MOORE SPRINGS UPSET

The upset of the night came in the semi-final, in which Jimmy Moore, Negro middleweight, won the referee's decision over Indian Tiger Joe West, with the judges splitting their award. Moore dropped West for a count of two with a left hook to the jaw in the first round and had the better of the punching the remainder of the way, although the Tiger fought a fair fight with the ever-present threat that stalked him in Moore's belting left. He sent Moore partly down with a right chop to the head in a clinch in the third round.

Jimmy Thomas, local Negro bantamweight, knocked out Georgie Sotak, of Warren, O., with a left hook to the jaw after 2 minutes 25 seconds of the fourth round of the best battle on the card. Sotak was accidentally struck low in the opening round and continued after a rest, putting up a strong fight until Thomas weakened him with body blows and then put over the finishing punch.

HOLT STOPS MOINETTE

Billy Holt, Homewood Negro welterweight, knocked out Jimmy Moinette, of Akron, with a right to the jaw in 2 minutes 40 seconds of the opening round; Jackie Wilson, Homewood Negro bantamweight, easily trimmed Babe Peleco, of Newark, N. J., in the second bout, and the referee halted the opener after the bell had saved Chuck Semack, of Clairton, as he went heavily to the floor at the end of the second round against Lloyd Clements, Swissvale light-heavyweight. Semack started with a rush and then tired and took a pasting.

Al Grayber and Eddie Kennedy divided the refereeing and Freddie Lux and L. K. Meininger were the judges, with Tommy Grant and Norman Borland the timers and Harry Klaas the announcer.

Blitman Given Weird Decision

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—(INS.)—Scribes and boxing fans were puzzled today over the decision handed out by Referee Tommy Reilly in the Harry Blitman-Young Firpo battle at the Arena here last night when the battered Blitman was awarded the fight in the tenth round after taking a weak parting shot at Firpo.

That weak punch staggered Firpo into Referee Reilly's arms and the latter immediately escorted the chunky Pennsgrove Italian to his corner. An air of mystery surrounded the proceedings and the cloud of doubt didn't lift until Announcer Joe Griffo boomed out that Reilly had awarded the decision to Blitman on a foul "because Firpo was not trying." Bedlam then broke loose.

Blitman made a sorry showing after being knocked down in the opening round. The bout will be aired at a meeting of the Boxing Commission tomorrow.

Bisons Track Team Defeats Wash-Jeff

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 12.—A clean sweep in the running broad jump, the last event, by Bethany College athletes, gave the Bisons a 68-to-67 victory over Washington and Jefferson College athletes in a dual track meet here yesterday.

Gerhard Zagray, of Canton, O., varsity grid star, actively competing in track for the first time, won individual scoring honors with 15 points. He captured the 100 and 220-yard dashes and won the discus.

Max Schmeling May Witness Bowl Opener

Announcement was made today by Apples Meyers, manager of the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, that it is likely that Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion, and his manager, Joe Jacobs, will attend the opening show at the Bowl as spectators next Monday night.

Schmeling and Jacobs are passing back and forth between Cleveland, where Maxie defends his title against Young Stribling on July 3, and Conneaut Lake, where he is establishing training quarters, and plan to drive here if they can arrange to do so for the night.

Rail Traffic Records Sharp Decline

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

DECLINING BUSINESS PRESENTS a more serious problem to railroads than to industrial organizations. The carriers have attempted to compensate for the sharp slump in car loadings by reducing working forces and by other economies. But the possibilities for trimming costs are not as great as in manufacturing plants.

An industrial company can shut its plant down or reduce production to only two or three days a week. This results in a compensating decline in all costs with the exception of certain unflexible overhead items.

But the extent to which a railroad can curtail service during a business depression is distinctly limited. Nearly as many trains must be run in bad times as in periods of prosperity. This means that the steam lines cannot readily trim their payrolls to an extent comparable with manufacturers.

Deferring Maintenance Work

MOST RAILROADS ATTEMPT to compensate for periods of dullness by deferring maintenance work which is not urgent. Bad-order cars can be left unused until business picks up. Up to the point where safety is involved track work can be put off.

But this is not a real economy. It merely permits the carriers to wait until revenues gain and to concentrate their repair activities in times of prosperity.

Undoubtedly the earnings of many of the railroads would be showing even more pronounced declines during the present year than have actually been reported, if a large share of maintenance work had not been postponed.

Competition Not Noticed

THE RAILROADS DID NOT pay serious attention to the gathering force of competition from other types of transportation until a short time ago. Following the termination of the period of federal control in 1920, most lines were able to increase operating efficiency to such a point that earnings showed a fairly steady rate of improvement. In addition to this, the entire country was in a period of increasing prosperity from 1921 to 1929, with only minor interruptions, so that the inroads of competition did not offer any very serious problems.

In 1929 the railroad car loadings reached a total of 52,827,925. This was the highest figure on record with the single exception of 1926. The freight business taken by trucks had not started to pinch the railroads although their passenger traffic was feeling the influence of the automobile to a marked extent.

Sharp Declines Reported

IN 1930 RAILROAD car loadings slumped to 45,887,413 cars. This was 13.1 per cent less than in 1929. In the present year the decline has become even more pronounced. Loadings of 12,251,758 cars in the first four months were 17.7 per cent smaller than in the corresponding period of 1930 and 24.1 per cent smaller than the first four months of 1929.

This condition alone would not be a cause for serious alarm if it could be entirely attributed to the present state of general business. But rail officials can trace a very substantial share of the decline to the diversion of traffic to trucks, to inland waterways and to pipe lines.

The total volume of this loss of traffic is not particularly impressive in comparison to the business still being carried by the railroads. The thing that worries the rail executives is the prospect for increasing growth in the use of these other carriers. They see the number of competitors steadily increasing with no ready means to check this loss of business.

Some of the remedies being considered by the carriers will be discussed in this column tomorrow.

EXPORT WHEAT STOCKS SOLD

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The Federal Farm Board has disposed of practically all the 35,000,000 bushels of wheat which it announced recently would be sold from the Atlantic and gulf ports, Chairman Stone, of the board, announces. He said there remained only a part of the durum stocks, which bore a relatively small percentage to the total.

Chairman Stone also said that the total wheat owned by the Grain Stabilization Corporation, the Farm Board marketing agency, was "nowhere near 200,000,000 bushels, despite the sales of the out-of-position stocks."

However, the board has not adopted any plan for the emergency marketing of the new crop. Chairman Stone said that about 20 proposals had been submitted for an emergency program in lieu of the stabilization operations, which will be abandoned with the delivery of May futures.

Britain's Foreign Trade Favorable

LONDON, May 12.—The British Board of Trade reports April imports of £70,020,000 against £70,664,000 in March and £83,922,000 in April, 1930. Exports were £32,482,000, compared with £33,989,000 in March and £46,861,000 in April, 1930.

Re-exports in April totaled £6,588,000 against £5,438,000 in March and £7,844,000 in April, 1930.

George F. Baker's Son Made Bank Chairman

NEW YORK, May 12.—George F. Baker, Jr., son of the late George F. Baker, has been elected chairman of the board of First National Bank and First Securities Company to succeed his father.

GEN'L MOTORS SALES GAIN

NEW YORK, May 12.—Domestic and foreign sales of the General Motors Corporation to dealers during April aggregated 154,252 automobiles, compared with 156,661 in April, 1930. The total sales for March were 119,195 cars.

Dealers in General Motors cars in the United States during April sold 135,663 cars to consumers, an increase of 34 per cent over deliveries during March, which totaled 101,339. In April last year the dealers sold 142,004 cars to consumers, an increase of 15 per cent over March, 1930, total of 123,781 cars.

Sales to dealers in April amounted to 132,629 automobiles, compared with 132,365 last year. The fact that sales by dealers to consumers were greater than sales by the corporation to the dealers is a reflection of the excess stocks of cars carried by dealers in the early stages of the depression. Signs of slackening tendency in purchases by consumers appeared first in May, 1929.

Pennsylvania Oil Stocks Gain Again

OIL CITY, May 12.—Stocks of Pennsylvania grade crude oil held by major pipe line companies of the East at the end of April totaled 3,966,991 barrels against 3,847,629 at the end of March. It was the second successive month an increase was shown.

MARKET TURNS ABOUT AFTER DECLINE

Rails Lead in Downward Trend, But Volume Is Light; Steel Shares Erase Loss

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP.)—News that one of the leading trunk-line railways failed to earn its fixed charges in the first quarter of the year gave Wall street another excuse for gloom today.

Share prices slid slowly downward, but selling was in meager volume, and short covering caused a moderate upturn in the early afternoon. Railway bonds were adversely affected, taking some of the brightness out of the bond market. Foreign news was also discouraging to bonds, particularly the difficulties of the new Argentine government in putting its financial house in order, and report of embarrassment of a large Vienna bank.

New York Central, which reported a small deficit for the first quarter, sold off about 4 points to an eight-year low.

Says D. & H. Assets Chiefly U. S. Bonds

NEW YORK, May 12.—L. F. Loree, president of Delaware and Hudson Company, stated that the value of stocks and bonds listed in the assets as of December 31, 1930, of $56,305,400, had a market value of $56,060,000 as of March 25. Mr. Loree stated that the majority of these assets consist of U. S. government and Canadian bonds. About 8 per cent of the total was in the bonds of the company's railroad affiliates.

Whitney Re-elected Exchange President

Mr. Whitney has been a member of the exchange since 1912 and associated with its government since 1919, when he became a member of the governing committee. He was made vice president in 1928 and in the next year was elected chairman of the committee on business conduct.

National City Gets Big New York Issue

NEW YORK, May 12.—A syndicate headed by the National City Company was awarded the offering of $52,000,000 New York City 4-year 3 per cent corporate stock made today. National City's bid was 100.119. The premium was $6,188.

The stock was immediately offered by the syndicate at 100.50, or a basis of 2.86 per cent.

The offering was oversubscribed 10 minutes after subscription books were opened.

Claude Neon Patent Decision Is Upheld

CINCINNATI, May 12.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit, handed down a decision holding Claude Neon patent No. 1125476 to be valid and infringed by the Sunray Gas Corporation. The decision upholds the findings of the United States District Court in Cleveland, holding the defendant liable for profits and damages and enjoined them from further infringement.

Shell Oil Obtains Big Navy Contract

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The Shell Oil Company has been awarded a contract by the Navy Department for 4,620,000 barrels of fuel oil at a cost of $2,260,100. The oil is for navy use at Pacific coast ports for the fiscal year 1932, beginning July 1, this year.

Low Copper Price May Force Big Companies To Close Properties.

Some of the high-cost copper companies have been showing losses on copper sold between 10 cents and 11 cents a pound. They will show larger deficits with the metal around 9 cents a pound, the lowest price in nearly 40 years. It would not cause surprise in the trade if the current level were shaded before the end of another week, because demand is lacking at the moment. When a mine curtails output, a proportionate increase in costs results. Because of this, it will be a struggle for some low-cost producers to show a fair margin of profit at current and prospective selling levels. It would not be surprising if some of the high-cost properties are forced to shut down, unless a sudden change for the better comes.

Recently, scattered selling has come into du Pont as a result of intimations that something might happen to affect the stock. Interests close to the company state Wilmington is looking for the maintenance of the current dividend rate. Private information is that most, if not all, the various units in the organization have been showing improvement in the past 10 days to two weeks.

Discussions in the financial district indicate that there is considerable doubt regarding the maintenance of the current dividend of Johns-Manville. This probably is due to the fact that the company earned only 13 cents a share in the first quarter. Reports have it that there has been little or no improvement in revenues thus far in the second three-month period. Nothing has come from authoratative circles on the subject.

One of the favorable developments recently has been the firmer tone in the bond market. Several interpretations are placed upon this. One is that there was buying of the high grade bonds in anticipation of the lowering of the local rediscount rate to 1½ per cent. Another is that the action of the leading bonds has been reflecting a renewal of confidence on the part of investors who have been purchasing bonds to employ some of their idle money because the rates for funds elsewhere are low.

Various opinions are heard concerning the extent of the short-interest. Some say that the lending of so many issues flat, or at a premium, indicates that the short interest is unusually large. Part of this may be due, however, to the unwillingness of holders to lend their stocks to the shorts. Close students of the market state that there has been considerable covering by outsiders recently. While the big bears have not taken in their commitments, they say, it is probable that the short interest is somewhat smaller than it was two weeks ago, although still large.

Perhaps the most interesting piece of gossip going the rounds as the new week began was the story involving General Motors and the doings of one of the estwhile stock market bear operators. According to this yarn, said operator, long known for his extensive and successful bearish proclivities, has taken a position on the long side of General Motors. Whether this switching is to be taken as indicating a complete change of market stand by the operator involved, could not be learned, but it is known that he returned only a day or two ago from points south where evidently some of the largest bear operators had held a little convention of their own. The basis for his bullishness on General Motors was not disclosed, though, of course, the stock has been acting rather well market-wise over the last fornight or so.

Reserve Members' Loans Decrease

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The Federal Reserve Board's statement of member banks, as of May 6, shows decreases for the week of $128,000,000 in loans and investments, $56,000,000 in net demand deposits and $74,000,000 in government deposits, and an increase of $12,000,000 in time deposits. Loans on securities totaled $7,036,000,000, a decrease of $16,000,000 from the previous week. All other loans aggregated $7,886,000,000, a decrease of $55,000,000.

Refuses to Name Burns Receiver

JERSEY CITY, May 12.—Vice Chancellor Fallon has denied the application for a receiver for Burns Brothers, Inc., stating the company is not insolvent as charged.

Fox Film Meeting Will Be Postponed

NEW YORK, May 12.—The annual meeting of Fox Film Corporation, scheduled for May 15, probably will be postponed to some time in June to allow further time for preparation of the annual report.

American Smelting Cuts Lead Price

BOSTON, May 12.—American Smelting and Refining Company has reduced the price of lead 10 points to 3.75 cents a pound.

Crude Oil Output Shows Huge Decrease

TULSA, Okla., May 12.—With proration in effect in the new Eastern Texas area, daily average crude oil production in the United States dropped sharply last week, totaling 2,371,039 barrels, a decrease of 108,692 barrels from the preceding week's average, says the Oil and Gas Journal.

In East Central Texas the decline amounted to 163,034 barrels, the production totaling 232,771 barrels as compared to 396,705 barrels in the preceding week. Oklahoma production climbed 56,786 barrels to 607,201 barrels, the Oklahoma City field accounting for the gain.

NEW ECONOMIC BALANCE NOW TRADE GOAL

Fresh Equilibrium Between Supply and Demand at Lower Level Is Sought

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Business leaders from at home and abroad have matched ideas at two important congresses of executives during the last fortnight.

The conventions of the United States Chamber of Commerce and of the International Chamber of Commerce have proved disappointing to the superficially minded, because both were devoid of widely accepted simple cure-alls for depression. As a matter of fact, in the present state of our knowledge, there is a dearth of what the doctors call "specifics" for remedying the ailment known as depression.

Mr. Rukeyser

BALANCE SOUGHT

I the last analysis, all that is known is that when the patient is ill he should—figuratively-speaking—get plenty of fresh air and sunshine, which will stimulate the recuperative functions of nature. Business has been told to seek new economic health through eliminating the last remains of inflation—by getting rid of waste in every direction, and reducing the cost of operations. The new goal is to strike a fresh economic balance—a new equilibrium between supply and demand at a lower level of commodity prices.

Perhaps the underlying lesson of the depression is that the world has been relying too much on fortuitous circumstances to maintain an economic balance, which in the long run has always been upset by the cumulative effect of excesses of varying kinds. Perhaps in the future human intelligence, in its race against catastrophic accident, will set up better social machinery for scientific co-operation.

COMMITTEE APPROVED

Even the conservative United States Chamber approved a special committee to study opportunities for business stabilization, and it extended the scope of its operations to include methods of relieving unemployment distress, including "a rationalization program of production and distribution" to be undertaken by private business.

Incidentally, the growing demand for such scientific co-operation is out of tune with the phobias concerning trusts, which resulted in the passage of the Sherman act in 1890. Accordingly, the demand grows for re-examining the whole question of proper social safeguards against abuses by large aggregates of capital.

CHARGE DECEIT IN C. & A. SALE

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Negotiations for sale of the bankrupt Chicago and Alton Railroad to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad were held today by stockholders of the Alton to have been carried on behind a cloak of "deceit and misrepresentation."

Seeking to have the Interstate Commerce Commission subpena further testimony dealing with the receivership sale of the smaller road, counsel for the stockholders attacked the actions of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. before the entire commission.

Former Senator James A. Reed, chief counsel of the stockholders, was ill and unable to appear. G. Gale Gilbert, Jr., taking up the argument, asserted the Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had been the banking agent of the Alton for years, but had turned from the stockholders to the Baltimore and Ohio.

He contended the banking company had bought Alton bonds for the Baltimore and Ohio while letting the stockholders believe they were planning a reorganization of the road to protect stock investments.

Cottonseed Stocks Take Sharp Drop

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Cottonseed crushed during the nine-month period, August 1 to April 30, was announced today by the Census Bureau to have totaled 4,562,859 tons, compared with 4,728,681 tons in the same period a year ago, and cottonseed on hand at mills April 30 totaled 95,297 tons compared with 197,393 a year ago.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Language of Flowers

Heiress' Request for New Guardian Is Granted

"We have a gardener," John Brandon said, suspiciously. It seemed to Inez Morrison that Brandon was always suspicious.

"We?" Inez asked.

Brandon flushed angrily.

"The estate," he muttered.

"And the estate is mine," she reminded him.

"I am in full charge until you are 21. Surely you have no complaint about my management, Inez."

"Aren't you rather petty about some things—this, for instance. I want to grow some flowers. You say we have a gardener. Very well, let him garden, but I intend to have my own garden, for the pleasure of planting, tending and watching my very own flowers grow."

"But look here, it isn't dignified. The idea of Inez Morrison grubbing away in the dirt——"

"You are fond of fishing, aren't you?"

"Naturally."

"You go a great deal. It seems to me you ought to hire someone to go and catch the fish for you. Why should you mess around with bait and flies and hooks and in damp places when you can afford to have a man catch the fish for you?"

"Preposterous, Inez! It's the sport—I love to fish."

John Brandon regarded the girl intently for a moment.

Holds Conference

"I see. Taken at that angle, of course there's no argument. Naturally you may make your garden. I was afraid you were forgetting that you can afford to have them grown for you. I'll get whatever you want—or, better still, let the gardener get them."

Inez shook her head.

"I want to be able to say of my flower garden that the gardener had nothing whatever to do with it. The next time you go down to the village let me know. I'll have a list ready to send to The Rosemary."

"Why there? Wouldn't a regular seedsman be better?"

"Mrs. Phillips owns The Rosemary; she knows me and can get good seeds where I might not succeed. Mrs. Phillips was in my class at college."

"All right," Brandon said. He seemed quite careless about it, but Inez wasn't fooled at all. She knew well enough that her guardian would hold a conference with Jepson, the family lawyer, as he always did over almost everything.

Jepson came over that afternoon with some papers. Inez knew well enough that the papers could wait. It was merely an excuse.

"You're too suspicious, Brandon," Jepson told him, "and you'll make the girl suspicious. Good Lord, arguing with her over a matter of planting a little flower garden—as if there were any danger in that."

Guardian Worried

"I don't know. I'm worried. For a while she took on and raised the dickens and all when I forbade her to see that Wallace chap and forbade him to come here. All of a sudden she stopped going into tantrums and has been as meek as could be."

"Probably she knows that it's no use to object. You've told her the terms of the will often enough."

"Of course you are right. Neither of us would touch a penny of the Morrison estate, Jepson, that was not legally our due, but there will be almost three more years—and the income we get during that time is going to be a big thing—can't take any chances."

"That's all right for you. No doubt she will continue to have you represent her interests, but when she is 21, I'm through—no more guardianship for me."

"Correct, Brandon. Take my advice, don't cross the girl foolishly. She's a bright young lady and high strung. It's a wonder she didn't make a scene when you even suggested that she couldn't make a flower garden on her property. And the way you say she argued with you, asking you why you didn't hire a man to catch your fish, makes it clear that she's no fool."

"I know it, Jepson, but you can't tell anything about girls. She might fall in love with some chap and run away and marry him and let her fortune go to charity. If my big income could run right on for another three years I wouldn't care a hoot if she did forfeit her fortune."

"Has she shown any signs of falling in love?"

"A girl doesn't forget—no doubt she is still in love with that Donald Wallace."

"I'll see to that, don't worry." Jepson laughed.

"You're the one doing the worrying. Take my advice, give her a little more freedom. If she thinks, or suspects that she is being kept down, having any natural liberties restrained, she'll fool you."

John Brandon was mighty clever. He had told the truth. He was not at all dishonest, he wouldn't have taken a wrongful penny from the girl's big fortune, but the $30,000 a year left to him for being her guardian was something he did not intend to lose by permitting the girl to marry.

Brandon Furious

Inez handed Brandon the list and an addressed envelope to Mrs. Phillips.

"How much will it be?" he asked her.

"May will send the bill, don't worry. She's a good business woman—imagine being only 19, a widow and running a paying business!"

Brandon made no comments. He glanced through the list and then took it to the village and mailed it.

In due time the flower seeds, plants and bulbs arrived.

Inez began to enjoy herself making ready for the garden. She had a corner of the big conservatory set aside and worked there.

But she needed more seeds and sent for them.

She had taken many of the seed packets and written on them "Three more" or whatever the amount she wanted.

Then, one day, John Brandon came yelping out to the garden with a legal-looking paper in his hand. He was furious.

Seeks Attorney's Advice

"What's all of this rot mean, Inez?" he shouted, waving the paper.

She said, "suppose you let me see it—some big bill I've incurred, probably."

"This says you have made a formal application for a new guardian!"

"Oh, yes, that's so."

"So! So! You can't do that! You can't do it—I'm your guardian. What fool put you up to this?"

"Oh, a nice smart lawyer."

"Not Jepson?"

"Oh, no, a young lawyer. His name is Donald Wallace!"

"So! After I forbade you to see him! Well, this will get you nowhere—it's a fool thing to do, just what you'd expect a young fool like Wallace to suggest."

"In this State any minor over 18 may select his or her own guardian. I'm selecting Dr. Grey, of our church. I'm sure no one would object to a doctor of divinity. He is Donald's uncle, too—"

Brandon began to rave until Inez told him that he bored her. He sent for Jepson, who told him that the girl was right.

After Dr. Grey had accepted the guardianship Brandon wanted to know how Inez arranged it all, under such close watch.

"That list of flowers was an acrostic. I didn't mention that Mrs. Phillips was Donald's sister, and before Donald and I said what you thought to be a last goodbye we arranged this, and by the way, my new guardian has given his consent to my marrying Don."

"I wish you every happiness," Brandon said, stiffly.

He lied, he didn't mean a word of it, but that didn't matter. Inez and Don are quite happy.

FIVE AND TEN -:- By Fannie Hurst

It was her maid Mariana's boast that these tantrums kept her supplied with furs, French gowns and even jewels.

The last time Jennifer had been summoned in this fashion by her father was about two years before. She had bought on a dare, at the auction of a famous Long Island estate, a cigar-shaped roadster with an Italian engine of very special make, for eleven thousand dollars. The estate was being sold because the owner had been killed in this very car. Jennifer had stood on a table in the garage and led the spirited bidding.

Rarick, after a high and ugly scene with her in the library, had paid the eleven thousand dollars, and the day following, in her enraged and humiliated presence, had sold it to a dealer for twenty-five hundred.

"The meanest man in the world," Jennifer had ground through clenched teeth into her mirror after the episode, the tears of her humiliation splashing down a face which, although moulded after her father's, had a lightning beauty that darted into it and played around her eyes and her lips. A straight brown slab of a girl, with a brilliant sort of Jeanne d'Arc directness to her eyes, which were surrounded by a mediaeval-looking curtain of straight brown bob.

There had been, too, the highly unpleasant occasion when, like a small girl, Jennifer at 20 had been obliged to endure the unendurable indignity of standing beside her much younger brother for a dressing-down from Rarick that had to do with Avery's presence—to say nothing of her own—at a swimming pool party at Greenwich that had found its way into insinuating print.

Unpleasant Memories

As a matter of fact, both Jennifer's and Avery's presence had been the result of a flat tire in front of the estate of the friends who had detained them. But somehow, facing her father, as she stood beside her slim brother, there on the mysterious beauty of a sixteen-century Kuba hunting-rug, the truth of the story seemed too flimsy to bear the telling, or something grim and hating in these children kept them silent. Rarick was always to believe, not from what they said but from what they did not say, that their presence on this notorious occasion had been deliberate.

In any event, a summons to her father in the library was grimly associated with the scratching memory of scenes like those.

Then there had been the excruciating occasion when Jennifer and her mother, returning from a season at Deauville and Le Touquet, had successfully passed customs officials without declaring three important and perfectly matched pearls, which they had sewn on to a beaded gown. There had been an outrageous scene in the library when these facts became known to Rarick; in fact, rage and terror had caused Jenny to swoon—cutting her forehead as she went down—at her husband's reiterated threats to reveal the whole untidy business.

Rehearses Conversation

There was ranking, in some terror at the moment, in Jennifer's mind, a dread that an extremely private dramatic evening, entitled "Casanova, Be Careful," which had been staged with great lavishness in the garden-amphitheater of a Connecticut estate was through some mysterious leak about to find its way into notorious publicity.

Hang it all! She had been lured into the thing chiefly because it had given her an opportunity to try her hand at what she secretly suspected in herself to be a talent for lyrical writing.

Hang it all! The way to avoid such jams as this was to ditch the home condition. Marry Forty-million-dollar Charley Kempner and spawn him square-faced little Kempner heirs with Kempner casts in their Kempner eyes. Or not marry Lew Bissinger and live in embroidered sin with an already married man. Or pursue Berry Rhodes, who was simply unassailable with social position, and who fascinated her. Or just ditch it. Open a tearoom. Write a scandalous book. Hang it all! No parent can hope to get away with moyenage, maiden-in-a-tower stuff. Yes, she had written the "Casanova, Be Careful" lyrics and danced in the last of seven veils. Damned talented job, if she did say it.

"Well, father," she improvised to her mirror, "it's come to this between you and me; has been coming to this between you and me since you popped me into a world I didn't ask to be popped into. I'm no nincompoop. You'd see to it that a daughter of yours wasn't. But I'm tired of being treated like one. I'm finished. If you want to throw me a million or two to save me from being somebody's expensive hussy, I'm not too proud to accept it.

Threatening Attitude

"If you don't, and since I'm not made of the stuff you seem to think your daughter should be made of, I'm through, anyway. I'll go off and write a dirty play and show up the whole wretched business of life as it is lived behind the tessellated walls of the million-dollar Rarick mansion that is built out of dimes. If the walls aren't tessellated, they ought to be.

"I'll give them a megaphone-full that they'll remember. I'll tell the story of how somebody took a couple of hairpins and bent them into a couple of frowns and stuck them into sour dough and made a little man who lived in tall marble halls that kept him looking like a dwarf, and who would have thought he was Napoleon, if he had quite had the nerve, but who only got as far as owning everything in the world he could lay his hands on that had belonged to Napoleon or was about Napoleon.

"I'll tell the world about this little man who got so rich on needles and pins that he hated himself—and his family. I'll tell the world, damn it! I'll tell . . ." cried Jennifer to herself, as she ran down the hall toward the library; but not without pausing to snatch up a spangled scarf to throw across the back of her dinner gown, which was cut to one inch above the waist line, where a topaz buckle bit softly into the flesh.

Foreign Nations Have Brazen Effrontery to Suggest Further Forgiveness of Debts They Owe United States

NEVER was Calvin Coolidge more truly the spokesman of the American people than when he arraigned the outrageous impudence of certain foreign delegates to the Washington meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce, who had the effrontery to suggest that the United States remit another dollar of its foreign debt.

From his home in Northampton, Mass., far removed from the political world, but by no means ignorant of the machinations of foreign politicians, Mr. Coolidge in simple and convincing language thus defined the American attitude toward any more war debt cancellation:

"Without considering at all the financial or moral obligation of foreign governments to pay their debts to our government or the obligation of our government to collect them, it is interesting to see what is involved in the argument that the debts should be canceled to increase trade. Fundamentally this means the most enormous subsidy to foreign commerce that was ever proposed. . . . . We would be involved in sudsidizing the trade of foreign people out of money collected from our own people. . . . . If we adopted this principle logically we should open our Treasury to all the world."

More than a timely warning to the American people was this brave statement from Mr. Coolidge—more than an ultimatum to foreign visitors on meddlesome business bent.

Mr. Coolidge's statement was also a challenge to the administration now in power to consider "the obligation of our government to collect" these war debts, and an appeal to the household of the nation to insist that their government refuse to surrender to the propaganda activities of these walking delegates from America's foreign debtors.

THE plain truth is that the only mistake our government has made in dealing with these debtors was EVER TO AGREE TO REMIT ANY PART OF WHAT THEY BORROWED ON A BUSINESS BASIS FROM THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

In the light of our experience since the war, we know now that we should have collected every dollar of our war debt. And these foreign nations, if they had appreciation for the past, any foresight for the future, any adequate sense of national self respect, should have insisted upon paying every dollar of the vast sums that they borrowed.

The money that the United States advanced to our associates in the war, and the money that we spent on our own armed forces afield and afloat to provide urgently needed aid to England, France, Italy, Belgium, and the others in their extremity, was the one thing that saved the Allied powers from utter and overwhelming defeat.

OF ALL these debtor nations, France has shown herself to be the most brazen welcher of the lot. She is the most prosperous nation in all the world today because she collects her extortionate indemnity to the last sordid sou but seeks by every discreditable evasion to avoid paying her own honest debts.

If anyone desires to observe Gallic hysteria in its most frenzied form let him suggest that France remit even one depreciated franc of Germany's debt of indemnity. The result will be not only entertaining but illuminating.

France's attitude towards cancellation when it applies to her will be plainly and painfully obvious.

France is only willing to remit Germany's debt if we compensate her dollar for dollar for everything she so remits to Germany, which means that SHE REMITS NOTHING, but that "the United States," as usual, is asked to pay the bill.

SENATOR Shipstead, of Minnesota, rightly interpreted the final resolution adopted by the International Chamber of Commerce urging the re-examination of these foreign debts when he said:

"The meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce at Washington seems to have been more political than commercial or economic in character. . . . . Stripped of its mask of propaganda that has been going on here for years, this talk of 'friendly co-operation' consists 90 per cent of suggestions that our taxpayers should pay what foreign governments owe us, and that we make some kind of agreement in high sounding altruistic phrases, but which really means that when the next war comes we shall agree to fight on the right side in order to get peace. . . . . What foreign governments owe us on their debts amounts to less than one-half of one per cent of their national income—less than 3 per cent of their national budget, and less than 13 per cent of what they spend for armaments for war."

It ought to be obvious by this time to the most simple minded Americans that these discussions with foreign nations, however plausible their beginning, generally ends in an effort on their part to unload their obligations on this country, and to make the United States which was the one entirely innocent party in the great war, pay the whole cost of that conflict.

He Dodges the Issue

President Phillips' Statement Was Weakened By His Failure to Face the Facts.

At a hearing held by the Senate Judiciary General Committee yesterday, President F. R. Phillips, of the Philadelphia Company, attacked the proposed legislation to supplant the Public Service Commission with a Fair Rate Board.

The attack was not impressive, because President Phillips failed to recognize that the system whereby the state at present regulates the public utilities is unsatisfactory and requires correction.

A flagrant example may be found in one of the Philadelphia Company's subsidiaries, the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company. THE PITTSBURGH MOTOR COACH COMPANY CHARGES THE PEOPLE OF PITTSBURGH 25 CENTS FOR A BUS RIDE OF A KIND THAT CAN BE HAD IN OTHER CITIES FOR 10 CENTS. IT HAS BEEN AUTHORIZED TO CHARGE THIS EXORBITANT FARE BY THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION.

President Phillips' criticism of the bills by which it is hoped to protect the people from the rapacity of some of the public service companies was wholly destructive. It was weakened by its lack of any suggestion for remedying the existing evils.

The proposed legislation is not flawless, but it is doubtful if it is as bad as Mr. Phillips says it is, even from the standpoint of the utilities companies.

It offers the people hope of relief.

It Is Mandatory

Supreme Court Reaffirms That Municipal Contracts Must Be Given to Lowest Responsible Bidders.

Taxpayers will welcome the decision handed down by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court restraining the city of Pittsburgh from awarding a contract for water meters to a high bidder.

The court in effect reaffirms the principle laid down recently in the Luzerne County Commissioners' case that it is mandatory upon the governing authorities to award municipal contracts to the lowest responsible bidders.

This requirement was frequently ignored by the Department of Supplies under Bertram L. Succop's regime. Low bids were rejected in favor of higher ones. Sometimes an excuse was offered, but often none was given. There is no telling how much this practice has cost the people of Pittsburgh.

It was high time that it should be challenged in the courts. The decision will tend to check favoritism in the awarding of contracts and will encourage the victims of favoritism to fight it. It will save the taxpayers money.

Crowded Rural Schools

Country School Children Are Not All Getting a Square Deal in Education.

In some of the rural districts of Allegheny County the children, attending large, up-to-date consolidated schools, to which they are carried, free of charge, in buses furnished by the school authorities, enjoy educational advantages equal to those offered by the city schools.

In other districts the schools are small, overcrowded, and behind the times.

The Sun-Telegraph has been calling attention to some of the backward school districts in the hope of arousing the people to demand better schools.

It has been shown that in these days of automobiles and good roads residence in the country no longer makes it necessary to attend a little one-room school, deficient in teaching facilities and equipment.

The people of some of the districts in which the educational facilities are not what they should be—Shaler, Richland and Snowden townships, for example—are to be called upon soon to vote on bond issues to provide better schools. A square deal for the children demands that the bonds be authorized.

TAPPING SOLAR ENERGY

By Archibald Henderson

From time to time the world is warned by prominent scientists that the known available supply of coal is nearing exhaustion. There is some reason for genuine alarm in the thought that a few centuries will see the complete exhaustion of coal. The three prime instrumentalities for maintaining life, to say nothing of comfort, prosperity and civilization itself, are food, fuel and shelter.

This terrestrial ball continues to spin relentlessly upon its axis and to revolve in its predestined orbit around the sun, regardless of the present plight of the human race in regard to fuel. But for several decades, many scientists have made studies of all available sources of energy for the economical production of heat, as a possible substitute for coal. It is well known, of course, that coal is a source of energy deriving its hidden thermal properties from the sun. But it is equally well known that it is not a satisfactory or efficient vehicle for the sun's energy.

The production of power on a vast scale is a characteristic feature of the present day, which is often referred to as the power age. Black and white coal, embedded deposits on flowing streams of energy, now constitute the motive power for our large industries. The chain of investigations, extending over almost half a century, has finally brought the solution of the problem almost within the power of economical realization. It may be that within the lifetime of the present generation a revolution in the power industries similar to those which followed the invention by James Watt of the steam engine, will be brought about. The vast, but now calculable energy of heat in the sun, which reaches us in the form of solar radiation, may serve man as a mighty reservoir of heat and energy for all future time.

As far back as 1885, the famous scientist and engineer, Werner Siemens, made the first selenium light-sensitive cell. Various sulphides—silver, lead, molybdenum, for example—have been tried and also used, but with very low efficiency. The copper oxide cell, a sort of sandwich of copper oxide between two layers of copper, was discovered three years ago, and proved its superiority over all other forms of converter hitherto known. Bruno Lange invented the German form of the cell, Grondahl and Gieger being the inventors of the alternative American type. Lange's invention was anticipated by Grondahl, who devised a cell for use as a rectifier, for converting alternating current into direct current—an invention which has registered genuine commercial success.

The new silver selenide cell is the discovery and also the invention of Dr. Bruno Lange, of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute, in Berlin. The cell converts light into electricity. A thin sheet of metal is doubly coated, first with a thin layer of silver selenide and then in turn coated with a very much thinner layer of a second metal. Light passes through this outer, transparent layer, setting up a current between the two layers of the cell.

It has been found that the new cell is from 50 to 150 times as efficient as the copper oxide cell. Dr. Lange's device brings the problem of converting sunlight into electric current for large power industries almost to the point of satisfactory solution.

Nature's Artistry

How idle is the painter's task
When patiently he seeks
To show how mellow sunbeams bask
Upon far mountain peaks!

His meter and his rhyme,
When he would bare the human heart,
So secret, so sublime!

For who can paint love's look divine
That on a fond face glows,
And when has poet penned one line
Like moonlight on a rose?

But Nature's artistry supreme
Waits endlessly for all
Who, vowed to Beauty, seek the gleam
Where her glad footsteps fall.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 12.—The picturesque patter of the cheap cafes has spread to the glorified soda fountains. Along the Bowery many waiters call out their orders through the porthole to the kitchen. The jargon varies in different sections of the country.

On the Bowery "One in the dark" is coffee without cream. "Dude a Java" is coffee with milk. "Adam and Eve on a raft" is poached eggs on toast. "Five minute vest spotters" are eggs boiled 5 minutes. "Synagogue twins" are fried ham and eggs. "A left over" is mashed potatoes. And so on.

Soda jerking slang has the same mysterious lingo. Even at those frescoed fountains where the attendants suggest the magazine pictures of football heroes in mufti it is indulged. They do not shout so loud but it may easily be heard by the customer.

Lemonade—31.
Orangeade—41.
Malted milk—burn one. (Derived from electricity used in mixing).
Plain sundae—glob.
Lemon phosphate—spiker.
Soda to take out—a runner.
Chocolate and vanilla sundae—mystery.
Pineapple sundae—a Chicago.

Incidentally, the soda mixer is not only highly paid if expert—in a few cases $55 a week—but he has a contact with the public that leads to better things. Two employed at Fifth avenue fountains recently were picked for jobs that paid around $10,000 a year each.

Ben Holzman dropped into a neighborhood movie the other afternoon. It was in total darkness and he groped his way down center and took an aisle seat only to plop into a lady's lap. He excused himself and sought another seat. A few minutes later lights came on and he and the lady were the only two people in the entire house.

Among callers this week was a gentleman from South Africa who has perfected a diamond washing machine. While I refrained from expressing myself, it occurs to me that this is by the way of being somewhat an off season for diamond washing. As a matter of fact—and it just popped into my head like that—most diamonds are already in soak.

Nearly all my friends are backgammon enthusiasts. But so far I have expressed the same diffidence toward it as to golf. Today someone sent a new set and after trying to play it with Harry, the colored butler, we threw everything away but the dice and got down on the floor. And did we shoot backgammon!

These Modern Lovers

From the present outlook, the Younger Generation will leave a great many more footprints on the dance floor than on the sands of time.

According to a woman's count, she is always at least 10 or 15 years younger than all the men she went to school with. But then, woman always WERE hazy about figures.

A stroll under the dalliance of the May moon used to inspire a man to love-making; but, now, just stepping into a sport car or sitting in a rumble seat seems to be all the inspiration he needs.

A change of air and a change of diet are an occasional luxury; but a change of heart and a new love-interest are, to some men, an annual necessity, like a Spring tonic.

When a gold-digger tells a "misunderstood" married man that she can read him like a book, she means, of course, like a bank book.

Women are expensive. The first woman cost Adam a rib; then she cost him peace of mind, and finally his place in the Garden of Eden. A woman cost the King of Portugal his throne, and another woman cost Sir Walter Raleigh his head. Yet men complain of the modern woman who costs a man at the most just a little bit of heart-balm or alimony.

A wife's jealous suspicion is often the first inkling a man receives that there is any other interesting woman in the world besides herself.

That dazed look in a bridegroom's eyes is merely his expression of astonishment at finding himself on the way to the altar, when he never meant to go beyond a little petting.
